"For any taxable year, the nontaxable income from exempt excess output of a coal mining or iron mining property which was in operation during the base period shall be an amount equal to the excess output of such property for such year multiplied by one-half of the unit net income from such property for such year, or an amount determined under paragraph (1), whichever the taxpayer elects in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary.

"(3) Timber properties.

"For any taxable year, the nontaxable income from exempt excess output of a timber block which was in operation during the base period shall be an amount equal to the excess output of such property for such year multiplied by one-half of the unit net income from such property for such year.

"(4) Coal and iron mines and timber properties not in operation during base period.

"For any taxable year, the nontaxable income from exempt excess output of a coal mining or iron mining property or a timber block, which was not in operation during the base period, shall be an amount equal to one-sixth of the net income for such taxable year (computed with the allowance for depletion) from the coal mining or iron mining property or from the timber block, as the case may be.

"(5) Natural gas companies.

"In the case of a natural gas company any of the natural gas property of which was in operation during the base period, the nontaxable income from exempt excess output for any taxable year shall be an amount equal to the excess output for such year multiplied by one-half of the unit net income for such year.

"(c) Nontaxable bonus income.

"The term 'nontaxable bonus income' means the amount of the income derived from bonus payments made by any agency of the United States Government on account of the production in excess of a specified quota of:

"(1) A mineral product or timber, the exhaustion of which gives rise to an allowance for depletion under section 23 (m), but such amount shall not exceed the net income (computed with the allowance for depletion) attributable to the output in excess of such quota; or

"(2) A mineral product extracted or recovered from mine tailings by a corporation which owns no economic interest in the mineral property from which the ore containing such tailings was mined, but such amount shall not exceed the net income attributable to the output in excess of such quota.

"(d) Rule in case income from excess output includes bonus payment.

"In any case in which the income attributable to the excess output includes bonus payments (as provided in subsection (c)), the taxpayer may elect, under regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary, to receive either the benefits of subsection (b) or subsection (c) with respect to such income as is attributable to excess output above the specified quota. (Added Oct. 21, 1942, 4:30 p. m., E. W. T., ch. 619, title II, § 209 (c), 56 Stat. 905, amended Oct. 26, 1943, ch. 279, § 1, 57 Stat. 575; Feb. 25, 1944, 12:49 p. m., E. W. T., ch. 63, title II, § 208 (a-c), 58 Stat. 55-57.)"

"§ 736. Relief for installment basis taxpayers and taxpayers with income from long-term contracts—(a) Election to accrue income.

"In the case of any taxpayer computing income from installment sales under the method provided by section 44 (a), if such taxpayer establishes, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary, that the average volume of credit extended to purchasers on the installment plan in the four taxable years preceding the first taxable year beginning after December 31, 1941, was more than 125 per centum of the volume of such credit extended to such purchasers in the taxable year, or the average outstanding installment accounts receivable at the end of each of the four taxable years preceding the first taxable year beginning after December 31, 1941, was more than 125 per centum of the amount of such accounts receivable at the end of the taxable year, or if the taxpayer was not in existence for four previous taxable years, the taxable years during which the taxpayer was in existence, in either case including only such years for which the income was computed under the method provided in section 44 (a), it may elect, in its return for the taxable year, for the purposes of the tax imposed by this subchapter, to compute, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary, its income from installment sales on the basis of the taxable period for which such income is accrued, in lieu of the basis provided by section 44 (a). Except as hereinafter provided, such election shall be irrevocable when once made and shall apply also to all subsequent taxable years, and the income from installment sales for each taxable year before the first year with respect to which the election is made but beginning after December 31, 1939, shall be adjusted for the purposes of this subchapter to conform to such election. In making such adjustments, no amount shall be included in computing excess profits net income for any excess profits tax taxable year on account of installment sales made in taxable years beginning before January 1, 1940. If the taxpayer establishes, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary, that in a taxable year subsequent to the year with respect to which an election has been made under the preceding provisions of this subsection it would not be eligible to elect such accrual method, the taxpayer may in accordance with such regulations elect in its return for such year to abandon such accrual method. Such election shall be irrevocable when once made and shall preclude any further elections under this subsection. For the taxable year for which the latter election is made and subsequent taxable years, income shall be computed in accordance with section 44 (c).

"(b) Election on long-term contracts.

"In the case of any taxpayer computing income from contracts the performance of which requires more than 12 months, if it is abnormal for the taxpayer to derive income of such class, or, if the taxpayer normally derives income of such class but the amount of such income of such class includible in the gross income of the taxable year is in excess of 125 per centum of the average amount of the gross income of the same class for the four previous taxable years, or, if the taxpayer was not in existence for four previous taxable years, the taxable years during which the taxpayer was in existence, it may elect, in its return for such taxable year for the purposes of this subchapter, or in the case of a taxable year the return for which was filed prior to the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1942, within 6 months after the date of the enactment of such Act, to compute, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary, such income upon the percentage of completion method of accounting. Such election shall be made in accordance with such regulations and shall be irrevocable when once made and shall apply to all other contracts, past, present, or future, the performance of which required or requires more than 12 months. The net income of the taxpayer for each year prior to that with respect to which the election is made shall be adjusted for the purposes of this subchapter, including the computation of excess profits net income in each taxable year of the base period under section 711 (b), to conform to such election but for purposes of chapter 1, the tax imposed by this subchapter for any prior taxable year on account of the adjustment required by this subsection shall be considered a part of the tax imposed by this subchapter for the taxable year in which such income is, without regard to this subsection, includible in gross income. Income described in this subsection shall not be considered abnormal income under section 721.

“(c) Adjustment on account of change.

“If an adjustment specified in subsection (a) or subsection (b), as the case may be, is, with respect to any taxable year, prevented, on the date of the election by the taxpayer under subsection (a) or subsection (b), as the case may be, or within two years from such date, by any provision or rule of law (other than this section and other than section 3761, relating to compromises), such adjustment shall nevertheless be made if in respect of the taxable year for which adjustment is sought a notice of deficiency is mailed or a claim for refund is filed, as the case may be, within two years after the date such election is made. If at the time of the mailing of such notice of deficiency or the filing of such claim for refund, the adjustment is so prevented, then the amount of the adjustment authorized by this subsection shall be limited to the increase or decrease in the tax imposed by Chapter 1 and this subchapter previously determined for such taxable year which results solely from the effect of subsection (a), or subsection (b), as the case may be, and such amount shall be assessed and collected, or credited or refunded, in the same manner as if it were a deficiency or an overpayment, as the case may be, for such taxable year and as if on the date of such election, two years remain before the expiration of the period of limitation upon assessment or the filing of claim for refund for the taxable year. The tax previously determined shall be ascertained in accordance with section 734 (d). The amount to be assessed and collected under this subsection in the same manner as if it were a deficiency or to be refunded or credited in the same manner as if it were an overpayment, shall not be diminished by any credit or set-off based upon any item, inclusion, deduction, credit, exemption, gain or loss, other than one resulting from the effect of subsection (a) or subsection (b), as the case may be. Such amount, if paid, shall not be recovered by a claim or suit for refund, or suit for erroneous refund based upon any item, inclusion, deduction, credit, exemption, gain or loss, other than one resulting from the effect of subsection (a) or subsection (b), as the case may be. (Added Oct. 21, 1942, 4:30 p. m., E. W. T., ch. 619, title II, § 222 (d), 56 Stat. 917.)”

taxable year, the amount of its average base period net income or Supplement A average base period net income, as the case may be, shall be limited to an amount which bears the same ratio to such average base period net income or Supplement A average base period net income, as the case may be (computed without regard to this paragraph but with the application of paragraph (1) in case of a prior transaction described in subsection (a) with respect to such component corporation or a component corporation thereof), as the number of days in such taxable year before the day after such transaction bears to the total number of days in such taxable year.

For the purposes of section 742, in the case of a corporation which is a component corporation in a transaction described in subsection (a), in computing for any taxable year the Supplement A average base period net income of the acquiring corporation in such transaction or of a corporation of which such acquiring corporation becomes a component corporation, no account shall be taken of the excess profits net income of such component corporation for any period beginning with the day after such transaction.

"(d) In the case of a taxpayer which is an acquiring corporation the base period shall be the four calendar years 1936 to 1939, both inclusive, except that, if the taxpayer became an acquiring corporation prior to September 1, 1940, the base period shall be the same as that applicable to its first taxable year ending in 1941.

referred to in clause (1)) apply retroactively to all taxable years of the taxpayer beginning after December 31, 1939, such amendments shall also be applicable to the computation of the tax for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1939."

Subsec. (b) was repealed by act Oct. 21, 1942, § 224 (b), and such repeal made applicable with respect to taxable years beginning after Dec. 31, 1939, by section 224 (c) thereof.

§§ 742-744. Repealed. Nov. 8, 1945, ch. 453, title I, § 122 (a), 59 Stat. 568.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF REPEAL

Section 122 (a) of act Nov. 8, 1945, ch. 453, title I, 59 Stat. 568, provided that the provisions of sections 742-744 of this title shall not apply to any taxable year beginning after Dec. 31, 1945.

SECTIONS PRIOR TO REPEAL

"§ 742. Supplement A average base period net income.

"In the case of a taxpayer which is an acquiring corporation, its average base period net income (for the purpose of the credit computed under section 713) shall be the amount computed under section 713 or the amount of its Supplement A average base period net income, whichever is the greater. The Supplement A average base period net income shall be the amount computed without regard to subsection (h) of this section or computed under subsection (h) of this section, whichever is the greater. The Supplement A average base period net income shall be computed as follows:

"(a) By ascertaining with respect to each of its base period years—

"(1) The amount of its and each of its component corporation's excess profits net income for each of its and such component corporation's taxable years beginning with or within such base period year; or, in the case of each such taxable year of the taxpayer or of such component corporation, as the case may be, in which the deductions plus the credit for dividends received and the credit provided in section 26 (a) (relating to interest on certain obligations of the United States and its instrumentalities) exceeded the gross income, the amount of such excess;

"(2) (A) The aggregate of the amounts of excess profits net income ascertained under paragraph (1); (B) the aggregate of the excesses ascertained under paragraph (1); and (C) the difference between the aggregates found under clause (A) and clause (B). If the aggregate ascertained under clause (A) is greater than the aggregate ascertained under clause (B), the difference shall for the purposes of subsection (b) be designated a 'plus amount', and if the aggregate ascertained under clause (B) is greater than the aggregate found under clause (A), the difference shall for the purposes of subsection (b) be designated a 'minus amount'.

If, in the case of the taxpayer or any component corporation of the taxpayer, one and only one taxable year of the taxpayer or such component corporation, as the case may be, begins with or within such base period year and such taxable year is less than twelve months, the amount of the excess profits net income, or the amount of such excess of deductions plus the credit for dividends received and the credit provided in section 26 (a) (relating to interest on certain obligations of the United States and its instrumentalities) over gross income, as the case may be, for such taxable year, shall be placed on an annual basis in the same manner as is provided in section 711 (a) (3). If more than one taxable year of the taxpayer or such component corporation, as the case may be, begins with or within such base period year, the aggregate of the amounts of excess profits net income minus the aggregate of the excesses of deductions plus the credit for dividends received and the credit provided in section 26 (a) (relating to interest on certain obligations of the United States and its instrumentalities) over gross income, or the aggregate of such excesses minus the aggregate of the amounts of excess profits net income, as the case may be, for such taxable years shall be adjusted to such extent as the Commissioner, under regulations prescribed by him with the approval of the Secretary, prescribes as necessary in order that such base period year shall reflect income for a period of twelve months. For the purposes of this section, a taxable year of a component corporation beginning within the base period which also begins with or within the taxable year of the acquiring corporation in which the acquisition occurred, or which also begins with or within the same base period year with which or within which began such taxable year of the acquiring corporation, shall be considered a taxable year of the acquiring corporation, and such taxable year shall be considered to have begun in the base period year with which or within which such taxable year of the acquiring corporation began.

"(b) By adding the plus amounts ascertained under subsection (a) (2) for each year of the base period; and

"(1) If the tax under this subchapter is being computed for a taxable year not beginning after December 31, 1941, by subtracting from such sum, if for two or more years of the basis period there was a minus amount, the sum of the minus amounts, excluding the greatest; or

"(2) If the tax under this subchapter is being computed for a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1941, by subtracting from such sum the sum of the minus amounts. If the amount used under the preceding sentence for the lowest year is less than 75 per centum of the sum of the plus amounts reduced by the sum of the minus amounts for the other years in the base period divided by three, the amount which shall be used for such lowest year shall be 75 per centum of the amount last ascertained.

"(c) By dividing the amount ascertained under subsection (b) by four.

"(d) In no case shall the average base period net income be less than zero. In the case of a taxpayer which becomes an acquiring corporation in any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1939, if, on September 11, 1940, and at all times until the taxpayer became an acquiring corporation—

"(1) the taxpayer owned not less than 75 per centum of each class of stock of each of the qualified component corporations involved in the transaction in which the taxpayer became an acquiring corporation; or

"(2) one of the qualified component corporations involved in the transaction owned not less than 75 per centum of each class of stock of the taxpayer, and of each of the other qualified component corporations involved in the transaction, the average base period net income of the taxpayer shall not be less than (A) the average base period net income of that one of its qualified component corporations involved in the transaction the average base period net income of which is greatest, or (B) the average base period net income of the taxpayer computed without regard to the base period net income of any of its qualified component corporations involved in the transaction. As used in this subsection, the term 'qualified component corporation' means a component corporation which was in existence on the date of the beginning of the taxpayer's base period.

"(e) For the purposes of subsection (a) (1) of this section—

"(1) If neither the taxpayer corporation nor any of its component corporations was actually in existence on December 31, 1936, the excess profits net income of each such corporation for each base period year at no time during which any of such corporations was actually in existence, shall (except in the case of a corporation which became a component corporation of its acquiring corporation before the beginning of the acquiring corporation's first taxable year which began in 1940) be an amount equal to 8 per centum of the excess of—

"(A) in the case of any such corporation to which paragraph (2) is not applicable, the daily invested capital of such corporation for the first day of its first taxable year under this subchapter beginning in 1940 over

"(B) an amount equal to the same percentage of such daily invested capital as would be applicable under section 720 in reduction of the average invested capital of such corporation for the last taxable year beginning in 1939 if such section had been applicable to such year

(computed as if the admissible and inadmissible assets of any other such corporation with respect to which it became, in such taxable year, an acquiring corporation, had been held by it).

"(2) In case the transaction by which a corporation became a component corporation of its acquiring corporation occurred in the last taxable year of such component corporation beginning in 1939 but on a day in a taxable year of such acquiring corporation beginning in 1940, the excess profits net income of such component corporation for each base period year described in paragraph (1) shall be an amount equal to 8 per centum of the excess of—

"(A) the daily invested capital of such component corporation for such day, over

"(B) an amount equal to the same percentage of such daily invested capital as would be applicable under section 720 in reduction of the average invested capital of such component corporation for the twelve-month period ending with the preceding day if such twelve-month period constituted a taxable year and such section had been applicable to such taxable year.

"(3) In case any corporation described in paragraph (1) owned stock in any other such corporation on the first day of such owning corporation's first taxable year under this subchapter beginning in 1940, the amounts computed under subparagraphs (A) and (B) of paragraphs (1) and (2) with respect to such corporations shall be adjusted, under regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary, to such extent as may be necessary to prevent the excess profits net income of such corporations for the base period years described in paragraph (1) from reflecting money or property having been paid in by either of such corporations to the other for stock or as paid-in surplus or as a contribution to capital, or from reflecting stock of either having been paid in for stock of the other or as paid-in surplus or as a contribution to capital. For the purposes of this paragraph, stock in either such corporation which has in the hands of the other corporation a basis determined with reference to the basis of stock previously acquired by the issuance of such other corporation's own stock shall be deemed to have been paid in for the stock of such other corporation.

"(4) In determining whether, for any taxable year, the deductions plus the credit for dividends received and the credit provided in section 26 (a) (relating to interest on certain obligations of the United States and its instrumentalities) exceeded the gross income, and in determining the amount of such excess, the adjustments provided in section 711 (b) (1) shall be made.

"(f) (1) If, after December 31, 1935—

"(A) the taxpayer acquired stock in another corporation, and thereafter such other corporation became a component corporation of the taxpayer, or

"(B) a corporation (hereinafter called 'first corporation') acquired stock in another corporation (hereinafter called 'second corporation'), and thereafter the first and second corporations became component corporations of the taxpayer, then to the extent that the consideration for such acquisition was not the issuance of the taxpayer's or first corporation's, as the case may be, own stock, the Supplement A average base period net income of the taxpayer shall be reduced, and the transferred capital addition and reduction adjusted, in respect of the income and capital addition and reduction of the corporation whose stock was so acquired and in respect of the income and capital addition and reduction of any other corporation which at the time of such acquisition was connected directly or indirectly through stock ownership with the corporation whose stock was so acquired and which thereafter became a component corporation of the taxpayer, in such amounts and in such manner as shall be determined in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary. For the purposes of this paragraph, stock which has, in the hands of the taxpayer or first corporation, as the case may be, a basis determined with reference to the basis of stock previously acquired by the issuance of the taxpayer's or first corporation's, as the case may be, own stock, shall be considered as having been acquired in consideration of the issuance of the taxpayer's or first corporation's, as the case may be, own stock.

"(2) If during the taxable year for which tax is computed under this subchapter the taxpayer acquires assets in a transaction which constitutes it an acquiring corporation, the amount includible under subsection (a), attributable to such transaction, shall be limited to an amount which bears the same ratio to the amount computed without regard to this subsection as the number of days in the taxable year after such transaction bears to the total number of days in such taxable year.

"(g) In the case of a partnership which is a component corporation by virtue of section 740 (b) (5), the computations required by this Supplement shall be made, under rules and regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary, as if such partnership had been a corporation. For the purpose of such computations, in making the adjustment for income taxes required by section 711 (b) (1) (A), the partnership so regarded as a corporation shall be considered as having distributed all its net income as a dividend.

"(h) Increased earnings in last half of base period—(1) General rule.

"The Supplement A average base period net income determined under this subsection shall be computed by ascertaining for each half of the base period the sum of the plus amounts determined under subsection (a) reduced if for any year in such half a minus amount was determined by the minus amount for such year. If the amount ascertained for the second half exceeds the amount ascertained for the first half, the Supplement A average base period net income shall be the sum, divided by two, of the amount so ascertained for the second half plus one-half of such excess, except that it shall not exceed the largest plus amount determined under subsection (a) with respect to any base period year.

"(2) Limitation on amount includible for certain taxable years ending after May 31, 1940.

"For the purposes of this subsection the excess profits net income of any corporation for any taxable year beginning in 1939 and ending after May 31, 1940, shall in no case exceed an amount computed as follows:

"(A) By reducing the excess profits net income by an amount which bears the same ratio thereto as the number of months after May 31, 1940, bears to the total number of months in such taxable year; and

"(B) By adding to the amount ascertained under subparagraph (A) an amount which bears the same ratio to the excess profits net income for the last preceding taxable year as such number of months after May 31, 1940, bears to the number of months in such preceding year. The amount added under this subparagraph shall not exceed the amount of the excess profits net income for such last preceding taxable year.

"(C) If the number of months in such preceding taxable year is less than such number of months after May 31, 1940, by adding to the amount ascertained under subparagraph (B) an amount which bears the same ratio to the excess profits net income for the second preceding taxable year as the excess of such number of months after May 31, 1940, over the number of months in such preceding taxable year bears to the number of months in such second preceding taxable year. "(6) In computing the transferred capital addition of the component corporation, money or property paid in to such component corporation by the taxpayer or any other component corporation and property consisting of stock in the taxpayer or any other component corporation paid in by shareholders of the taxpayer or other component corporation, shall be disregarded.

"(7) In computing the transferred capital reduction of the component corporation, distributions by such component corporation to the taxpayer or any other component corporation shall be disregarded.

"(8) The daily capital addition of the taxpayer to which any amount is added under paragraph (1) shall be the amount thereof computed before its reduction under the fourth sentence of section 713 (g) (3) on account of excluded capital.

SECTIONS PRIOR TO REPEAL

“§ 760. Exchanges—(a) Definitions, etc.

“For the purposes of this section—

“(1) ‘Exchange’, ‘transferor’, and ‘transferee.’

“The term ‘exchange’ means a transaction by which one corporation (hereinafter called ‘transferee’) receives property of another corporation (hereinafter called ‘transferor’) and the basis of the property received, in the hands of the transferee, for the purposes of section 718 (a) is determined by reference to the basis in the hands of the transferor.

“(2) Determination of basis of property received.

“The basis, in the hands of the transferee, of the property of the transferor received by the transferee upon the exchange shall be determined in accordance with section 718 (a).

“(b) Rule.

“In the application of section 718 (a) to a transferee upon an exchange in determining the amount paid in for stock of the transferee, or as paid-in surplus or as a contribution to capital of the transferee, in connection with such exchange, only an amount shall be deemed to have been so paid in equal to the excess of the basis in the hands of the transferee of the property of the transferor received by the transferee upon the exchange over the sum of—

“(1) The amount of any liability of the transferor assumed upon the exchange and of any liability subject to which such property was so received, plus

“(2) The amount of any liability of the transferee (not arising out of any liability described in paragraph (1)) constituting consideration for the property so received, plus

“(3) The aggregate of the amount of any money and the fair market value of any other property (other than such stock and other than property described in paragraphs (1) and (2)) transferred to the transferor.

“(c) Reduction in daily invested capital.

(Added Oct. 21, 1942, 4:30 p. m., E. W. T., ch. 619, title II, § 230 (a), 56 Stat. 932.)”

“§ 761. Invested capital adjustment at the time of taxfree intercorporate liquidations—(a) Definition of intercorporate liquidation.

“As used in this section, the term ‘intercorporate liquidation’ means the receipt (whether or not after December 31, 1941) by a corporation (hereinafter called the ‘transferee’) of property in complete liquidation of another corporation (hereinafter called the ‘transferor’) to which

“(1) the provisions of section 112 (b) (6), or the corresponding provision of a prior revenue law, is applicable or

“(2) a provision of law is applicable prescribing the nonrecognition of gain or loss in whole or in part upon such receipt (including a provision of the regulations applicable to a consolidated income or excess profits tax return but not including section 112 (b) (7), (9), or (10) or a corresponding provision of a prior revenue law), but only if none of such property so received is a stock or a security in a corporation the stock or securities of which are specified in the law applicable to the receipt of such property as stock or securities permitted to be received (or which would be permitted to be received if they were the sole consideration) without the recognition of gain.

“(b) Definition of plus adjustment and minus adjustment.

“(1) Plus adjustment.

“The term ‘plus adjustment’ means the amount, with respect to an intercorporate liquidation, determined to be equal to the amount by which the aggregate of the amount of money received by the transferee in such intercorporate liquidation, and of the adjusted basis at the time of such receipt of all property (other than money) so received, exceeds the sum of—

“(A) the aggregate of the adjusted basis of each share of stock with respect to which such property was received; such adjusted basis of each share to be determined immediately prior to the receipt of any property in such liquidation with respect to such share, and

“(B) the aggregate of the liabilities of the transferor assumed by the transferee in connection with the receipt of such property, of the liabilities (not assumed by the transferee) to which such property so received was subject, and of any other consideration (other than the stock with respect to which such property was received) given by the transferee for such property so received.

“(2) Minus adjustment.

“The term ‘minus adjustment’ means the amount, with respect to an intercorporate liquidation, determined to be equal to the amount by which the sum of—

“(A) the aggregate of the adjusted basis of each share of stock with respect to which such property was received; such adjusted basis of each share to be determined immediately prior to the receipt of any property in such liquidation with respect to such share, and

“(B) the aggregate of the liabilities of the transferor assumed by the transferee in connection with the receipt of such property, of the liabilities (not assumed by the transferee) to which such property so received was subject, and of any other consideration (other than the stock with respect to which such property was received) given by the transferee for such property so received exceeds the aggregate of the amount of the money so received and of the adjusted basis at the time of receipt, of all property (other than money) so received.

“(3) Rules for application of paragraphs (1) and (2).

“In determining the plus adjustment or minus adjustment with respect to any share, the computation shall be made in the same manner as is prescribed in paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subsection, except that there shall be brought into account only that part of each item which is determined to be attributable to such share.

“(c) Rules for the application of this section—(1) Stock having cost basis.

“The property received by a transferee in an intercorporate liquidation attributable to a share of stock having in the hands of the transferee a basis determined to be a cost basis, shall be considered to have, for the purposes of subsection (b), an adjusted basis at the time so received determined as follows:

“(A) The aggregate of the property (other than money) held by the transferor at the time of the acquisition by the transferee of control of the transferor (or, if such share was acquired after the acquisition of such control, at the time of the acquisition of such share, or, if such control was not acquired, at the time immediately prior to the receipt of any property in the intercorporate liquidation in respect of such share) shall be deemed to have an aggregate basis equal to the amount obtained by (i) multiplying the amount of the adjusted basis at such time of such share in the hands of the transferee by the aggregate number of share units in the transferor at such time (the interest represented by such share being taken as the share unit), and (ii) adjusting for the amount of money on hand and the liabilities of the transferor at such time.

“(B) The basis which property of the transferor is deemed to have under subparagraph (A) at the time therein specified shall be used in determining the basis of property subsequently acquired by the transferor the basis of which is determined with reference to the basis of property specified in subparagraph (A).

“(C) The basis which property of the transferor is deemed to have under subparagraphs (A) and (B) at the time therein specified shall be used in determining all subsequent adjustments to the basis of such property.

“(D) The property so received by the transferee shall be deemed to have, at the time of its receipt, the same basis it is deemed to have under the foregoing provisions of this paragraph in the hands of the transferor, or in the case of property not specified in subparagraph (A) or (B), the same basis it would have had in the hands of the transferor.

“(E) Only such part of the aggregate property received by the transferee in the intercorporate liquidation as is attributable to such share shall be considered as having the adjusted basis which property is deemed to have under subparagraphs (A), (B), (C), and (D) of this paragraph.

“(2) Basis of stock not a cost basis.

“The property received by a transferee in an intercorporate liquidation attributable to a share of stock having in the hands of the transferee a basis determined to be a basis other than a cost basis shall, for the purposes of subsection (b), be considered to have, at the time of its receipt, the basis it would have had had the first sentence of section 113 (a) (15) been applicable.

“(3) Definition of control.

“As used in this subsection, the term ‘control’ means the ownership of stock possessing at least 80 per centum of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock entitled to vote and the ownership of at least 80 per centum of the total number of shares of all other classes of stock (except nonvoting stock which is limited and preferred as to dividends), but only if in both cases such ownership continues until the completion of the intercorporate liquidation.

“(d) Adjustment of equity invested capital.

“If property is received by the transferee in an intercorporate liquidation, in computing the equity invested capital of the transferee for any day following the completion of such intercorporate liquidation—

“(1) with respect to any share of stock in the transferor having in the hands of the transferee, immediately prior to the receipt of any property in such intercorporate liquidation, a basis determined to be a cost basis, the earnings and profits or deficit in earnings and profits of the transferee shall be computed as if on the day following the completion of such intercorporate liquidation the transferee had realized a recognized gain equal to the amount of the plus adjustment in respect of such share, or had sustained a recognized loss equal to the amount of the minus adjustment in respect of such share;

“(2) with respect to any share of stock in the transferor having in the hands of the transferee, immediately prior to the receipt of any property in such intercorporate liquidation, a basis determined to be a basis other than a cost basis, there shall be treated as an amount includible in the sum specified in section 718 (a) the amount of the plus adjustment with respect to such share, or as an amount includible in the sum specified in section 718 (b) the amount of the minus adjustment with respect to such share.

“(e) Invested capital basis.

“The adjusted basis which property received by the transferee in an intercorporate liquidation is considered to have under the provisions of subsection (c) at the time of its receipt shall be thereafter treated as the adjusted basis, in lieu of the adjusted basis otherwise prescribed, in computing any amount, determined by reference to the basis of such property in the hands of the transferee, entering into the computation of the invested capital of the transferee, or of any other corporation the computation of the invested capital of which is determined by reference to the basis of such property in the hands of the transferee.

“(f) Statutory mergers and consolidations

“If a corporation owns stock in another corporation and such corporations are merged or consolidated in a statutory merger or consolidation, then for the purposes of this section and section 718 such stock shall be considered to have been acquired (in such statutory merger or consolidation) by the corporation resulting from the statutory merger or consolidation, and the properties of such other corporation attributable to such stock to have been received by such resulting corporation as a transferee from such other corporation as a transferor in an intercorporate liquidation.

“(g) Determinations—(1) Regulations.

“Any determination which is required to be made under this section (including determinations in applying this section in cases where there is a series of transferees of the property and cases where the stock of the transferor is acquired by the transferee from another corporation, and the determinations of the basis and adjusted basis which property or items thereof have or are considered to have) shall be made in accordance with regulations which shall be prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary. If the transferor or the transferee is a foreign corporation, the provisions of this section shall apply to such extent and under such conditions and limitations as may be provided in such regulations.

“(2) Application to liquidation extending over long period.

“The Commissioner is authorized to prescribe rules similar to those provided in this section with respect to the days within the period beginning with the date on which the first property is received in the intercorporate liquidation and ending with the day of its completion; and the extent to which, and the conditions and limitations under which, such rules are to be applicable. (Added Oct. 21, 1942, 4:30 p. m., E. W. T., ch. 619, title II, § 230 (a), 56 Stat. 932.)”

This part added by act Oct. 21, 1942, 4:30 p. m., E. W. T., ch. 619, title II, § 250, 56 Stat. 936, and was made applicable to taxable years beginning after Dec. 31, 1941, by section 201 thereof.

§§ 780—784, Repealed. Nov. 8, 1945, ch. 453, title I, § 122 (a), 59 Stat. 568.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF REPEAL

Section 122 (a) of act Nov. 8, 1945, ch. 453, title I, 59 Stat. 568, provided that the provisions of sections 780—784 of this title shall not apply to any taxable year beginning after Dec. 31, 1945.

SECTIONS PRIOR TO REPEAL

“§ 780. Post-war refund of excess profits tax—(a) In general.

“The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed to establish a credit to the account of each taxpayer subject to the tax imposed under this subchapter, for each taxable year ending after December 31, 1941 (except in the case of a taxable year beginning in 1941 and ending before July 1, 1942), and not beginning after December 31, 1943, of an amount equal to 10 per centum of the tax imposed under this subchapter for each such taxable year. For the purposes of this part, in the case of a taxpayer whose tax is determined under section 710 (a) (3), the term ‘tax imposed under this subchapter’ means the portion of the tentative tax determined under section 710 (a) (3) (B).

“(b) Application of credit to purchase of bonds.

“Within three months after the payment of the amount of the excess profits tax shown on the return for a taxable year to which subsection (a) applies (or, if such taxable year begins or ends in 1942, within one year after payment of the excess-profits tax shown on the return for such year), if the payment is made before July 1, 1945, there shall be issued to and in the name of the taxpayer bonds of the United States in an aggregate amount equal to 10 per centum of the tax paid in respect of which a credit is provided under subsection (a), and the credit established under subsection (a) for such taxable year is hereby made available for the purchase of such bonds.

“(c) Terms and maturity of bonds.

“The bonds provided for in subsection (a) shall be issued under the authority and subject to the provisions of the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended, and the purposes for which bonds may be issued under such Act are extended to include the purposes for which bonds are required to be issued under this section. Such bonds shall bear no interest, shall be nonnegotiable, and shall not be transferable by sale, exchange, assignment, pledge, hypothecation, or otherwise, except to a successor as defined in subsection (g), on or before the date of cessation of hostilities in the present war, but after said date, such bonds shall be negotiable, and may be sold, exchanged, pledged, assigned, hypothecated, or otherwise transferred, without restriction, and shall be redeemable (at the option of the United States) in whole or in part upon three months’ notice. Such bonds for any taxable year to which this section applies shall be payable at the option of the owner on or after January 1, 1946, and shall mature on the last day of that calendar year, beginning after the date of cessation of hostilities in the present war, which is shown in the following table to be applicable to such bonds for such year:

Bonds purchased with the credit for any taxable year beginning:	Calendar year (beginning after cessation of hostilities) on last day of which bonds mature
Within the calendar year 1941 or 1942-----	2nd
Within the calendar year 1943-----	3rd

“(d) Exemption of proceeds from tax.

“The proceeds of any such bond paid to the taxpayer upon redemption shall not be included in gross income.

“(e) Date of cessation of hostilities in the present war.

“As used in this section, the term ‘date of cessation of hostilities in the present war’ means the date on which hostilities in the present war between the United States and the governments of Germany, Japan, and Italy cease, as fixed by proclamation of the President or by concurrent resolution of the two Houses of Congress, whichever date is earlier, or in case the hostilities between the United States and such governments do not cease at the same time, such date as may be so fixed as an appropriate date for the purposes of this section.

“(f) Rights and liabilities of successors of taxpayer.

“Subject to, and to the extent provided in, regulations prescribed by the Secretary, a successor of the taxpayer shall succeed to all the rights and liabilities of the taxpayer under this part.

“(g) Definition of ‘successor’.

“For the purposes of this part the term ‘successor’ means such person or persons who succeed, either directly or through one or more other persons, to ownership of property of the taxpayer, as the Secretary may by regulations prescribe. (Added Oct. 21, 1942, 4:30 p. m., E. W. T., ch. 619, title II, § 250, 56 Stat. 936, amended Mar. 31, 1943, ch. 31, § 2, 57 Stat. 56; Feb. 25, 1944, 12:49 p. m., E. W. T., ch. 63, title II, § 250, (a—d), 58 Stat. 58; July 31, 1945, ch. 340, § 3 (a—c), 59 Stat. 518.)”

“§ 781. Special rules for application of section 780—(a) Effect of deficiencies.

“If a deficiency in respect of the excess profits tax for any taxable year for which a credit is provided in section 780 (a) is paid by the taxpayer before July 1, 1945, an amount of such credit equal to 10 per centum of the excess of the tax imposed by this subchapter on the basis of which the deficiency was determined, over the tax imposed by this subchapter as previously computed and paid shall be available, as provided in section 780 (b), for the purchase of bonds as provided under such section, and there shall be issued to the taxpayer bonds under such section in an amount equal to such excess and with the same maturity as in the case of bonds issued with respect to the taxable year with respect to which the deficiency is determined.

“(b) Effect of refunds.

“In the case of an overpayment of the tax imposed by this subchapter for any taxable year for which a credit is provided in section 780 (a), the credit, if any, provided in such section for such taxable year existing in favor of the taxpayer shall be reduced by an amount equal to 10 per centum of the excess of the tax imposed by this subchapter on the basis of which such tax (in respect of which the internal revenue refund or credit is made) was previously computed and paid, over the tax imposed by this subchapter as determined in connection with the determination of the amount of the overpayment. In such a case, if such credit provided in section 780 (a) for such taxable year is less than the amount by which it is required to be reduced, or if there is no such credit then existing in favor of the taxpayer, the excess of such amount over the amount of such credit, if any, shall constitute a charge against the taxpayer to be applied in reduction of the amount of the bonds previously issued to the taxpayer under section 780 (b) with respect to such taxable year. If the bonds issued with respect to such taxable year are not made available for the purpose of such reduction or the amount of such bonds so made available is less than the amount of such charge, such charge or the excess of such charge over the amount of such bonds so made available, as the case may be, shall be applied at the time of the credit or refund (or as of January 1, 1946, if that time is earlier) in reduction of the amount of the credit or refund of the overpayment of the tax.

“(c) Tax payments after cut-off date.

“In the case of a payment of the tax imposed by this subchapter shown on the return for any taxable year for which a credit is provided in section 780 (a), or the payment of a deficiency in respect of such tax for any such taxable year, on or after July 1, 1945, the amount of the credit under section 780 (a) for such taxable year attributable to such payment shall be paid the taxpayer in cash. No interest for the period after December 31, 1945, shall be assessed or collected on that portion of the tax or deficiency so paid equal to the credit under section 780 (a) attributable to such payment. If after January 1, 1946, there is any credit under section 780 (a) remaining in favor of the taxpayer attributable to any taxable year for which a credit is provided in section 780 (a), such remainder shall be paid to the taxpayer in cash. No amount of any payment made under this subsection to a taxpayer shall be included in gross income.

“(d) Limitation—(1) General rule.

“The credit under section 780 (a) for any taxable year shall not be greater than the excess of the amount of the tax paid under this subchapter to the United States (and not credited or refunded under the internal revenue laws) in respect of such year over the amount of tax which would be payable to the United States if the excess profits tax rate were 85½ per centum, or, if the limitation of section 710 (a) (1) (B) is applicable, if the amount determined under such section were reduced by 10 per centum.

“(2) Special rule in case of fiscal years beginning in 1941 and ending after June 30, 1942.

§ 811. Gross estate.

The value of the gross estate of the decedent shall be determined by including the value at the time of his death of all property, real or personal, tangible or intangible, wherever situated, except real property situated outside of the United States—

(a) Decedent's interest.

To the extent of the interest therein of the decedent at the time of his death;

(b) Dower or curtesy interests.

To the extent of any interest therein of the surviving spouse, existing at the time of the decedent's death as dower, curtesy, or by virtue of a statute creating an estate in lieu of dower or curtesy;

(c) Transfers in contemplation of, or taking effect at, death.

(1) General rule.

To the extent of any interest therein of which the decedent has at any time made a transfer (except in case of a bona fide sale for an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth), by trust or otherwise—

(A) in contemplation of his death; or

(B) under which he has retained for his life or for any period not ascertainable without reference to his death or for any period which does not in fact end before his death (i) the possession or enjoyment of, or the right to the income from, the property, or (ii) the right, either alone or in conjunction with any person, to designate the persons who shall possess or enjoy the property or the income therefrom; or

(C) intended to take effect in possession or enjoyment at or after his death.

(2) Transfers taking effect at death—transfers prior to October 8, 1949.

An interest in property of which the decedent made a transfer, on or before October 7, 1949, intended to take effect in possession or enjoyment at or after his death shall not be included in his gross estate under paragraph (1) (C) of this subsection unless the decedent has retained a reversionary interest in the property, arising by the express terms of the instrument of transfer and not by operation of law, and the value of such reversionary interest immediately before the death of the decedent exceeds 5 per centum of the value of such property. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term "reversionary interest" includes a possibility that property transferred by the decedent (A) may return to him or his estate, or (B) may be subject to a power of disposition by him, but such term does not include a possibility that the income alone from such property may return to him or become subject to a power of disposition by him. The value of a reversionary interest immediately before the death of the decedent shall be determined (without regard to the fact of the decedent's death) by usual methods of valuation, including the use of tables of mortality and actuarial principles, pursuant to regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary. In determining the value of a possibility that property may be subject to a power of disposition by the decedent, such possibility shall be valued as if it were a possibility that such property may return to the decedent or his estate.

(3) Transfers taking effect at death—transfers after October 7, 1949.

An interest in property transferred by the decedent after October 7, 1949, shall be included in his gross estate under paragraph (1) (C) of this subsection (whether or not the decedent retained any right or interest in the property transferred) if and only if—

(A) possession or enjoyment of the property can, through ownership of such interest, be obtained only by surviving the decedent; or

(B) under alternative contingencies provided by the terms of the transfer, possession or enjoyment of the property can, through ownership of such interest, be obtained only by surviving the earlier to occur of (i) the decedent's death or (ii) some other event; and such other event did not in fact occur during the decedent's life.

Notwithstanding the foregoing sentence, an interest so transferred shall not be included in the decedent's gross estate under paragraph (1) (C) of this subsection if possession or enjoyment of the property could have been obtained by any beneficiary during the decedent's life through the exercise of a power of appointment (as defined in section 811 (f) (2)) which in fact was exercisable immediately prior to the decedent's death.

(d) Revocable transfers—(1) Transfers after June 22, 1936.

To the extent of any interest therein of which the decedent has at any time made a transfer (except in case of a bona fide sale for an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth), by trust or otherwise, where the enjoyment thereof was subject at the date of his death to any change through the exercise of a power (in whatever capacity exercisable) by the decedent alone or by the decedent in conjunction with any other person (without regard to when or from what source the decedent acquired such power), to alter, amend, revoke, or terminate, or where any such power is relinquished in contemplation of decedent's death;

(2) Transfers on or prior to June 22, 1936.

To the extent of any interest therein of which the decedent has at any time made a transfer, by trust or otherwise, where the enjoyment thereof was subject at the date of his death to any change through the exercise of a power, either by the decedent alone or in conjunction with any person, to alter, amend, or revoke, or where the decedent relinquished any such power in contemplation of his death, except in case of a bona fide sale for an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth. Except in the case of transfers made after June 22, 1936, no interest of the decedent of which he has made a transfer shall be included in the gross estate under paragraph (1) unless it is includible under this paragraph;

(3) Date of existence of power.

For the purposes of this subsection the power to alter, amend, or revoke shall be considered to exist on the date of the decedent's death even though the exercise of the power is subject to a precedent giving of notice or even though the alteration, amendment, or revocation takes effect only on the expiration of a stated period after the exercise of the power, whether or not on or before the date of the decedent's death notice has been given or the power has been exercised. In such cases proper adjustment shall be made representing the interests which would have been excluded from the power if the decedent had lived, and for such purpose if the notice has not been given or the power has not been exercised on or before the date of his death, such notice shall be considered to have been given, or the power exercised, on the date of his death.

(4) Repealed. Sept. 23, 1950, 3:15 p. m., E. D. T., ch. 994, title V, § 501 (b) (2), 64 Stat. 962.

(5) Repealed. Apr. 2, 1948, ch. 168, title III, § 351 (a), 62 Stat. 116.

(e) Joint interests.

(1) To the extent of the interest therein held as joint tenants by the decedent and any other person, or as tenants by the entirety by the decedent and spouse, or deposited, with any person carrying on the banking business, in their joint names and payable to either or the survivor, except such part thereof as may be shown to have originally belonged to such other person and never to have been received or acquired by the latter from the decedent for less than an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth: Provided, That where such property or any part thereof, or part of the consideration with which such property was acquired, is shown to have been at any time acquired by such other person from the decedent for less than an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth, there shall be excepted only such part of the value of such property as is proportionate to the consideration furnished by such other person: Provided further, That where any property has been acquired by gift, bequest, devise, or inheritance, as a tenancy by the entirety by the decedent and spouse, then to the extent of one-half of the value thereof, or, where so acquired by the decedent and any other person as joint tenants and their interests are not otherwise specified or fixed by law, then to the extent of the value of a fractional part to be determined by dividing the value of the property by the number of joint tenants.

(2) Repealed. Apr. 2, 1948, ch. 168, title III, § 351 (a), 62 Stat. 116.

(f) Powers of appointment.

(1) Property with respect to which decedent exercises a general power of appointment created on or before October 21, 1942.

To the extent of any property with respect to which a general power of appointment created on or before October 21, 1942, is exercised by the decedent (1) by will or (2) by a disposition which is of such nature that if it were a transfer of property owned by the decedent, such property would be includible in the decedent's gross estate under subsection (c) or (d); but the failure to exercise such a power or the complete release of such a power shall not be deemed an exercise thereof.

If before November 1, 1951, or within the time limited by paragraph (2) of section 403 (d) of the Revenue Act of 1942, as amended, in cases to which such paragraph is applicable, a general power of appointment created on or before October 21, 1942, shall have been partially released so that it is no longer a general power of appointment, the subsequent exercise of such power shall not be deemed to be the exercise of a general power of appointment.

(2) Powers created after October 21, 1942.

To the extent of any property with respect to which the decedent has at the time of his death a general power of appointment created after October 21, 1942, or with respect to which the decedent has at any time exercised or released such a power of appointment by a disposition which is of such nature that if it were a transfer of property owned by the decedent, such property would be includible in the decedent's gross estate under subsection (c) or (d). A disclaimer or renunciation of such a power of appointment shall not be deemed a release of such power.

For the purposes of this paragraph (2) the power of appointment shall be considered to exist on the date of the decedent's death even though the exercise of the power is subject to a precedent giving of notice or even though the exercise of the power takes effect only on the expiration of a stated period after its exercise, whether or not on or before the date of the decedent's death notice has been given or the power has been exercised.

(3) Definition of general power of appointment.

For the purposes of this subsection the term "general power of appointment" means a power which is exercisable in favor of the decedent, his estate, his creditors, or the creditors of his estate; except that—

(A) A power to consume, invade, or appropriate property for the benefit of the decedent which is limited by an ascertainable standard relating to the health, education, support, or maintenance of the decedent shall not be deemed a general power of appointment.

(B) A power of appointment created on or before October 21, 1942, which is exercisable by the decedent only in conjunction with another person shall not be deemed a general power of appointment.

(C) In the case of a power of appointment created after October 21, 1942, which is exercisable by the decedent only in conjunction with another person—

(i) if the power is not exercisable by the decedent except in conjunction with the creator of the power—such power shall not be deemed a general power of appointment.

(ii) if the power is not exercisable by the decedent except in conjunction with a person having a substantial interest in the property, subject to the power, which is adverse to exercise of the power in favor of the decedent—such power shall not be deemed a general power of appointment. For the purposes of this clause a person who, after the death of the decedent, may be possessed of a power of appointment (with respect to the property subject to the decedent's power) which he may exercise in his own favor shall be deemed as having an interest in the property and such interest shall be deemed adverse to such exercise of the decedent's power.

(iii) if (after the application of clauses (i) and (ii)) the power is a general power of appointment and is exercisable in favor of such other person—such power shall be deemed a general power of appointment only in respect of a fractional part of the property subject to such power, such part to be determined by dividing the value of such property by the number of such persons (including the decedent) in favor of whom such power is exercisable. For the purposes of clauses (ii) and (iii) a power shall be deemed to be exercisable in favor of a person if it is exercisable in favor of such person, his estate, his creditors, or the creditors of his estate.

(4) Creation of another power in certain cases.

To the extent of any property with respect to which the decedent (1) by will or (2) by a disposition which is of such nature that if it were a transfer of property owned by the decedent, such property would be includible in the decedent's gross estate under subsection (c), exercises a power of appointment created after October 21, 1942, by creating another power of appointment which under the applicable local law can be validly exercised so as to postpone the vesting of any estate or interest in such property, or suspend the absolute ownership or power of alienation of such property, for a period ascertainable without regard to the date of the creation of the first power.

(5) Lapse of power.

The lapse of a power of appointment created after October 21, 1942, during the life of the individual possessing the power shall be considered a release of such power. The rule of the preceding sentence shall apply with respect to the lapse of powers during any calendar year only to the extent that the property which could have been appointed by exercise of such lapsed powers exceeded in value, at the time of such lapse, the greater of the following amounts:

(A) $5,000, or

(B) 5 per centum of the aggregate value, at the time of such lapse, of the assets out of which, or the proceeds of which, the exercise of the lapsed powers could have been satisfied.

(g) Proceeds of life insurance—(1) Receivable by the executor.

To the extent of the amount receivable by the executor as insurance under policies upon the life of the decedent.

(2) Receivable by other beneficiaries.

To the extent of the amount receivable by all other beneficiaries as insurance under policies upon the life of the decedent (A) purchased with premiums, or other consideration, paid directly or indirectly by the decedent, in proportion that the amount so paid by the decedent bears to the total premiums paid for the insurance, or (B) with respect to which the decedent possessed at his death any of the incidents of ownership, exercisable either alone or in conjunction with any other person. For the purposes of clause (A) of this paragraph, if the decedent transferred, by assignment or otherwise, a policy of insurance, the amount paid directly or indirectly by the decedent shall be reduced by an amount which bears the same ratio to the amount paid directly or indirectly by the decedent as the consideration in money or money's worth received by the decedent for the transfer bears to the value of the policy at the time of the transfer. For the purposes of clause

(B) of this paragraph, the term "incident of ownership" does not include a reversionary interest.

(3) Transfer not a gift.

The amount receivable under a policy of insurance transferred, by assignment or otherwise, by the decedent shall not be includible under paragraph (2) (A) if the transfer did not constitute a gift, in whole or in part, under Chapter 4, or, in case the transfer was made at a time when Chapter 4 was not in effect, would not have constituted a gift, in whole or in part, under such chapter had it been in effect at such time.

(4) Repealed. Apr. 2, 1948, ch. 168, title III, § 351 (a), 62 Stat. 116.

(h) Prior interests.

Except as otherwise specifically provided therein, subsections (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), and (g) shall apply to the transfers, trusts, estates, interests, rights, powers, and relinquishment of powers, as severally enumerated and described therein, whether made, created, arising, existing, exercised, or relinquished before or after February 26, 1926.

(i) Transfers for insufficient consideration.

If any one of the transfers, trusts, interests, rights, or powers, enumerated and described in subsections (c), (d), and (f) is made, created, exercised, or relinquished for a consideration in money or money's worth, but is not a bona fide sale for an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth, there shall be included in the gross estate only the excess of the fair market value at the time of death of the property otherwise to be included on account of such transaction, over the value of the consideration received therefor by the decedent.

(j) Optional valuation.

In case of an election made by the executor under this subsection, then—

(A) for the purposes of the deduction under section 812 (d) or section 861 (a) (3), any bequest, legacy, devise, or transfer enumerated therein, and

(B) for the purposes of the deduction under section 812 (e), any interest in property passing to the surviving spouse, shall be valued as of the date of the decedent's death with adjustment for any difference in value (not due to mere lapse of time or the occurrence or nonoccurrence of a contingency) of the property as of the date one year after the decedent's death (substituting, in the case of property distributed by the executor or trustee, or sold, exchanged, or otherwise disposed of, during such one-year period, the date thereof).

(k) Valuation of unlisted stock and securities.

In the case of stock and securities of a corporation the value of which by reason of their not being listed on an exchange and by reason of the absence of sales thereof, cannot be determined with reference to bid and asked prices or with reference to sales prices, the value thereof shall be determined taking into consideration, in addition to all other factors, the value of stock or securities of corporations engaged in the same or a similar line of business which are listed on an exchange.

(I) Contemplation of death.

If the decedent within a period of three years ending with the date of his death (except in case of a bona fide sale for an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth) transferred an interest in property, relinquished a power, or exercised or released a power of appointment, such transfer, relinquishment, exercise, or release shall, unless shown to the contrary, be deemed to have been made in contemplation of death within the meaning of subsections (c), (d), and (f); but no such transfer, relinquishment, exercise, or release made prior to such three-year period shall be deemed or held to have been made in contemplation of death.

(m) Cross reference.

For provision that relinquishment of material estates shall not be deemed a consideration "in money or money's worth," see section 812 (b).

REVERSIONARY INTERESTS IN CASE OF LIFE INSURANCE

Effective with respect to estates of decedents dying after Oct. 21, 1942, section 404 (c) of act Oct. 21, 1942, as amended by section 503 (a) of act Sept. 23, 1950, provided that: "The amendments made by subsection (a) (to section 811 (g)) shall be applicable only to estates of decedents dying after the date of the enactment of this Act (Oct. 21, 1942, 11:30 p. m., E. W. T.); but in determining the proportion of the premiums or other consideration paid directly or indirectly by the decedent (but not the total premiums paid) the amount so paid by the decedent on or before January 10, 1941, shall be excluded if at no time after such date the decedent possessed an incident of ownership in the policy. For the purposes of the preceding sentence, the term 'incident of ownership' includes a reversionary interest only if (1) at some time after January 10, 1941, the value of such reversionary interest exceeded 5 per centum of the value of the policy, and (2) the reversionary interest arose by the express terms of the policy or other instrument and not by operation of law. As used in this subsection, the term 'reversionary interest' includes a possibility that the policy, or the proceeds of the policy, (A) may return to the decedent or his estate, or (B) may be subject to a power of disposition by him. The value of a reversionary interest at any time shall be determined (without regard to the fact of the decedent's death) by usual methods of valuation, including the use of tables of mortality and actuarial principles, pursuant to regulations prescribed by the Secretary. In determining the value of a possibility that the policy or proceeds thereof may be subject to a power of disposition by the decedent, such possibility shall be valued as if it were a possibility that such policy or proceeds may return to the decedent or his estate."

Act Oct. 20, 1951, ch. 521, title VI, § 610, 65 Stat. 568, provided that: "If refund or credit of any overpayment resulting from the application of section 503 of the Internal Revenue Act of 1950 [Act Sept. 23, 1950, ch. 994, title V, § 503, 64 Stat. 962, subsec. (a) of which added last four sentences to act Oct. 21, 1942, § 404 (c), set out in note immediately above, and subsec. (b) of which is set out in note immediately following this note] was prevented on October 25, 1950, by the operation of any law or rule of law (other than section 3760 of the Internal Revenue Code [section 3760 of this title], relating to closing agreements, and other than section 3761 of such code [section 3761 of this title], relating to compromises), refund or credit may, nevertheless, be made or allowed if claim therefor was filed after October 25, 1949, and on or before October 25, 1950".

NO INTEREST ON REFUNDS

Section 503 (b) of act Sept. 23, 1950, provided that: "No interest shall be allowed or paid on any overpayment resulting from the application of subsection (a) with respect to any payment made prior to the date of the enactment of this Act."

REFUNDS OR CREDITS

Section 7 (c) of act Oct. 25, 1949, as amended by act Sept. 6, 1950, ch. 898, 64 Stat. 770, provided that: "If refund or credit of any overpayment resulting from the application of subsections (a) and (b) is prevented on the date of the enactment of this Act, or within one year from such date, by the operation of any law or rule of law (other than section 3760 of the Internal Revenue Code, relating to closing agreements, and other than section 3761 of such code, relating to compromises), refund or credit of such overpayment may, nevertheless, be made or allowed if claim therefor is filed within one year from the date of the enactment of this Act. This subsection shall not apply with respect to a transfer of property in case (1) the decedent retained for his life or for any period not ascertainable without reference to his death or for any period which did not in fact end before his death (A) the possession or enjoyment of, or the right to the income from, the property, or (B) the right, either alone or in conjunction with any person, to designate the persons who should possess or enjoy the property or the income therefrom, and (2) refund or credit of any overpayment resulting from the application of subsections (a) and (b) was prevented on or before January 16, 1949, by the operation of any law or rule of law."

Act Oct. 20, 1951, 2:07 p. m., E. S. T., ch. 521, title VI, § 609, 65 Stat. 567, provided in part that the provisions of section 7 (c) of act Oct. 25, 1949, as amended (quoted immediately above), should not apply to an overpayment resulting from the application of such section 609. The remainder of such section 609 amended section 7 (b) of said act Oct. 25, 1949 (providing the effective date of amendment by that act to subsec. (c) of this section, and also set out in note under this section) by substituting, in opening paragraph of such section 7 (b), "two sentences" in lieu of "sentence", and by inserting, in such section 7 (b), the paragraph immediately preceding the last paragraph.

TREATY OBLIGATIONS

Section 615 of act Oct. 20, 1951, provided that: "No amendment made by this act [act Oct. 20, 1951] shall apply in any case where its application would be contrary to any treaty obligation of the United States."

Similar provisions were contained in the following act: 1950—Sept. 23, 1950, 3:15 p. m., E. D. T., ch. 994, title II, § 214, 64 Stat. 937.

§ 812. Net estate.

For the purpose of the tax the value of the net estate shall be determined, in the case of a citizen or resident of the United States by deducting from the value of the gross estate—

(a) Exemption.

An exemption of $100,000;

(b) Expenses, losses, indebtedness, and taxes.

Such amounts—

- (1) for funeral expenses,
- (2) for administration expenses,
- (3) for claims against the estate, and

(4) for unpaid mortgages upon, or any indebtedness in respect to, property where the value of decedent's interest therein, undiminished by such mortgage or indebtedness, is included in the value of the gross estate, as are allowed by the laws of the jurisdiction, whether within or without the United States, under which the estate is being administered, but not including any income taxes upon income received after the death of the decedent, or property taxes not accrued before his death, or any estate, succession, legacy, or inheritance taxes. The deduction herein allowed in the case of claims against the estate, unpaid mortgages, or any indebtedness shall, when founded upon a promise or agreement, be limited to the extent that they were contracted bona fide and for an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth; except that in any case in which any such claim is founded upon a promise or agreement of the decedent to make a contribution or gift to or for the use of any donee described in subsection (d) for the purposes specified therein, the deduction for such claim shall not be so limited, but shall be limited to the extent that it would be allowable as a deduction under subsection (d) if such promise or agreement constituted a bequest. There shall be disallowed the amount by which the deductions specified in paragraphs (1), (2), (3), and (4), exceed the value, at the time of the decedent's death, of property subject to claims. For the purposes of this section the term "property subject to claims" means property includible in the gross estate of the decedent which, or the avails of which, would, under the applicable law, bear the burden of the payment of such deductions in the final adjustment and settlement of the estate; and, for the purposes of this definition, the value of the property shall be reduced by the amount of the deduction under the next sentence attributable to such property. There shall also be deducted losses incurred during the settlement of estates arising from fires, storms, shipwrecks, or other casualties, or from theft, when such losses are not compensated for by insurance or otherwise, and if at the time of the filing of the return such losses have not been claimed as a deduction for income tax purposes in an income tax return.

For the purposes of this subchapter, a relinquishment or promised relinquishment of dower, curtesy, or of a statutory estate created in lieu of dower or curtesy, or of other marital rights in the decedent's property or estate, shall not be considered to any extent a consideration "in money or money's worth."

(c) Property previously taxed.

An amount equal to the value of any property (1) forming a part of the gross estate situated in the United States of any person who died within five years prior to the death of the decedent, or (2) transferred to the decedent by gift within five years prior to his death, where such property can be identified as having been received by the decedent from the donor by gift, or from such prior decedent by gift, bequest, devise, or inheritance, or which can be identified as having been acquired in exchange for property so received. Property includible in the gross estate of the prior decedent under section 811 (f) and property included in total gifts of the donor under section 1000 (c) received by the decedent described in this subsection shall, for the purposes of this subsection, be considered a bequest of such prior decedent or gift of such donor. This deduction shall be allowed only where a gift tax imposed under Chapter 4, or under Title III of the Revenue Act of 1932, 47 Stat. 245, or an estate tax imposed under this chapter or any prior Act of Congress, was finally determined and paid by or on behalf of such donor, or the estate of such prior decedent, as the case may be, and only in the amount finally determined as the value of such property in determining the value of the gift, or the gross estate of such prior decedent, and only to the extent that the value of such property is included in the decedent's gross estate, and only if in determining the value of the net estate of the prior decedent no deduction was allowable under this subsection, section 861 (a) (2), or the corresponding provisions of any prior Act of Congress, in respect of the property or property given in exchange therefor.

The following property shall not, for the purposes of this subsection, be considered as property with respect to which a deduction may be allowed: (A) property received from a prior decedent who died after December 31, 1947, and was at the time of such death the decedent's spouse, (B) property received by gift after the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1948 from a donor who at the time of the gift was the decedent's spouse, and (C) property acquired in exchange for property described in clause (A) or (B).

Where, under the provisions of section 1000 (f), a gift received by the decedent was considered as made one-half by the donor and one-half by the donor's spouse, one-half of the gift shall be considered as received by the decedent from each such spouse.

Where a deduction was allowed of any mortgage or other lien in determining the gift tax, or the estate tax of the prior decedent, which was paid in whole or in part prior to the decedent's death, then the deduction allowable under this subsection shall be reduced by the amount so paid. The deduction under this subsection shall be reduced by an amount which bears the same ratio to the amounts allowed as deductions under subsections (a), (d), and (e) and the amounts of general claims allowed as deductions under subsection (b) as the amount otherwise deductible under this subsection bears to property subject to general claims. If the property includible in the gross estate to which the deduction under this subsection is attributable is not wholly property subject to general claims—

(1) before the application of the preceding sentence, the amount of the deduction under this subsection shall be reduced by that part of such amount as the value, at the time of the decedent's death, of such property (to which such deduction is attributable) subject to claims but not to general claims is of the value, at the time of the decedent's death, of such property, and

(2) in the application of the preceding sentence in reducing the balance, if any, of such deduction, "the amount otherwise deductible under this subsection" shall be only that part of such amount otherwise deductible (determined without regard to clause (1) of this paragraph) as the value, at the time of the decedent's death, of such property (to which such deduction is attributable) subject to general claims is of the value, at the time of the decedent's death, of such property.

For the purposes of the two preceding sentences and this sentence, "general claims" are the amounts allowed as deductions under subsection (b) which, under the applicable law, in the final adjustment and settlement of the estate may be enforced against any property subject to claims, as defined in subsection (b), and "property subject to general claims" is the value, at the time of the decedent's death, of property subject to claims, as defined in subsection (b), reduced by the value, at the time of the decedent's death, of that part of such property against which amounts allowed as deductions under subsection (b) which are not general claims may be enforced, under the applicable law, in the final adjustment and settlement of the estate. Where the property referred to in this subsection consists of two or more items the aggregate value of such items shall be used for the purpose of computing the deduction.

(d) Transfers for public, charitable, and religious uses.

The amount of all bequests, legacies, devises, or transfers (including the interest which falls into any such bequest, legacy, devise, or transfer as a result of an irrevocable disclaimer of a bequest, legacy, devise, transfer, or power, if the disclaimer is made prior to the date prescribed for the filing of the estate tax return or, in the case of a decedent dying on or before October 21, 1942, if the disclaimer is made prior to September 1, 1944) to or for the use of the United States, any State, Territory, any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, for exclusively public purposes, or to or for the use of any corporation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, including the encouragement of art and the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private stockholder or individual, and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation, or to a trustee or trustees, or a fraternal society, order, or association operating under the lodge system, but only if such contributions or gifts are to be used by such trustee or trustees, or by such fraternal society, order, or association, exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no substantial part of the activities of such trustee or trustees, or of such fraternal society, order, or association, is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting, to influence legislation, or to or for the use of the United Nations, but only if such bequests, legacies, devises, or transfers to or for the use of the United Nations are to be used exclusively for the acquisition of a site in the city of New York for its headquarters, and the death of the decedent occurred after December 1, 1946, and before December 2, 1947. Property includible in the decedent's gross estate under section 811 (f) received by a donee described in this subsection shall, for the purposes of this subsection, be considered a bequest of such decedent. If the tax imposed by section 810, or any estate, succession, legacy, or inheritance taxes, are, either by the terms of the will, by the law of the jurisdiction under which the estate is administered, or by the law of the jurisdiction imposing the particular tax, payable in whole or in part out of the bequests, legacies, or devises otherwise deductible under this paragraph, then the amount deductible under this paragraph shall be the amount of such bequests, legacies, or devises reduced by the amount of such taxes. The amount of the deduction under this subsection for any transfer shall not exceed the value of the transferred property required to be included in the gross estate. For disallowance of certain charitable, etc., deductions otherwise allowable under this subsection, see sections 3813 and 162 (g) (2).

(e) Bequests, etc., to surviving spouse.

(1) Allowance of marital deduction.

(A) In general.

An amount equal to the value of any interest in property which passes or has passed from the decedent to his surviving spouse, but only to the extent that such interest is included in determining the value of the gross estate.

(B) Life estate or other terminable interest.

Where, upon the lapse of time, upon the occurrence of an event or contingency, or upon the failure of an event or contingency to occur, such interest passing to the surviving spouse will terminate or fail, no deduction shall be allowed with respect to such interest—

(i) if an interest in such property passes or has passed (for less than an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth) from the decedent to any person other than such surviving spouse (or the estate of such spouse); and

(ii) if by reason of such passing such person (or his heirs or assigns) may possess or enjoy any part of such property after such termination or failure of the interest so passing to the surviving spouse;

and no deduction shall be allowed with respect to such interest (even if such deduction is not disallowed under clauses (i) and (ii))—

(iii) if such interest is to be acquired for the surviving spouse, pursuant to directions of the decedent, by his executor or by the trustee of a trust.

For the purposes of this subparagraph, an interest shall not be considered as an interest which will terminate or fail merely because it is the ownership of a bond, note, or similar contractual obligation, the discharge of which would not have the effect of an annuity for life or for a term.

(C) Interest in unidentified assets.

Where the assets (included in the decedent's gross estate) out of which, or the proceeds of which, an interest passing to the surviving spouse may be satisfied include a particular asset or assets with respect to which no deduction would be allowed if such asset or assets passed from the decedent to such spouse, then the value of such interest passing to such spouse shall, for the purposes of subparagraph (A), be reduced by the aggregate value of such particular assets.

(D) Interest of spouse conditional on survival for limited period.

For the purposes of subparagraph (B) an interest passing to the surviving spouse shall not be considered as an interest which will terminate or fail upon the death of such spouse if—

(i) such death will cause a termination or failure of such interest only if it occurs within a period not exceeding six months after the decedent's death, or only if it occurs as a result of a common disaster resulting in the death of the decedent and the surviving spouse, or only if it occurs in the case of either such event;

and

(ii) such termination or failure does not in fact occur.

(E) Valuation of interest passing to surviving spouse.

In determining for the purposes of subparagraph (A) the value of any interest in property passing to the surviving spouse for which a deduction is allowed by this subsection—

(i) there shall be taken into account the effect which a tax imposed by this chapter, or any estate, succession, legacy, or inheritance tax, has upon the net value to the surviving spouse of such interest; and

(ii) where such interest or property is incumbered in any manner, or where the surviving spouse incurs any obligation imposed by the decedent with respect to the passing of such interest, such incumbrance or obligation shall be taken into account in the same manner as if the amount of a gift to such spouse of such interest were being determined.

(F) Trust with power of appointment in surviving spouse.

In the case of an interest in property passing from the decedent in trust, if under the terms of the trust his surviving spouse is entitled for life to all the income from the corpus of the trust, payable annually or at more frequent intervals, with power in the surviving spouse to appoint the entire corpus free of the trust (exercisable in favor of such surviving spouse, or of the estate of such surviving spouse, or in favor of either, whether or not in each case the power is exercisable in favor of others), and with no power in any other person to appoint any part of the corpus to any person other than the surviving spouse—

(i) the interest so passing shall, for the purposes of subparagraph (A), be considered as passing to the surviving spouse, and

(ii) no part of the interest so passing shall, for the purposes of subparagraph (B) (i), be considered as passing to any person other than the surviving spouse.

This subparagraph shall be applicable only if, under the terms of the trust, such power in the surviving spouse to appoint the corpus, whether exercisable by will or during life, is exercisable by such spouse alone and in all events.

(G) Life insurance or annuity payments with power of appointment in surviving spouse.

In the case of an interest in property passing from the decedent consisting of proceeds under a life insurance, endowment, or annuity contract, if under the terms of the contract such proceeds are payable in installments or are held by the insurer subject to an agreement to pay interest thereon (whether the proceeds, upon the termination of any interest payments, are payable in a lump sum or in annual or more frequent installments), and such installment or interest payments are payable annually or at more frequent intervals, commencing not later than thirteen months after the decedent's death, and all amounts payable during the life of the surviving spouse are payable only to such spouse, and such spouse has the power to appoint all amounts payable under such contract (exercisable in favor of such surviving spouse, or of the estate of such surviving spouse, or in favor of either, whether or not in each case the power is exercisable in favor of others), with no power in any other person to appoint to any person other than the surviving spouse any part of the amounts payable under such contract—

(i) such proceeds shall, for the purposes of subparagraph (A), be considered as passing to the surviving spouse, and

(ii) no part of such proceeds shall, for the purposes of subparagraph (B) (i), be considered as passing to any person other than the surviving spouse.

This subparagraph shall be applicable only if, under the terms of the contract, such power in the surviving spouse to appoint, whether exercisable by will or during life, is exercisable by such spouse alone and in all events.

(H) Limitation on aggregate of deductions.

The aggregate amount of the deductions allowed under this paragraph (computed without regard to this subparagraph) shall not exceed 50 per centum of the value of the adjusted gross estate, as defined in paragraph (2).

(2) Computation of adjusted gross estate.

(A) General rule.

Except as provided in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph the adjusted gross estate shall, for the purposes of paragraph (1) (H), be computed by subtracting from the entire value of the gross estate the aggregate amount of the deductions allowed by subsection (b) of this section.

(B) Special rule in cases involving community property.

If the decedent and his surviving spouse at any time held property as community property under the law of any State, Territory, or possession of the United States, or of any foreign country, then the adjusted gross estate shall, for the purposes of paragraph (1) (H), be determined by subtracting from the entire value of the gross estate the sum of:

(i) the value of property which is at the time of the death of the decedent held as such community property; and

(ii) the value of property transferred by the decedent during his life, if at the time of such transfer the property was held as such community property; and

(iii) the amount receivable as insurance under policies upon the life of the decedent to the extent purchased with premiums or other consideration paid out of property held as such community property; and

(iv) an amount which bears the same ratio to the aggregate of the deductions allowed under subsection (b) of this section which the value of the property included in the gross estate, diminished by the amount subtracted under clauses (i), (ii), and (iii) of this subparagraph, bears to the entire value of the gross estate.

For the purposes of clauses (i), (ii), and (iii) community property (except property which is considered as community property solely by reason of the provisions of subparagraph (C) of this paragraph) shall be considered as not "held as such community property" as of any moment of time, if, in case of the death of the decedent at such moment, such property (and not merely one-half thereof) would be or would have been includible in determining the value of his gross estate without regard to the provisions of section 811 (e) (2). The amount to be subtracted under clause (i), (ii), or (iii) shall not exceed the value of the interest in the property described therein which is included in determining the value of the gross estate.

(C) Same—Conversion into separate property.

(i) If during the calendar year 1942 or after the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1948, property held as such community property (unless considered by reason of subparagraph (B) of this paragraph as not so held) was by the decedent and the surviving spouse converted, by one transaction or a series of transactions, into separate property of the decedent and his spouse (including any form of co-ownership by them), the separate property so acquired by the decedent and any property acquired at any time by the decedent in exchange therefor (by one exchange or a series of exchanges) shall, for the purposes of clauses (i), (ii), and (iii) of subparagraph (B), be considered as "held as such community property".

(ii) Where the value (at the time of such conversion) of the separate property so acquired by the decedent exceeded the value (at such time) of the separate property so acquired by the decedent's spouse, the rule in clause (i) shall be applied only with respect to the same portion of such separate property of the decedent as the portion which the value (as of such time) of such separate property so acquired by the decedent's spouse is of the value (as of such time) of the separate property so acquired by the decedent.

(3) Definition.

For the purposes of this subsection an interest in property shall be considered as passing from the decedent to any person if and only if—

(A) such interest is bequeathed or devised to such person by the decedent; or

(B) such interest is inherited by such person from the decedent; or

(C) such interest is the dower or curtesy interest (or statutory interest in lieu thereof) of such person as surviving spouse of the decedent; or

(D) such interest has been transferred to such person by the decedent at any time; or

(E) such interest was, at the time of the decedent's death, held by such person and the decedent

(or by them and any other person) in joint ownership with right of survivorship; or

(F) the decedent had a power (either alone or in conjunction with any person) to appoint such interest and if he appoints or has appointed such interest to such person, or if such person takes such interest in default upon the release or nonexercise of such power; or

(G) such interest consists of proceeds of insurance upon the life of the decedent receivable by such person.

Except as provided in subparagraph (F) or (G) of paragraph (1), where at the time of the decedent's death it is not possible to ascertain the particular person or persons to whom an interest in property may pass from the decedent, such interest shall, for the purposes of clauses (i) and (ii) of subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1), be considered as passing from the decedent to a person other than the surviving spouse.

(4) Disclaimers.

(A) By surviving spouse.

If under this subsection an interest would, in the absence of a disclaimer by the surviving spouse, be considered as passing from the decedent to such spouse, and if a disclaimer of such interest is made by such spouse, then such interest shall, for the purposes of this subsection, be considered as passing to the person or persons entitled to receive such interest as a result of the disclaimer.

(B) Disclaimer by any other person.

If under this subsection an interest would, in the absence of a disclaimer by any person other than the surviving spouse, be considered as passing from the decedent to such person, and if a disclaimer of such interest is made by such person and as a result of such disclaimer the surviving spouse is entitled to receive such interest, then such interest shall, for the purposes of this subsection, be considered as passing, not to the surviving spouse, but to the person who made the disclaimer, in the same manner as if the disclaimer had not been made. § 813. Credits against tax—(a) Gift tax—(1) Revenue Act of 1924.

In case a tax has been imposed under section 319 of the Revenue Act of 1924, 43 Stat. 313, as amended by section 324 of the Revenue Act of 1926, 44 Stat. 86, upon any gift, and thereafter upon the death of the donor the amount thereof is required by any provision of this subchapter to be included in the gross estate of the decedent then there shall be credited against and applied in reduction of the estate tax, which would otherwise be chargeable against the estate of the decedent under the provisions of this subchapter (after deducting from such tax the credit provided by section 813 (b)), an amount equal to the tax paid with respect to such gift; and in the event the donor has in any year paid the tax imposed by said section 319 with respect to a gift or gifts which upon the death of the donor must be included in his gross estate and a gift or gifts not required to be so included, then the amount of the tax which shall be deemed to have been paid with respect to the gift or gifts required to be so included shall be that proportion of the entire tax paid on account of all such gifts which the amount of the gift or gifts required to be so included bears to the total amount of gifts in that year.

(2) Revenue act of 1932 or chapter 4.

(A) If a tax has been paid under chapter 4 or under Title III of the Revenue Act of 1932, 47 Stat. 245, on a gift, and thereafter upon the death of the donor any amount in respect of such gift is required to be included in the value of the gross estate of the decedent for the purposes of this subchapter, then there shall be credited against the tax imposed by section 810 or 860 the amount of the tax paid under chapter 4 or under Title III of the Revenue Act of 1932 with respect to so much of the property which constituted the gift as is included in the gross estate, except that the amount of such credit shall not exceed an amount which bears the same ratio to the tax imposed by section 810 or 860 (after deducting from such tax the credits provided by section 813 (a) (1) and (b)) as the value (at the time of the gift or at the time of the death, whichever is lower) of so much of the property which constituted the gift as is included in the gross estate, bears to the value of the entire gross estate reduced by the aggregate amount of the deductions allowed under subsections (d) and (e) of section 812.

(B) In applying, with respect to any gift, the ratio stated in subparagraph (A), the value at the time of the gift or at the time of the death, referred to in such ratio, shall be reduced—

(i) by such amount as will properly reflect the amount of such gift which was excluded in determining (for the purposes of section 1003 (a), or of section 504 (a) of the Revenue Act of 1932) the total amount of gifts made during the year in which the gift was made;

(ii) if a deduction with respect to such gift is allowed under section 812 (e) (the so-called "marital deduction")—then by an amount which bears the same ratio to such value (reduced as provided in clause (i) of this subparagraph) as the aggregate amount of the marital deductions allowed under section 812 (e) bears to the aggregate amount of such marital deductions computed without regard to subparagraph (H) of section 812 (e) (1); and

(iii) if a deduction with respect to such gift is allowed under section 812 (d) (the so-called "charitable deduction")—then by the amount of such value, reduced as provided in clause (i) of this subparagraph.

(C) Where the decedent was the donor of the gift but, under the provisions of section 1000 (f), the gift was considered as made one-half by his spouse—

(i) the term "the amount of the tax paid under chapter 4", as used in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, includes the amounts paid with respect to each half of such gift, the amount paid with respect to each being computed in the manner provided in subparagraph (D); and

(ii) in applying, with respect to such gift, the ratio stated in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, the value at the time of the gift or at the time of the death, referred to in such ratio, includes such value with respect to each half of such gift, each such value being reduced as provided in clause (i) of subparagraph (B) of this paragraph.

(D) (i) For the purposes of subparagraph (A), the amount of tax paid under chapter 4, or under Title III of the Revenue Act of 1932, with respect to any gift shall be an amount which bears the same ratio to the total tax paid for the year in which the gift was made as the amount of such gift bears to the total amount of net gifts (computed without deduction of the specific exemption) for such year.

(ii) For the purposes of clause (i) the "amount of such gift" shall be the amount included with respect to such gift in determining (for the purposes of section 1003 (a), or of section 504 (a) of the Revenue Act of 1932) the total amount of gifts made during such year, reduced by the amount of any deduction allowed with respect to such gift under section 1004 (a) (2), or under section 505 (a) (2) of the Revenue Act of 1932 (the so-called "charitable deduction"), or under section 1004 (a) (3) (the so-called "marital deduction").

(b) Estate, succession, legacy, and inheritance taxes.

The tax imposed by section 810 or 860 shall be credited with the amount of any estate, inheritance, legacy, or succession taxes actually paid to any State or Territory or the District of Columbia, or any possession of the United States, in respect of any property included in the gross estate (not including any such taxes paid with respect to the estate of a person other than the decedent). The credit allowed by this subsection shall not exceed 80 per centum of the tax imposed by section 810 or 860 (before deducting from such tax the credits provided by section 813 (a) (1) and (2)), and shall include only such taxes as were actually paid and credit therefor claimed within four years after the filing of the return required by section 821 or 864, except that—

(1) If a petition for redetermination of a deficiency has been filed with The Tax Court of the United States within the time prescribed in section 871, then within such four-year period or before the expiration of 60 days after the decision of The Tax Court becomes final.

(2) If, under section 822 (a) (2) or section 871 (h), an extension of time has been granted for payment of the tax shown on the return, or of a deficiency, then within such four-year period or before the date of the expiration of the period of the extension.

Refund based on the credit may (despite the provisions of sections 910 to 912, inclusive), be made if claim therefor is filed within the period above provided. Any such refund shall be made without interest.

(c) Same—paid to foreign countries.

(1) In general.

The tax imposed by section 810 shall be credited with the amount of any estate, inheritance, legacy, or succession taxes actually paid to any foreign country in respect of any property situated within such foreign country and included in the gross estate (not including any such taxes paid with respect to the estate of a person other than the decedent). If the decedent at the time of his death was not a citizen of the United States, credit shall not be allowed under this subsection unless the foreign country of which such decedent was a citizen or subject, in imposing such taxes, allows a similar credit in the case of a citizen of the United States resident in such country. The determination of the country within which property is situated shall be made in accordance with the rules applicable under Part III of this subchapter in determining whether property is situated within or without the United States.

(2) Limitations on credit.

The credit provided in this subsection with respect to such taxes paid to any foreign country—

(A) shall not, with respect to any such tax, exceed an amount which bears the same ratio to the amount of such tax actually paid to such foreign country as the value of property which is—

- (i) situated within such foreign country,
- (ii) subjected to such tax, and
- (iii) included in the gross estate

bears to the value of all property subjected to such tax; and

(B) shall not, with respect to all such taxes, exceed an amount which bears the same ratio to the tax imposed by section 810 (after deducting from such tax the credits provided by subsections (a) and (b) of this section) as the value of property which is—

- (i) situated within such foreign country,
- (ii) subjected to the taxes of such foreign country, and
- (iii) included in the gross estate

bears to the value of the entire gross estate reduced by the aggregate amount of the deductions allowed under subsections (c), (d), and (e) of section 812.

(3) Valuation of property.

(A) the values referred to in the ratio stated in paragraph (2) (A) are the values determined for the purposes of the tax imposed by such foreign country.

(B) The values referred to in the ratio stated in paragraph (2) (B) are the values determined under this chapter; but, in applying such ratio, the value of any property described in clauses (i), (ii), and (iii) thereof shall be reduced by such amount as will properly reflect, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary, the deductions allowed in respect of such property under subsections (c), (d), and (e) of section 812.

(4) Proof of credit.

The credits provided in this subsection and in section 936 (c) shall be allowed only if the taxpayer establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary (A) the amount of taxes actually paid to the foreign country, (B) the amount and date of each payment thereof, (C) the description and value of the property in respect of which such taxes are imposed, and (D) all other information necessary for the verification and computation of the credits.

(5) Period of limitation.

The credits provided in this subsection and in section 936 (c) shall be allowed only for such taxes as were actually paid and credit therefor claimed within four years after the filing of the return required by section 821, except that—

(A) If a petition for redetermination of a deficiency has been filed with The Tax Court of the United States within the time prescribed in section 871, then within such four-year period or before the expiration of 60 days after the decision of The Tax Court becomes final.

(B) If, under section 822 (a) (2) or section 871 (h), an extension of time has been granted for payment of the tax shown on the return, or of a deficiency, then within such four-year period or before the date of the expiration of the period of the extension.

Refund based on such credits may (despite the provisions of sections 910 to 912, inclusive) be made if claim therefor is filed within the period above provided. Any such refund shall be made without interest. (53 Stat. 125; June 29, 1939, 10 p. m., E. S. § 826. Collection of unpaid tax—(a) Sale of property.

If the tax herein imposed is not paid on or before the due date thereof the collector shall, upon instruction from the Commissioner, proceed to collect the tax under the provisions of general law; or appropriate proceedings may be commenced in any court of the United States having jurisdiction, in the name of the United States, to subject the property of the decedent to be sold under the judgment or decree of the court. From the proceeds of such sale the amount of the tax, together with the costs and expenses of every description to be allowed by the court, shall be first paid, and the balance shall be deposited according to the order of the court, to be paid under its direction to the person entitled thereto. This subsection in so far as it applies to the collection of a deficiency shall be subject to the provisions of sections 871 and 891.

(b) Reimbursement out of estate.

If the tax or any part thereof is paid by, or collected out of that part of the estate passing to or in the possession of, any person other than the executor in his capacity as such, such person shall be entitled to reimbursement out of any part of the estate still undistributed or by a just and equitable contribution by the persons whose interest in the estate of the decedent would have been reduced if the tax had been paid before the distribution of the estate or whose interest is subject to equal or prior liability for the payment of taxes, debts, or other charges against the estate, it being the purpose and intent of this subchapter that so far as is practicable and unless otherwise directed by the will of the decedent the tax shall be paid out of the estate before its distribution.

Unless the decedent directs otherwise in his will, if any part of the gross estate upon which tax has been paid consists of proceeds of policies of insurance upon the life of the decedent receivable by a beneficiary other than the executor, the executor shall be entitled to recover from such beneficiary such portion of the total tax paid as the proceeds of such policies bear to the sum of the net estate and the amount of the exemption allowed in computing the net estate, determined under section 935 (c). If there is more than one such beneficiary the executor shall be entitled to recover from such beneficiaries in the same ratio. In the case of such proceeds receivable by the surviving spouse of the decedent for which a deduction is allowed under section 812 (e) (the so-called "marital deduction"), this subsection shall not apply to such proceeds except as to the amount thereof in excess of the aggregate amount of the marital deductions allowed under such subsection.

Unless the decedent directs otherwise in his will, if any part of the gross estate upon which the tax has been paid consists of the value of property included in the gross estate under section 811 (f), the executor shall be entitled to recover from the person receiving such property by reason of the exercise, nonexercise, or release of a power of appointment such portion of the total tax paid as the value of such property bears to the sum of the net estate and the amount of the exemption allowed in computing the net estate, determined under section 935 (c), or section 861, as the case may be. § 861. Net estate—(a) Deductions allowed.

For the purpose of the tax the value of the net estate shall be determined, in the case of a nonresident not a citizen of the United States, by deducting from the value of that part of his gross estate (determined as provided in section 811), which at the time of his death is situated in the United States—

(1) Expenses, losses, indebtedness, and taxes.

That proportion of the deductions specified in section 812 (b) (other than the deductions described in the following sentence) which the value of such part bears to the value of his entire gross estate, wherever situated. Any deduction allowable under section 812 (b) in the case of a claim against the estate which was founded upon a promise or agreement but was not contracted for an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth shall be allowable under this paragraph to the extent that it would be allowable as a deduction under paragraph (3) if such promise or agreement constituted a bequest.

(2) Property previously taxed.

An amount equal to the value of any property (A) forming a part of the gross estate situated in the United States of any person who died within five years prior to the death of the decedent, or (B) transferred to the decedent by gift within five years prior to his death, where such property can be identified as having been received by the decedent from the donor by gift, or from such prior decedent by gift, bequest, devise, or inheritance, or which can be identified as having been acquired in exchange for property so received. Property includible in the gross estate of the prior decedent under section 811 (f) and property included in total gifts of the donor under section 1000 (c) received by the decedent described in this paragraph shall, for the purposes of this paragraph, be considered a bequest of such prior decedent or gift of such donor. This deduction shall be allowed only where a gift tax imposed under Chapter 4, or under Title III of the Revenue Act of 1932, 47 Stat. 245, or an estate tax imposed under this chapter or any prior Act of Congress, was finally determined and paid by or on behalf of such donor, or the estate of such prior decedent, as the case may be, and only in the amount finally determined as the value of such property in determining the value of the gift, or the gross estate of such prior decedent, and only to the extent that the value of such property is included in that part of the decedent's gross estate which at the time of his death is situated in the United States, and only if in determining the value of the net estate of the prior decedent no deduction was allowable under this paragraph, section 812 (c), or the corresponding provisions of any prior Act of Congress, in respect of the property or property given in exchange therefor. Where a deduction was allowed of any mortgage or other lien in determining the gift tax, or the estate tax of the prior decedent, which was paid in whole or in part prior to the decedent's death, then the deduction allowable under this paragraph shall be reduced by the amount so paid. The deduction under this paragraph shall be reduced by an amount which bears the same ratio to the amounts allowed as deductions under paragraphs (3) and (4) and the amount of general claims allowed as deduction under paragraph (1) of this subsection as the amount otherwise deductible under this paragraph bears to property subject to general claims. If the property includible in the gross estate to which the deduction under the paragraph is attributable is not wholly property subject to general claims—

(A) before the application of the preceding sentence, the amount of the deduction under this paragraph shall be reduced by that part of such amount as the value, at the time of the decedent's death, of such property (to which such deduction is attributable) subject to claims but not to general claims is of the value, at the time of the decedent's death, of such property, and

(B) in the application of the preceding sentence in reducing the balance, if any, of such deduction, "the amount otherwise deductible under this paragraph" shall be only that part of such amount otherwise deductible (determined without regard to subparagraph (A)) as the value, at the time of the decedent's death, of such property (to which such deduction is attributable) subject to general claims is of the value, at the time of the decedent's death, of such property.

For the purposes of the two preceding sentences and this sentence, "general claims" are the amounts allowed as deductions under paragraph (1) of this subsection which, under the applicable law, in the final adjustment and settlement of the estate may be enforced against that part of any property subject to claims, as defined in subsection (b) of section 812 which at the time of the decedent's death is in the United States, and "property subject to general claims" is the value, at the time of the decedent's death, of such property subject to claims, reduced by the value, at the time of the decedent's death, of that part of such property subject to claims against which amounts allowed as deductions under paragraph (1) of this subsection which are not general claims may be enforced, under the applicable law, in the final adjustment and settlement of the estate. Where the property referred to in this paragraph consists of two or more items the aggregate value of such items shall be used for the purpose of computing the deduction.

(3) Transfers for public, charitable, and religious uses.

The amount of all bequests, legacies, devises, or transfers (including the interest which falls into any such bequest, legacy, devise, or transfer as a result of an irrevocable disclaimer of a bequest, legacy, devise, transfer, or power, if the disclaimer is made prior to the date prescribed for the filing of the estate tax return, or, in the case of a decedent dying on or before October 21, 1942, if the disclaimer is made prior to September 1, 1944) to or for the use of the United States, any State, Territory, any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, for exclusively public purposes, or to or for the use of any domestic corporation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, including the encouragement of art and the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private stockholder or individual, and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting, to influence legislation, and before December 2, 1947, or to a trustee or trustees, or a fraternal society, order, or association operating under the lodge system, but only if such contributions or gifts are to be used within the United States by such trustee or trustees, or by such fraternal society, order, or association, exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no substantial part of the activities of such trustee or trustees, or of such fraternal society, order, or association, is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting, to influence legislation, or to or for the use of the United Nations, but only if such bequests, legacies, devises, or transfers to or for the use of the United Nations are to be used exclusively for the acquisition of a site in the city of New York for its headquarters, and the death of the decedent occurred after December 1, 1946. Property includible in the decedent's gross estate under section 811 (f) received by a donee described in this paragraph shall, for the purposes of this paragraph, be considered a bequest of such decedent. If the tax imposed by section 860, or any estate, succession, legacy, or inheritance taxes, are, either by the terms of the will, by the law of the jurisdiction under which the estate is administered, or by the law of the jurisdiction imposing the particular tax, payable in whole or in part out of the bequests, legacies, or devises otherwise deductible under this paragraph, then the amount deductible under this paragraph shall be the amount of such bequests, legacies, or devises reduced by the amount of such taxes. The amount of the deduction under this paragraph for any transfer shall not exceed the value of the transferred property required to be included in the gross estate. For disallowance of certain charitable, etc., deductions otherwise allowable under this paragraph, see sections 3813 and 162 (g) (2).

(4) Exemption.

(c) United States bonds.

PART IV.—SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS

SUPPLEMENT A.—ASSESSMENT AND COLLECTION OF DEFICIENCIES

§ 870. Definition of deficiency.

As used in this subchapter in respect of the tax imposed by this subchapter the term "deficiency" means—

(1) The amount by which the tax imposed by this subchapter exceeds the amount shown as the tax by the executor upon his return; but the amount so shown on the return shall first be increased by the amounts previously assessed (or collected without assessment) as a deficiency, and decreased by the amounts previously abated, refunded, or otherwise repaid in respect of such tax; or

(2) If no amount is shown as the tax by the executor upon his return, or if no return is made by the executor, then the amount by which the tax exceeds the amounts previously assessed (or collected without assessment) as a deficiency; but such amounts previously assessed, or collected without assessment, shall first be decreased by the amounts previously abated, refunded, or otherwise repaid in respect of such tax. (53 Stat. 132.)

§ 871. Procedure in general—[(a) (1) Petition to The Tax Court of the United States.]¹

If the Commissioner determines that there is a deficiency in respect of the tax imposed by this subchapter, the Commissioner is authorized to send notice of such deficiency to the executor by registered mail. Within 90 days after such notice is mailed (not counting Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday in the District of Columbia as the ninetieth day), the executor may file a petition with The Tax Court of the United States for a redetermination of the deficiency. No assessment of a deficiency in respect of the tax imposed by this subchapter and no distraint or proceeding in court for its collection shall be made, begun, or prosecuted until such notice has been mailed to the executor, nor until the expiration of such 90-day period, nor, if a petition has been filed with the Tax Court, until the decision of the Tax Court has become final. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 3653 (a) the making of such assessment or the beginning of such proceeding or distraint during the time such prohibition is in force may be enjoined by a proceeding in the proper court. If the notice is addressed to an executor outside the States of the Union and the District of Columbia, the period specified in this paragraph shall be one hundred and fifty days in lieu of ninety days.

(2) Cross references.

For exceptions to the restrictions imposed by this subsection see—

Subsection (d) of this section, relating to waivers by the executor;

Section 872, relating to jeopardy assessments; and

Section 1145, relating to assessment or collection of the amount of the deficiency determined by the Tax Court pending court review.

[(b) Collection of deficiency found by Tax Court.]¹

If the executor files a petition with the Tax Court, the entire amount redetermined as the deficiency by the decision of the Tax Court which has become final shall be assessed and shall be paid upon notice and demand from the collector. No part of the amount determined as a deficiency by the Commissioner but disallowed as such by the decision of the Tax Court which has become final shall be assessed or be collected by distraint or by proceeding in court with or without assessment.

(c) Failure to file petition.

If the executor does not file a petition with the Tax Court within the time prescribed in subsection (a) the deficiency, notice of which has been mailed to the executor, shall be assessed, and shall be paid upon notice and demand from the collector.

(d) Waiver of restrictions.

The executor shall at any time have the right, by a signed notice in writing filed with the Commissioner, to waive the restrictions provided in subsection (a) on the assessment and collection of the whole or any part of the deficiency.

(e) Increase of deficiency after notice mailed.

The Tax Court shall have jurisdiction to redetermine the correct amount of the deficiency even if the amount so redetermined is greater than the amount of the deficiency, notice of which has been mailed to the executor, and to determine whether any additional amount or addition to the tax should be assessed, if claim therefor is asserted by the Commissioner at or before the hearing or a rehearing.

(f) Further deficiency letters restricted.

If the Commissioner has mailed to the executor notice of a deficiency as provided in subsection (a), and the executor files a petition with the Tax Court within the time prescribed in such subsection, the Commissioner shall have no right to determine any additional deficiency, except in the case of fraud, and except as provided in subsection (e) or section 872 (c). If the executor is notified that, on account of a mathematical error appearing upon the face of the return, an amount of tax in excess of that shown upon the return is due, and that an assessment of the tax has been or will be made on the basis of what would have been the correct amount of tax but for the mathematical error, such notice shall not be considered, for the purposes of this subsection or of subsection (a), or of section 911, as a notice of a deficiency, and the executor shall have no right to file a petition with The Tax Court of the United States based on such notice, nor shall such assessment or collection be prohibited by the provisions of subsection (a).

[(g) Final decisions of Tax Court.]¹

For the purposes of this subchapter the date on which a decision of the Tax Court becomes final shall be determined according to the provisions of section 1140.

(h) Extension of time for payment of deficiency.

Where it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that the payment of a deficiency upon the date prescribed for the payment thereof will result in undue hardship to the estate, the Commissioner, under regulations prescribed by the Commissioner, with the approval of the Secretary (except where the deficiency is due to negligence, to intentional disregard of rules and regulations, or to fraud with intent to evade tax), may grant an extension for the payment of such deficiency or any part thereof for a period not in excess of four years. If an extension is granted, the Commissioner may require the executor to furnish a bond in such amount, not exceeding double the amount of the deficiency, and with such sureties as the Commissioner deems necessary, conditioned upon the payment of the deficiency in accordance with the terms of the extension. In such case the running of the statute of limitations for assessment and collection, as provided in section 874, shall be suspended for the period of any such extension.

(i) 50 per cent addition treated as deficiency.

The 50 per centum addition to the tax provided by section 3612 (d) (2) shall, when assessed in connection with an estate tax, be assessed, collected, and paid in the same manner as if it were a deficiency, except that the provisions of section 891 shall not be applicable. SIMILAR PROVISIONS

1924—June 2, 1924, ch. 234, § 308, 43 Stat. 308.

§ 872. Jeopardy assessments—(a) Authority for making.

If the Commissioner believes that the assessment or collection of a deficiency will be jeopardized by delay, he shall immediately assess such deficiency (together with all interest, additional amounts, or additions to the tax provided for by law) and notice and demand shall be made by the collector for the payment thereof.

(b) Deficiency letters.

If the jeopardy assessment is made before any notice in respect of the tax to which the jeopardy assessment relates has been mailed under section 871 (a), then the Commissioner shall mail a notice under such subsection within 60 days after the making of the assessment.

[(c) Amount assessable before decision of Tax Court.]¹

The jeopardy assessment may be made in respect of a deficiency greater or less than that notice of which has been mailed to the executor, despite the provisions of section 871 (f) and whether or not the executor has theretofore filed a petition with The Tax Court of the United States. The Commissioner may, at any time before the decision of the Tax Court is rendered, abate such assessment, or any unpaid portion thereof, to the extent that he believes the assessment to be excessive in amount. The Commissioner shall notify the Tax Court of the amount of such assessment, or abatement, if the petition is filed with the Tax Court before the making of the assessment or is subsequently filed, and the Tax Court shall have jurisdiction to redetermine the entire amount of the deficiency and of all amounts assessed at the same time in connection therewith.

If the jeopardy assessment is made after the decision of the Tax Court is rendered such assessment may be made only in respect of the deficiency determined by the Tax Court in its decision.

(e) Expiration of right to assess.

A jeopardy assessment may not be made after the decision of the Tax Court has become final or after the executor has filed a petition for review of the decision of the Tax Court.

(f) Bond to stay collection.

When a jeopardy assessment has been made the executor, within 30 days after notice and demand from the collector for the payment of the amount of the assessment, may obtain a stay of collection of the whole or any part of the amount of the assessment by filing with the collector a bond in such amount, not exceeding double the amount as to which the stay is desired, and with such sureties, as the collector deems necessary, conditioned upon the payment of so much of the amount, the collection of which is stayed by the bond, as is not abated by a decision of the Tax Court which has become final, together with interest thereon as provided in section 892 or 893 (b) (4). If any portion of the jeopardy assessment is abated by the Commissioner before the decision of the Tax Court is rendered, the bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced.

(g) Same—further conditions.

If the bond is given before the executor has filed his petition with the Tax Court under subsection (a) of section 871, the bond shall contain a further condition that if a petition is not filed within the period provided in such subsection, then the amount the collection of which is stayed by the bond will be paid on notice and demand at any time after the expiration of such period, together with interest thereon at the rate of 6 per centum per annum from the date of the jeopardy notice and demand to the date of notice and demand under this subsection.

(h) Waiver of stay.

Upon the filing of the bond the collection of so much of the amount assessed as is covered by the bond shall be stayed. The executor shall have the right to waive such stay at any time in respect of the whole or any part of the amount covered by the bond, and if as a result of such waiver any part of the amount covered by the bond is paid, then the bond shall, at the request of the executor, be proportionately reduced. If the Tax Court determines that the amount assessed is greater than the amount which should have been assessed, then when the decision of the Tax Court is rendered the bond shall, at the request of the executor, be proportionately reduced.

(i) Collection of unpaid amounts.

When the petition has been filed with the Tax Court and when the amount which should have been assessed has been determined by a decision of the Tax Court which has become final, then any unpaid portion, the collection of which has been stayed by the bond, shall be collected as part of the tax upon notice and demand from the collector, and any remaining portion of the assessment shall be abated. If the amount already collected exceeds the amount determined as the amount which should have been assessed, such excess shall be refunded. If the amount determined as the amount which should have been assessed is greater than the amount actually assessed, then the difference shall be assessed and shall be collected as part of the tax upon notice and demand from the collector. § 936. Credits against tax.

(a) The credit provided in section 813 (b) (80 per centum credit), shall not be allowed in respect of such additional tax.

(b) (1) If a tax has been paid under chapter 4 or under Title III of the Revenue Act of 1932, 47 Stat. 245, on a gift, and thereafter upon the death of the donor any amount in respect of such gift is required to be included in the value of the gross estate of the decedent for the purposes of this subchapter, then there shall be credited against the tax imposed by section 935 the amount of the tax paid under chapter 4 or under Title III of the Revenue Act of 1932 with respect to so much of the property which constituted the gift as is included in the gross estate, except that the amount of such credit (A) shall not exceed an amount which bears the same ratio to the tax imposed by section 935 as the value (at the time of the gift or at the time of the death, whichever is lower) of so much of the property which constituted the gift as is included in the gross estate, bears to the value of the entire gross estate reduced by the aggregate amount of the deductions allowed under subsections (d) and (e) of section 812, and (B) shall not exceed the amount by which the gift tax paid under chapter 4 or under Title III of the Revenue Act of 1932 with respect to so much of the property as constituted the gift as is included in the gross estate, exceeds the amount of the credit under section 813 (a) (2).

(2) In applying, with respect to any gift, the ratio stated in clause (A) of paragraph (1), the value at the time of the gift or at the time of the death, referred to in such ratio, shall be reduced—

(A) by such amount as will properly reflect the amount of such gift which was excluded in determining (for the purposes of section 1003 (a), or of section 504 (a) of the Revenue Act of 1932) the total amount of gifts made during the year in which the gift was made;

(B) if a deduction with respect to such gift is allowed under section 812 (e) (the so-called "marital deduction")—then by an amount which bears the same ratio to such value (reduced as provided in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph) as the aggregate amount of the marital deductions allowed under section 812 (e) bears to the aggregate amount of such marital deductions computed without regard to subparagraph (H) of section 812 (e) (1); and

(C) if a deduction with respect to such gift is allowed under section 812 (d) (the so-called "charitable deduction")—then by the amount of such value, reduced as provided in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph.

(3) Where the decedent was the donor of the gift but, under the provisions of section 1000 (f), the gift was considered as made one-half by his spouse—

(A) the term "the amount of the tax paid under chapter 4", as used in paragraph (1) of this subsection, includes the amounts paid with respect to each half of such gift, the amount paid with respect to each being computed in the manner provided in paragraph (4); and

(B) in applying, with respect to such gift, the ratio stated in clause (A) of paragraph (1), the value at the time of the gift or at the time of the death, referred to in such ratio, includes such value with respect to each half of such gift, each such value being reduced as provided in subparagraph (A) of paragraph (2).

(4) (A) For the purposes of paragraph (1), the amount of tax paid under chapter 4, or under Title III of the Revenue Act of 1932, with respect to any gift shall be an amount which bears the same ratio to the total tax paid for the year in which the gift was made as the amount of such gift bears to the total amount of net gifts (computed without deduction of the specific exemption) for such year.

(B) For the purposes of subparagraph (A) the "amount of such gift" shall be the amount included with respect to such gift in determining (for the purposes of section 1003 (a), or of section 504 (a) of the Revenue Act of 1932) the total amount of gifts made during such year, reduced by the amount of any deduction allowed with respect to such gift under section 1004 (a) (2), or under section 505 (a) (2) of the Revenue Act of 1932 (the so-called "charitable deduction"), or under section 1004 (a) (3) (the so-called "marital deduction").

(c) Estate, etc., taxes paid to foreign countries.

(1) In general.

In the case of the estate of a citizen or resident of the United States, the tax imposed by section 935 shall be credited with the amount of any estate, inheritance, legacy, or succession taxes actually paid to any foreign country in respect of any property situated within such foreign country and included in the gross estate (not including any such taxes paid with respect to the estate of a person other than the decedent). If the decedent at the time of his death was not a citizen of the United States, credit shall not be allowed under this subsection unless the foreign country of which such decedent was a citizen or subject, in imposing such taxes, allows a similar credit in the case of a citizen of the United States resident in such country. The determination of the country within which property is situated shall be made in accordance with the rules applicable under Part III of subchapter A in determining whether property is situated within or without the United States.

(2) Limitations on credit.

The credit provided in this subsection with respect to such taxes paid to any foreign country—

(A) shall not exceed the amount by which such taxes paid to the foreign country exceed the amount of the credit allowed therefor under section 813 (c); and

(B) shall not exceed an amount which bears the same ratio to the tax imposed by section 935 (after deducting from such tax the credit provided by subsection (b) of this section) as the value of property which is—

- (i) situated within such foreign country,
- (ii) subjected to the taxes of such foreign country, and
- (iii) included in the gross estate

bears to the value of the entire gross estate reduced by the aggregate amount of the deductions allowed under subsections (c), (d), and (e) of section 812.

(3) Same—Special rules.

(A) For the purposes of paragraph (2) (A), "such taxes paid to the foreign country" shall, with respect to any tax paid to the foreign country, be the amount computed under section 813 (c) (2) (A).

(B) The values referred to in the ratio stated in paragraph (2) (B) are the values determined under this chapter; but, in applying such ratio, the value of any property described in clauses (i), (ii), and (iii) thereof shall be reduced by such amount as will properly reflect, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary, the deductions allowed in respect of such property under subsections (c), (d), and (e) of section 812.

(4) Proof of credit.

For provisions relating to proof of credit, see section 813 (c) (4).

(5) Period of limitation.

§ 1000. Imposition of tax.

(a) [Transfers subject to tax; certain gifts not affected].¹

For the calendar year 1940 and each calendar year thereafter a tax, computed as provided in section 1001, shall be imposed upon the transfer during such calendar year by any individual, resident or nonresident, of property by gift. Gift taxes for the calendar years 1932—1939, inclusive, shall not be affected by the provisions of this chapter, but shall remain subject to the applicable provisions of the Revenue Act of 1932, except as such provisions are modified by legislation enacted subsequent to the Revenue Act of 1932.

(b) [Method of transfer, nonresident transfers].¹

The tax shall apply whether the transfer is in trust or otherwise, whether the gift is direct or indirect, and whether the property is real or personal, tangible or intangible; but, in the case of a nonresident not a citizen of the United States, shall apply to a transfer only if the property is situated within the United States. In the case of such a nonresident who is not engaged in business in the United States at the time of a transfer of obligations issued by the United States, the tax shall apply in respect of any such obligations only if issued on or after March 1, 1941.

(c) Powers of appointment.

(1) Exercise of general power of appointment created on or before October 21, 1942.

An exercise of a general power of appointment created on or before October 21, 1942, shall be deemed a transfer of property by the individual possessing such power; but the failure to exercise such a power or the complete release of such a power shall not be deemed an exercise thereof.

If before November 1, 1951, or within the time limited by paragraph (2) of section 452 (b) of the Revenue Act of 1942, as amended, in cases to which such paragraph is applicable, a general power of appointment created on or before October 21, 1942, shall have been partially released so that it is no longer a general power of appointment, the subsequent exercise of such power shall not be deemed to be the exercise of a general power of appointment.

(2) Powers created after October 21, 1942.

The exercise of a general power of appointment created after October 21, 1942, or the release after May 31, 1951, of such a power, shall be deemed a transfer of property by the individual possessing such power. A disclaimer or renunciation of such a power of appointment shall not be deemed a release of such power.

(3) Definition of general power of appointment.

For the purposes of this subsection the term "general power of appointment" means a power which is exercisable in favor of the individual possessing the power (hereafter in this paragraph referred to as the "possessor"), his estate, his creditors, or the creditors of his estate; except that—

(A) A power to consume, invade, or appropriate property for the benefit of the possessor which is limited by an ascertainable standard relating to the health, education, support, or maintenance of the possessor shall not be deemed a general power of appointment.

(B) A power of appointment created on or before October 21, 1942, which is exercisable by the possessor only in conjunction with another person shall not be deemed a general power of appointment.

(C) In the case of a power of appointment created after October 21, 1942, which is exercisable by the possessor only in conjunction with another person—

(i) if the power is not exercisable by the possessor except in conjunction with the creator of the power—such power shall not be deemed a general power of appointment;

(ii) if the power is not exercisable by the possessor except in conjunction with a person having a substantial interest, in the property subject to the power, which is adverse to exercise of the power in favor of the possessor—such power shall not be deemed a general power of appointment. For the purposes of this clause a person who, after the death of the possessor, may be possessed of a power of appointment (with respect to the property subject to the possessor's power) which he may exercise in his own favor shall be deemed as having an interest in the property and such interest shall be deemed adverse to such exercise of the possessor's power;

(iii) if (after the application of clauses (i) and (ii)) the power is a general power of appointment and is exercisable in favor of such other person—such power shall be deemed a general power of appointment only in respect of a fractional part of the property subject to such power, such part to be determined by dividing the value of such property by the number of such persons (including the possessor) in favor of whom such power is exercisable.

For the purposes of clauses (ii) and (iii) a power shall be deemed to be exercisable in favor of a person if it is exercisable in favor of such person, his estate, his creditors, or the creditors of his estate.

(4) Creation of another power in certain cases.

If a power of appointment created after October 21, 1942, is exercised by creating another power of appointment which under the applicable local law can be validly exercised so as to postpone the vesting of any estate or interest in the property which was subject to the first power, or suspend the absolute ownership or power of alienation of such property, for a period ascertainable without regard to the date of the creation of the first power, such exercise of the first power shall, to the extent of the property subject to the second power, be deemed a transfer of property by the individual possessing such power.

(5) Lapse of power.

The lapse of a power of appointment created after October 21, 1942, during the life of the individual possessing the power shall be considered a release of such power. The rule of the preceding sentence shall apply with respect to the lapse of powers during any calendar year only to the extent that the property which could have been appointed by exercise of such lapsed powers exceeds in value the greater of the following amounts:

(A) $5,000, or

(B) 5 per centum of the aggregate value of the assets out of which, or the proceeds of which, the exercise of the lapsed powers could be satisfied.

(d) Community property.

All gifts of property held as community property under the law of any State, Territory, or possession of the United States, or any foreign country shall be considered to be the gifts of the husband except that gifts of such property as may be shown to have been received as compensation for personal services actually rendered by the wife or derived originally from such compensation or from separate property of the wife shall be considered to be gifts of the wife. This subsection shall be applicable only to gifts made after the calendar year 1942 and on or before the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1948.

(e) Certain discretionary trusts.

In the case of property in a trust created prior to January 1, 1939, if on and after January 1, 1939, no power to revest title to such property in the grantor could be exercised either by the grantor alone, or by the grantor in conjunction with any other person not having a substantial adverse interest in the disposition of such property or the income therefrom, then a relinquishment by the grantor on or after January 1, 1940, and on or before December 31, 1947 (or on a later date in any case where it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner, in accordance with regulations prescribed by him with the approval of the Secretary, that failure to relinquish prior to such later date was for reasonable cause) of power or control with respect to the distribution of such property or the income therefrom by an exercise or other termination of such power or control shall not be deemed a transfer of property for the purposes of this chapter. If such property was transferred in trust, the grantor not retaining such power to re-vest title thereto in himself, or if such power to re-vest title to such property in the grantor was relinquished, while a law was in effect imposing a tax upon the transfer of property by gift, this subsection shall apply only if (1) gift tax was paid with respect to such transfer or relinquishment, and not credited or refunded, or a gift tax return was made within the time prescribed on account of such transfer or relinquishment but no gift tax was paid with respect to such transfer or relinquishment because of the deductions and exclusions claimed on such return, and (2) the grantor consents, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary, for all purposes of this chapter to treat such transfer or relinquishment in the calendar year in which effected, and for all periods thereafter, as having been a transfer of property subject to tax under this chapter. This subsection shall not apply to any payment or other disposition of income occurring prior to the termination of power or control with respect to the future disposition of income from the trust property.

(f) Gift of husband or wife to third party.

(1) Considered as made one-half by each.

(A) In general.

A gift made after the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1948 by one spouse to any person other than his spouse shall, for the purposes of this chapter, be considered as made one-half by him and one-half by his spouse, but only if at the time of the gift each spouse is a citizen or resident of the United States. This subparagraph shall not apply with respect to a gift by a spouse of an interest in property if he creates in his spouse a power of appointment, as defined in subsection (c) of this section, over such interest. For the purposes of this subsection an individual shall be considered as the spouse of another individual only if he is married to such individual at the time of the gift and does not remarry during the remainder of the calendar year.

(B) Consent of both spouses.

Subparagraph (A) shall be applicable only if both spouses have signified (in accordance with the regulations provided for in paragraph (2)) their consent to the application of subparagraph (A) in the case of all such gifts made during the calendar year by either while married to the other.

(2) Manner and time of signifying consent.

(A) Manner.

A consent under this subsection shall be signified in such manner as is provided under regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary.

(B) Time.

Such consent may be so signified at any time after the close of the calendar year in which the gift was made, subject to the following limitations—

(i) the consent may not be signified after the 15th day of March following the close of such year, unless before such 15th day no return has been filed for such year by either spouse, in which case the consent may not be signified after a return for such year is filed by either spouse;

(ii) the consent may not be signified after a notice of deficiency with respect to the tax for such year has been sent to either spouse in accordance with section 1012 (a).

(3) Revocation of consent.

Revocation of a consent previously signified shall be made in such manner as is provided under regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary, but the right to revoke a consent previously signified with respect to a calendar year—

(A) shall not exist after the 15th day of March following the close of such year if the consent was signified on or before such 15th day; and

(B) shall not exist if the consent was not signified until after such 15th day.

(4) Joint and several liability for tax.

If the consent required by paragraph (1) (B) is signified with respect to a gift made in any calendar year the liability with respect to the entire tax imposed by this chapter of each spouse for such year shall be joint and several.

(g) Certain reciprocal trusts.

In the case of property in a trust created prior to January 1, 1940, if and to the extent that such property may be deemed to have been transferred to such trust by a person other than the nominal grantor of such property (by reason of the fact that such person has made a reciprocal transfer of property in trust), then a relinquishment by such person on or before December 31, 1950, of any power over such property or over the income therefrom shall not be deemed a transfer of property for the purposes of this chapter. In the event of such relinquishment, the reciprocal transfer made by the person relinquishing such power shall be deemed, for the purposes of this chapter, to have been a completed gift at the time such reciprocal transfer was made. This subsection shall apply only if, at the time such person made the aforesaid reciprocal transfer of property, a law was in effect imposing a tax upon the transfer of property by gift and a gift tax was paid with respect to such reciprocal transfer, and not credited or refunded. (D) posts or organizations of war veterans, or auxiliary units or societies of any such posts or organizations, if such posts, organizations, units, or societies are organized in the United States or any of its possessions, and if no part of their net earnings inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual;

(E) the special fund for vocational rehabilitation authorized by section 12 of the World War Veterans' Act, 1924, 43 Stat. 611 (U. S. C., title 38, § 440);

(F) the United Nations, but only if such gifts (i) are to be used exclusively for the acquisition of a site in the city of New York for its headquarters, and (ii) are made after December 1, 1946, and before December 2, 1947.

(3) Gift to spouse.(A) In general.

Where the donor transfers during the calendar year (and after the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1948) by gift an interest in property to a donee who at the time of the gift is the donor's spouse—an amount with respect to such interest equal to one-half of its value.

(B) Life estate or other terminable interest.

Where, upon the lapse of time, upon the occurrence of an event or contingency, or upon the failure of an event or contingency to occur, such interest transferred to the spouse will terminate or fail, no deduction shall be allowed with respect to such interest—

(i) if the donor retains in himself, or transfers or has transferred (for less than an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth) to any person other than such donee spouse (or the estate of such spouse), an interest in such property, and if by reason of such retention or transfer the donor (or his heirs or assigns) or such person (or his heirs or assigns) may possess or enjoy any part of such property after such termination or failure of the interest transferred to the donee spouse; or

(ii) if the donor immediately after the transfer to the donee spouse has a power to appoint an interest in such property which he can exercise (either alone or in conjunction with any person) in such manner that the appointee may possess or enjoy any part of such property after such termination or failure of the interest transferred to the donee spouse. For the purposes of this clause the donor shall be considered as having immediately after the transfer to the donee spouse such power to appoint even though such power cannot be exercised until after the lapse of time, upon the occurrence of an event or contingency, or upon the failure of an event or contingency to occur.

An exercise or release at any time by the donor, either alone or in conjunction with any person, of a power to appoint an interest in property, even though not otherwise a transfer, shall, for the purposes of clause (i) of this subparagraph, be considered as a transfer by him. Except as provided in subparagraph (E), where at the time of the transfer it is impossible to ascertain the particular person or persons who may receive from the donor an interest in property so transferred by him, such interest shall, for the purposes of clause (i) of this subparagraph, be considered as transferred to a person other than the donee spouse.

(C) [Reduction of certain interests]¹

Where the assets out of which, or the proceeds of which, the interest transferred to the donee spouse may be satisfied include a particular asset or assets with respect to which no deduction would be allowed if such asset or assets were transferred from the donor to such spouse, then the value of the interest transferred to such spouse shall, for the purposes of subparagraph (A), be reduced by the aggregate value of such particular assets.

(D) Joint interests.

If the interest is transferred to the donee spouse as sole joint tenant with the donor or as tenant by the entirety, the interest of the donor in the property which exists solely by reason of the possibility that the donor may survive the donee spouse, or that there may occur a severance of the tenancy, shall not be considered for the purposes of subparagraph (B) as an interest retained by the donor in himself.

(E) Trust with power of appointment in donee spouse.

Where the donor transfers in trust an interest in property, if under the terms of the trust his spouse is entitled for life to all the income from the corpus of the trust, payable annually or at more frequent intervals, with power in the donee spouse to appoint the entire corpus free of the trust (exercisable in favor of such donee spouse, or of the estate of such donee spouse, or in favor of either, whether or not in each case the power is exercisable in favor of others), and with no power in any other person to appoint any part of the corpus to any person other than the donee spouse—

(i) the interest so transferred in trust shall for the purposes of subparagraph (A), be considered as transferred to the donee spouse, and

(ii) no part of the interest so transferred in trust shall, for the purposes of subparagraph (B) (i), be considered as retained in the donor or transferred to any person other than the donee spouse.

This subparagraph shall be applicable only if, under the terms of the trust, such power in the donee spouse to appoint the corpus, whether exercisable by will or during life, is exercisable by such spouse alone and in all events.

(F) Community property.

(i) A deduction otherwise allowable under this paragraph shall be allowed only to the extent that the transfer can be shown to represent a gift of property which is not, at the time of the gift, held as community property under the law of any State, Territory, or possession of the United States, or of any foreign country.

(ii) For the purposes of clause (i), community property (except property which is considered as community property solely by reason of the provisions of clause (iii)) shall not be considered as "held as community property" if the entire value of such property (and not merely one-half thereof) is treated as the amount of the gift.

(iii) If during the calendar year 1942 or after the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1948, property held as such community property (unless considered by reason of clause (ii) as not so held) was by the donor and the donee spouse converted, by one transaction or a series of transactions, into separate property of the donor and such spouse (including any form of co-ownership by them), the separate property so acquired by the donor and any property acquired at any time by the donor in exchange therefor (by one exchange or a series of exchanges) shall, for the purposes of clause (i), be considered as "held as community property".

(iv) Where the value (at the time of such conversion) of the separate property so acquired by the donor exceeded the value (at such time) of the separate property so acquired by such spouse, the rule in clause (iii) shall be applied only with respect to the same portion of such separate property of the donor as the portion which the value (as of such time) of such separate property so acquired by such spouse is of the value (as of such time) of the separate property so acquired by the donor.

(b) Nonresidents.

In the case of a nonresident not a citizen of the United States, the amount of all gifts made during such year to or for the use of—

(1) the United States, any State, Territory, or any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, for exclusively public purposes;

(2) a domestic corporation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, including the encouragement of art and the prevention of cruelty to children or animals; no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting, to influence legislation;

(3) a trust, or community chest, fund, or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, including the encouragement of art and the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting, to influence legislation; but only if such gifts are to be used within the United States exclusively for such purposes;

(4) a fraternal society, order, or association, operating under the lodge system, but only if such gifts are to be used within the United States exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, including the encouragement of art and the prevention of cruelty to children or animals;

(5) posts or organizations of war veterans, or auxiliary units or societies of any such posts or organizations, if such posts, organizations, units, or societies are organized in the United States or any of its possessions, and if no part of their net earnings inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual;

(6) the special fund for vocational rehabilitation authorized by section 12 of the World War Veterans' Act, 1924, 43 Stat. 611 (U. S. C., title 38, § 440);

(7) the United Nations, but only if such gifts (A) are to be used exclusively for the acquisition of a site in the city of New York for its headquarters, and (B) are made after December 1, 1946, and before December 2, 1947.

For disallowance of certain charitable, etc., deductions otherwise allowable under paragraphs (2) and (3), see sections 3813 and 162 (g) (2).

(c) Extent of deductions.

The deductions provided in subsection (a) (2) or (3) or in subsection (b) shall be allowed only to the extent that the gifts therein specified are included in the amount of gifts against which such deductions are applied. § 1011. Definition of deficiency.

As used in this chapter in respect of the tax imposed by this chapter the term "deficiency" means—

(1) The amount by which the tax imposed by this chapter exceeds the amount shown as the tax by the donor upon his return; but the amount so shown on the return shall first be increased by the amounts previously assessed (or collected without assessment) as a deficiency, and decreased by the amounts previously abated, refunded, or otherwise repaid in respect of such tax; or

(2) If no amount is shown as the tax by the donor upon his return, or if no return is made by the donor, then the amount by which the tax exceeds the amounts previously assessed (or collected without assessment) as a deficiency; but such amounts previously assessed, or collected without assessment, shall first be decreased by the amounts previously abated, refunded, or otherwise repaid in respect of such tax. (53 Stat. 149.)

DERIVATION

Act June 6, 1932, ch. 209, § 512, 47 Stat. 250.

§ 1012. Assessment and collection of deficiencies— [(a) (1) Petition to The Tax Court of the United States.]¹

If the Commissioner determines that there is a deficiency in respect of the tax imposed by this chapter, the Commissioner is authorized to send notice of such deficiency to the donor by registered mail. Within 90 days after such notice is mailed (not counting Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday in the District of Columbia as the ninetieth day), the donor may file a petition with The Tax Court of the United States for a redetermination of the deficiency. No assessment of a deficiency in respect of the tax imposed by this chapter and no distraint or proceeding in court for its collection shall be made, begun, or prosecuted until such notice has been mailed to the donor, nor until the expiration of such 90-day period, nor, if a petition has been filed with the Tax Court, until the decision of the Tax Court has become final. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 3653 (a) the making of such assessment or the beginning of such proceeding or distraint during the time such prohibition is in force may be enjoined by a proceeding in the proper court. If the notice is addressed to a donor outside the States of the Union and the District of Columbia, the period specified in this paragraph shall be one hundred and fifty days in lieu of ninety days.

(2) Cross references.

For exceptions to the restrictions imposed by this subsection see—

Subsection (d) of this section, relating to waivers by the donor;

Subsection (f) of this section, relating to notifications of mathematical errors appearing upon the face of the return;

Section 1013, relating to jeopardy assessments;

Section 1015, relating to bankruptcy and receiverships; and

Section 1145, relating to assessment or collection of the amount of the deficiency determined by the Tax Court pending court review.

[(b) Collection of deficiency found by Tax Court.]¹

If the donor files a petition with the Tax Court, the entire amount redetermined as the deficiency by the decision of the Tax Court which has become final shall be assessed and shall be paid upon notice and demand from the collector. No part of the amount determined as a deficiency by the Commissioner but disallowed as such by the decision of the Tax Court which has become final shall be assessed or be collected by distraint or by proceeding in court with or without assessment.

(c) Failure to file petition.

If the donor does not file a petition with the Tax Court within the time prescribed in subsection (a) the deficiency, notice of which has been mailed to the donor, shall be assessed, and shall be paid upon notice and demand from the collector.

(d) Waiver of restrictions.

The donor shall at any time have the right, by a signed notice in writing filed with the Commissioner, to waive the restrictions provided in subsection (a) on the assessment and collection of the whole or any part of the deficiency.

(e) Increase of deficiency after notice mailed.

The Tax Court shall have jurisdiction to redetermine the correct amount of the deficiency even if the amount so redetermined is greater than the amount of the deficiency, notice of which has been mailed to the donor, and to determine whether any additional amount or addition to the tax should be assessed, if claim therefor is asserted by the Commissioner at or before the hearing or a rehearing.

(f) Further deficiency letters restricted.

If the Commissioner has mailed to the donor notice of a deficiency as provided in subsection (a) of this section, and the donor files a petition with the Tax Court within the time prescribed in such subsection, the Commissioner shall have no right to determine any additional deficiency in respect of the same calendar year, except in the case of fraud, and except as provided in subsection (e) of this section, relating to assertion of greater deficiencies before the Tax Court, or in section 1013 (c), relating to the making of jeopardy assessments. If the donor is notified that, on account of a mathematical error appearing upon the face of the return, an amount of tax in excess of that shown upon the return is due, and that an assessment of the tax has been or will be made on the basis of what would have been the correct amount of tax but for the mathematical error, such notice shall not be considered (for the purposes of this subsection, or of subsection (a) of this section, prohibiting assessment and collection until notice of deficiency has been mailed, or of section 1027 (c), prohibiting credits or refunds after petition to The Tax Court of the United States) as a notice of a deficiency, and the donor shall have no right to file a petition with the Tax Court based on such notice, nor shall such assessment or collection be prohibited by the provisions of subsection (a) of this section.

(g) Jurisdiction over other calendar years.

The Tax Court in redetermining a deficiency in respect of any calendar year shall consider such facts with relation to the taxes for other calendar years as may be necessary correctly to redetermine the amount of such deficiency, but in so doing shall have no jurisdiction to determine whether or not the tax for any other calendar year has been overpaid or underpaid.

[(h) Final decisions of Tax Court.]¹

For the purposes of this chapter the date on which a decision of the Tax Court becomes final shall be determined according to the provisions of section 1140.

(i) Extension of time for payment of deficiencies.

Where it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that the payment of a deficiency upon the date prescribed for the payment thereof will result in undue hardship to the donor the Commissioner, under regulations prescribed by the Commissioner, with the approval of the Secretary (except where the deficiency is due to negligence, to intentional disregard of rules and regulations, or to fraud with intent to evade tax), may grant an extension for the payment of such deficiency or any part thereof for a period not in excess of eighteen months, and, in exceptional cases, for a further period not in excess of twelve months. If an extension is granted, the Commissioner may require the donor to furnish a bond in such amount, not exceeding double the amount of the deficiency, and with such sureties, as the Commissioner deems necessary, conditioned upon the payment of the deficiency in accordance with the terms of the extension.

(j) Address for notice of deficiency.

In the absence of notice to the Commissioner under section 1026 (a) of the existence of a fiduciary relationship, notice of a deficiency in respect of a tax imposed by this chapter, if mailed to the donor at his last known address, shall be sufficient for the purposes of this chapter even if such donor is deceased, or is under a legal disability. (53 Stat. 149; Oct. 21, 1942, 4:30 p. m., E. W. ABOLITION OF EXISTING OFFICES AND CREATION OF NEW OFFICES

The office of Collector, provided for in section 3941 of this title, was abolished, effective at such time as the Secretary of the Treasury shall specify but in no event later than Dec. 1, 1952, and the winding up of the affairs of said officer was made subject to such provisions as said Secretary deems necessary, by 1952 Reorg. Plan No. 1, § 1, eff. Mar. 14, 1952, 17 F. R. 2243, 66 Stat. 823, set out as a note under section 3905 of this title; and the offices of "district commissioner of internal revenue", not exceeding twenty-five, and so many other offices, with titles to be determined by the Secretary of the Treasury, not exceeding seventy, were established by section 2 (a) of said Plan.

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

All functions of all officers of the Department of the Treasury, and all functions of all agencies and employees of such Department, were transferred, with certain exceptions, to the Secretary of the Treasury, with power vested in him to authorize their performance or the performance of any of his functions, by any of such officers, agencies, and employees, by 1950 Reorg. Plan No. 26, §§ 1, 2, eff. July 31, 1950, 15 F. R. 4935, 64 Stat. 1280, set out in note under section 241 of Title 5, Executive Departments and Government Officers and Employees. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue and the Collector, referred to in this section, are officials of the Treasury Department.

§ 1013. Jeopardy assessments—(a) Authority for making.

If the Commissioner believes that the assessment or collection of a deficiency will be jeopardized by delay, he shall immediately assess such deficiency (together with all interest, additional amounts, or additions to the tax provided for by law) and notice and demand shall be made by the collector for the payment thereof.

(b) Deficiency letters.

If the jeopardy assessment is made before any notice in respect of the tax to which the jeopardy assessment relates has been mailed under section 1012 (a), then the Commissioner shall mail a notice under such subsection within 60 days after the making of the assessment.

[(c) Amount assessable before decision of Tax Court.]¹

The jeopardy assessment may be made in respect of a deficiency greater or less than that notice of which has been mailed to the donor, despite the provisions of section 1012 (f) prohibiting the determination of additional deficiencies, and whether or not the donor has theretofore filed a petition with The Tax Court of the United States. The Commissioner may, at any time before the decision of the Tax Court is rendered, abate such assessment, or any unpaid portion thereof, to the extent that he believes the assessment to be excessive in amount. The Commissioner shall notify the Tax Court of the amount of such assessment, or abatement, if the petition is filed with the Tax Court before the making of the assessment or is subsequently filed, and the Tax Court shall have jurisdiction to redetermine the entire amount of the deficiency and of all amounts assessed at the same time in connection therewith.

[(d) Amount assessable after decision of Tax Court.]¹

If the jeopardy assessment is made after the decision of the Tax Court is rendered such assessment may be made only in respect of the deficiency determined by the Tax Court in its decision.

(e) Expiration of right to assess.

A jeopardy assessment may not be made after the decision of the Tax Court has become final or after the donor has filed a petition for review of the decision of the Tax Court.

(f) Bond to stay collection.

When a jeopardy assessment has been made the donor, within 10 days after notice and demand from the collector for the payment of the amount of the assessment, may obtain a stay of collection of the whole or any part of the amount of the assessment by filing with the collector a bond in such amount, not exceeding double the amount as to which the stay is desired, and with such sureties, as the collector deems necessary, conditioned upon the payment of so much of the amount, the collection of which is stayed by the bond, as is not abated by a decision of the Tax Court which has become final, together with interest thereon as provided in section 1022 or 1023 (b) (4). If any portion of the jeopardy assessment is abated by the Commissioner before the decision of the Tax Court is rendered, the bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced.

(g) Same—Further conditions.

If the bond is given before the donor has filed his petition with the Tax Court under section 1012 (a), the bond shall contain a further condition that if a petition is not filed within the period provided in such subsection, then the amount the collection of which is stayed by the bond will be paid on notice and demand at any time after the expiration of such period, together with interest thereon at the rate of 6 per centum per annum from the date of the jeopardy notice and demand to the date of notice and demand under this subsection.

(h) Waiver of stay.

Upon the filing of the bond the collection of so much of the amount assessed as is covered by the bond shall be stayed. The donor shall have the right to waive such stay at any time in respect of the whole or any part of the amount covered by the bond, and if as a result of such waiver any part of the amount covered by the bond is paid, then the bond shall, at the request of the donor, be proportionately reduced. If the Tax Court determines that the amount assessed is greater than the amount which should have been assessed, then when the decision of the Tax Court is rendered the bond shall, at the request of the donor, be proportionately reduced.

(i) Collection of unpaid amounts.

When the petition has been filed with the Tax Court and when the amount which should have been assessed has been determined by a decision of the Tax Court which has become final, then any unpaid portion, the collection of which has been stayed by the bond, shall be collected as part of the tax upon notice and demand from the collector, and any remaining portion of the assessment shall be abated. If the amount already collected exceeds the amount determined as the amount which should have been assessed, such excess shall be credited or refunded as provided in section 1027, without the filing of claim therefor. If the amount determined as the amount which should have been assessed is greater than the amount actually assessed, then the difference shall be assessed and shall be collected as part of the tax upon notice and demand from the collector. Claims for the deficiency and such interest, additional amounts and additions to the tax may be presented, for adjudication in accordance with law, to the court before which the bankruptcy or receivership proceeding is pending, despite the pendency of proceedings for the redetermination of the deficiency in pursuance of a petition to the Tax Court; but no petition for any such redetermination shall be filed with the Tax Court after the adjudication of bankruptcy or the appointment of the receiver.

(b) Unpaid claims.

Any portion of the claim allowed in such bankruptcy or receivership proceeding which is unpaid shall be paid by the donor upon notice and demand from the collector after the termination of such proceeding, and may be collected by distraint or proceeding in court within six years after termination of such proceeding. INTRODUCTION

These revised Rules are promulgated pursuant to authority of section 1111 of this title, which provides that "The proceedings of the [Court] and its divisions shall be conducted in accordance with such rules of practice and procedure (other than rules of evidence) as the [Court] may prescribe and in accordance with the rules of evidence applicable in the courts of the District of Columbia in the type of proceedings which prior to September 16, 1938, were within the jurisdiction of the courts of equity of said District."

Congress in the revenue acts has enacted provisions relating to the organization, jurisdiction, and procedure of The Tax Court of the United States, and to the action of the Bureau of Internal Revenue with respect to the assessment and collection of deficiencies when a petition has been filed with the Court. Reference is made to those statutory provisions in the revenue acts for procedural requirements other than those relating to the conduct of proceedings before the Court and its division to which these Rules of Practice are limited. Attention is called to the Internal Revenue Code for convenient reference, and particularly to sections 271, 272, 273, 1100, 1142 as amended, of this title, and section 504 of Revenue Act of 1942.

CHANGE OF NAME

For change of name of Board and title of members thereof, see note under section 1100 of this title.

Rule 1. Business hours—Time.

The office of the Clerk of the Court at Washington, D. C., shall be open during business hours on all days, except Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays, for the purpose of receiving petitions, pleadings, motions, and the like. "Business hours" are from 8:45 o'clock a. m. to 5:15 o'clock p. m.

Time, as provided in this and other rules and in orders and notices of the Court, means standard time in the city mentioned except when advanced time is substituted therefor by law. (See Rule 61.)

NEW OFFICE HOURS

10 F. R. 11815, Sept. 14, 1945, provided:

"Commencing September 2, 1945, the office hours of the Court will be from 8:45 a. m., to 5:15 p. m., Mondays through Fridays, inclusive.

"Until further notice, the Court will not have a 'business day' on any Saturdays, beginning with September 15, 1945."

Rule 2. Admission to practice.

An applicant who establishes to the satisfaction of the Court that he or she is a citizen of the United States, of good moral character and repute, and possessed of the requisite qualifications to represent others in the preparation and trial of cases, may be admitted to practice before the Court subject to the specific requirements stated hereafter in this Rule.

Each application must be on the form provided by the Court. Application forms and other necessary information will be furnished upon request addressed to the Enrollment Clerk of this Court, Box 70, Washington 4, D. C.

An attorney-at-law may be admitted to practice upon filing with the Enrollment Clerk a completed application accompanied by a current certificate from the Clerk of the appropriate court, showing that the applicant has been admitted to practice before and is a member in good standing of the Bar of the Supreme Court of the United States, or of the highest court of any State, or Territory, or of the District of Columbia.

An applicant, not an attorney-at-law, as a condition of being admitted to practice, must pass a written examination given by the Court and the Court may require such person in addition, to take an oral examination. Any person who has thrice failed such examinations shall not thereafter be eligible to take another examination for admission.

An applicant for admission by examination must be sponsored by at least three persons theretofore enrolled to practice before this Court, and each sponsor must send a letter of recommendation directly to the Enrollment Clerk of the Court where it will be treated as a confidential communication. The sponsor shall send in his letter promptly, stating therein fully and frankly the extent of his acquaintance with the applicant, his opinion of the moral character and repute of the applicant, and his opinion of the qualifications of the applicant to practice before this Court. The Court may in its discretion accept an applicant with less than three such sponsors.

The Court will hold an examination for applicants at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the second Wednesday in September of each year, and at such other times and places as it may designate. The Court will notify each applicant, whose application is in order, of the time and place at which he is to present himself for examination, and the applicant must present that notice to the examiner as his authority for taking an examination. An applicant seeking to qualify by examination must accompany his application with a fee of $10; check or money order to be made payable to the "Treasurer of the United States."

Corporations and firms will not be admitted or recognized.

Practitioners before this Court shall carry on their practice in accordance with the letter and spirit of the canons of professional ethics as adopted by the American Bar Association.

The Court may deny admission to, suspend, or disbar any person who in its judgment does not possess the requisite qualifications to represent others, or who is lacking in character, integrity, or proper professional conduct. No person shall be suspended for more than 60 days or disbarred until he has been afforded an opportunity to be heard. A Division may immediately suspend any person for not more than 60 days for contempt or misconduct during the course of any proceeding.

The Court may require any practitioner before it to furnish a statement under oath of the terms and circumstances of his employment in any proceeding. (See Rule 24.)

Rule 3. Personal representation in lieu of counsel.

Any individual taxpayer or member of a taxpayer partnership may appear for himself or such partnership upon adequate identification to the Court. (See Rules 6 and 7 (c) (4) (A) and Appendix I, Form a.)

(f) The signature, either of the petitioner or of his counsel, shall be subscribed in writing to the original of all pleadings, motions, and briefs, and shall be in individual and not in firm name, except that the signature of a petitioner corporation shall be in the name of the corporation by one of its active officers, thus: "John Doe, Inc., by Richard Roe, President." Rule 6. Proper parties.

The proceeding shall be brought by and in the name of the person against whom the Commissioner determined the deficiency [or liability, as the case may be], or by and in the full descriptive name of the fiduciary legally entitled to institute a proceeding on behalf of such person.

In the event of a variance between the name set forth in the notice of deficiency or liability and the correct name, a statement of the reasons for such variance shall be set forth in the petition. (See Rules 4, 7, and 23.)

(2) Improper petition.—Dismissal.—Failure of a petition to comply with this Rule or with Rules 4 or 6 shall be ground for dismissal of the proceeding for failure properly to prosecute.

See also section 272 (a) and (c) Internal Revenue Code in regard to absolute statutory time limit on filing.

(b) Fee for filing petition.—The fee for filing a petition with the Court shall be $10, payable at the time of filing. Make checks, money-orders, etc., payable to The Treasurer of the United States.

(c) Form of petition.—

(1) The petition shall be substantially in accordance with Form a, shown in Appendix I.

(2) It shall be complete in itself so as fully to state the issues.

(3) No telegram, cablegram, radiogram, telephone call or similar communication will be recognized as a petition.

(4) The petition shall contain:

(A) A caption in the following form:

THE TAX COURT OF THE UNITED STATES

Petitioner	} Docket No.
v.
COMMISSIONER OF INTERNAL REVENUE,
Respondent.
PETITION

(B) Proper allegations showing jurisdiction in the Court.

(C) A statement of the amount of the deficiency [or liability, as the case may be], determined by the Commissioner, the nature of the tax, the period for which determined, and the collection district in which the return was filed, and, if different from the determination, the approximate amount of taxes in controversy.

(D) Clear and concise assignments of each and every error which the petitioner alleges to have been committed by the Commissioner in the determination of the deficiency. Issues in respect of which the burden of proof is by statute placed upon the Commissioner will not be deemed to be raised by the petitioner in the absence of assignments of error in respect thereof. Each assignment of error shall be numbered.

(E) Clear and concise numbered statements of the facts upon which the petitioner relies as sustaining the assignments of error, except those assignments of error in respect of which the burden of proof is by statute placed upon the Commissioner.

(F) A prayer, setting forth relief sought by the petitioner.

(G) The signature of the petitioner or that of his counsel. (See Rule 4.)

(H) A verification by the petitioner; provided that where the petitioner is sojourning outside the United States or is a nonresident alien, the petition may be verified by a duly appointed attorney in fact, who shall attach to the petition a copy of the power of attorney under which he acts and who shall state in his verification that he acts pursuant to such power, that such power has not been revoked, that petitioner is absent from the United States, and the grounds of his knowledge of the facts alleged in the petition. As used herein the term "United States" includes only the States and the District of Columbia. A notary public is not authorized to administer oaths, etc., in matters in which he is employed as counsel. (See Title 1, ch. 5, D. C. Code 1940, and 26 Op. A. G. 236.)

The verification shall contain a statement that the fiduciaries signing and verifying have authority to act for the taxpayer.

Where the petitioner is a corporation, the person verifying shall state in his verification that he has authority to act for the corporation.

The signature and the verification to the petition shall be considered the certificate of those performing these acts that there is good ground for the petition, the proceeding has not been instituted merely for delay, and it is not frivolous.

(1) A copy of the notice of deficiency [or liability, as the case may be], shall be appended to the petition and to each copy required. If a statement has accompanied the notice of deficiency, so much thereof as is material to the issues set out in the assignments of error likewise shall be appended. If the notice of deficiency refers to prior notices from the Bureau, which are necessary to elucidate the determination, such parts thereof as are material to the issues set out in the assignments of error shall likewise be appended. (See Appendix I, Form a.)

Rule 11. Docket.¹

Upon receipt of the petition by the Clerk, the proceeding will be entered upon the docket and assigned a number and the parties notified thereof. This docket number shall be placed by the parties on all papers thereafter filed in the proceeding and referred to in all correspondence with the Court. (See Rule 5, and Rule 7 (a) (1)).

Rule 12. Service of the petition.

Upon filing of a petition and the copies, as prescribed in Rule 7, the Clerk will serve a copy upon the Commissioner.

Rule 14. Answer.²

After service upon him of a copy of the petition, the Commissioner shall have 60 days within which to file an answer or 45 days within which to move in respect of the petition. The answer shall be so drawn as fully and completely to advise the petitioner and the Court of the nature of the defense. It shall contain a specific admission or denial of each material allegation of fact contained in the petition and a statement of any facts upon which the Commissioner relies for defense or for affirmative relief or to sustain any issue raised in the petition in respect of which issue the burden of proof is, by statute, placed upon the Commissioner. Paragraphs of the answer shall be numbered to correspond to those of the petition to which they relate. An original and three copies of the answer shall be filed, of which the original shall be signed by the Commissioner or his counsel and the copies conformed by him.

The Clerk will serve one copy of the answer upon the petitioner or his counsel of record by registered mail.

This Rule shall apply to amended petitions and amendments to petitions except as the Court in a particular case may otherwise direct.

¹ There are no Rules 8—10.

² There is no Rule 13.

Rule 15. Reply.

If the answer of the Commissioner sets forth facts upon which he relies for affirmative relief, or contains a statement of the facts upon which he relies to sustain an issue in respect of which the burden of proof is placed upon him by statute, the petitioner shall, within 45 days after a copy of such answer is mailed to him or his counsel of record by registered mail, file a reply which shall contain a specific admission or denial of each material allegation of fact contained in the answer and shall set forth any facts upon which he relies for defense. Each paragraph contained in the reply shall be numbered to correspond with the paragraphs of the answer. An original and four copies of the reply shall be filed, of which the original shall be signed by the petitioner or his counsel and the copies conformed by him.

The Court upon motion of the respondent in which good cause is shown, or upon its own motion, may require the verification of any reply.

The Clerk will serve one copy of the reply upon the Commissioner.

Rule 16. Joinder of issue.

A proceeding shall be deemed at issue upon the filing of the answer unless a reply is required under Rule 15, in which event the proceeding shall be deemed at issue upon filing of the reply.

Rule 17. Amended and supplemental pleadings.

The petitioner may, as of course, amend his petition at any time before answer is filed. After answer is filed, a petition may be amended only by consent of the Commissioner or on leave of the Court.

All motions to amend, made prior to the hearing, must be accompanied by the proposed amendments or amended pleading.

Upon motion made, the Court may, in its discretion, at any time before the conclusion of the hearing, permit a party to a proceeding to amend the pleadings in stated particulars to conform to the proof.

When motions to amend are granted at the hearing, the amendment or amended pleadings shall be filed at the hearing or with the Court within such time as the Division may fix. (See Rules 4 and 19.)

Rule 18. Pleadings—General.

The Court, upon motion of either party in which good cause is shown, or upon its own motion, may order a further and better statement of the nature of the claim or defense, or of any matter stated in any pleading. Such a motion filed by a party shall point out the defects complained of and the details desired. If such order of the Court is not obeyed within 15 days or within such other time as the Court may fix, the Court may strike the pleadings to which the motion was directed or may make such other order as it deems just.

If no reply is required by these Rules, each and every material allegation of fact set out in the answer shall be deemed to be denied. Any new or affirmative matter contained in the reply shall be deemed to be denied.

Where an answer has been filed, each and every material allegation of fact set out in the petition and not expressly admitted or denied in the answer, shall be deemed to be admitted. Where a reply is required by these Rules and a reply has been filed, each and every material allegation of fact set out in the answer and not expressly admitted or denied in the reply shall be deemed to be admitted.

Where no answer is filed or where a reply is required by these Rules, but no reply is filed, the adverse party, within 45 days after the expiration of the time fixed by these Rules for filing the answer or the reply, as the case may be, may file a motion with the Court calling attention to the fact that the pleading has not been filed within the specified time and certain material allegations of fact have not been denied, and requesting the Court to enter its order that those particular undenied allegations shall be deemed to be admitted. The Court will serve a copy of this motion upon the other party and issue an order to show cause, returnable on or before a day certain. If the above described motion is not filed within the prescribed time, the allegations of the pleading to which there was no response shall be deemed to be denied.

Rule 19. Motions.

(a) Motions must be timely, must fully set forth the alleged reasons for the action sought and must be prepared in the form and style prescribed by Rule 4.

(b) Motions will be acted upon as justice may require and may, in the discretion of the Court, be placed upon the motion calendar for argument. See Rule 27 (a) and (c), and Rule 30 (b). The Clerk will serve a copy of each motion upon the opposite party. (See Rule 22.)

(c) The filing of a motion shall not constitute cause for postponement of a hearing from the date set. (See also Rule 27 (c) on motions for continuance.)

(d) If a motion, other than one relating to the receipt of evidence during trial, is made orally during trial, the maker thereof shall promptly reduce it to writing and file it with the Court unless the Division sitting directs otherwise.

(e) No motion for rehearing, further hearing, or reconsideration may, except by special leave, be filed more than 30 days after the opinion has been served; and no motion to vacate or revise a decision may, except by special leave, be filed more than 30 days after the decision has been entered. Motions covered by this paragraph shall be separate and not joined to or made a part of any other motion.

Rule 20. Extensions of time.

(a) An extension of time (except for the absolute time limit on filing of the petition, see section 272 (a) and (c) Internal Revenue Code, and except as otherwise provided in these Rules) may be granted by the Court within its discretion upon a timely motion filed in accordance with these Rules setting forth good and sufficient cause therefor or may be ordered by the Court upon its own motion.

(b) If a motion is filed or an order issued in respect to the adequacy of any petition, the time prescribed in Rule 14 shall begin to run from the date upon which the Court takes final action with respect to the motion or the order unless the Court orders otherwise. The time for reply shall be similarly extended in the case of a motion or an order with respect to the adequacy of an answer unless the Court orders otherwise.

(c) Any extension of time for filing a brief shall correspondingly extend the time for filing all other briefs yet to be filed in that proceeding unless the Court orders otherwise. (See Rules 19, 22, and 35.)

For continuances see Rule 27 (c).

Rule 21. Dismissal.

A proceeding may be dismissed for cause upon motion of either party or of the Court. (See Rule 7 (a) (2).)

Rule 22. Service.

(a) Upon petitioner. If there is no counsel of record, service will be made upon the petitioner.

(b) Upon first counsel of record. Service upon any counsel of record will be deemed service upon the party, but, where there are more than one, service will be made only upon counsel for petitioner whose appearance was first entered of record—unless the first counsel of record, by writing filed with the Court, designates other counsel to receive service, in which event service will be so made.

(c) Upon respondent. Service may be made upon any named respondent in person, upon deputies duly designated by him to accept service, or upon counsel appearing for the respondent in the proceeding. (See Rules 12, 14, and 15.)

Rule 23. Substitution of parties—Change of names.

(a) Successor fiduciaries—Certificate needed.—

A motion shall be filed to substitute parties who are successor fiduciaries and shall be supported by a certificate of the proper court or official showing the appointment and qualification of the party who seeks to be substituted. (See Rules 4 and 19.)

(b) Change in name—Certificate needed.—A motion shall be filed to amend the pleadings to show a change in the name of a corporation or other party and shall be supported by a proper official certificate or copy of the decree or other document by which the change was effected, duly certified by the official having its custody. (See Rules 4 and 19.)

(c) Waiver of certificate.—No certificate need be filed, unless required by Court order, if the respondent consents to a change as described in paragraphs (a) and (b) above.

(d) Court order.—The Court, on motion of a party or upon its own motion, may order the substitution of proper parties upon the death of a petitioner, where a mistake in the name or title of a party appears, or for other cause.

Rule 24. Counsel—Appearance—Withdrawal—Substitution—Changed Address.

(a) Entry of appearance.—

(1) Counsel enrolled to practice before this Court may enter his appearance by subscribing the initial petition.

(2) Counsel may later enter his appearance only by filing in duplicate, an entry of appearance which shall be signed by counsel individually, shall show his mailing address, and shall state that he is enrolled to practice before this Court. Form 305 may be obtained from the Clerk and used for this purpose but an adequate substitute will suffice.

(3) Counsel not properly enrolled to practice before this Court will not be recognized except by special leave of the Court granted at a hearing and then only where it appears that counsel can and will promptly become enrolled. (See Rules 2, 4 (f) and 7 (c) (4) (G).)

(b) Withdrawal of counsel.—Counsel of record in any proceeding desiring to withdraw, or any petitioner desiring to withdraw counsel of record, must file a motion with the Court requesting leave therefor reciting that notice thereof has been given to the client or to the counsel being withdrawn, as the case may be. The Court may, in its discretion, deny such motion.

(c) Substitution of counsel.—New counsel may be substituted by conforming to the provisions of (a) (2) and (b) above. (See Rules 2, 4, 19, and 27 (c).)

(See Rule 22 (b) in regard to substitution of "first counsel of record" for purposes of service.)

(d) Change of address.—Notice of any change in the mailing address of either counsel or petitioner shall be filed promptly with the Court, in duplicate. Separate notices shall be filed for each proceeding.

Counsel may not act also as notary. (See Rule 7 (c) (4) (H).)

Rule 26. Place of hearing on merits—Requests—And designation.¹

(a) Requests for place of hearing.—The petitioner at the time of filing the petition shall also file a request showing the name of the place where he would prefer the hearing on the merits to be held. A copy of this request will be served upon the Commissioner by the Clerk of the Court.

(b) If the petitioner has filed no request the respondent shall file at the time he files his answer, a request showing the name of the place preferred by him. A copy will be served upon the petitioner by the Clerk of the Court.

(c) These requests shall not be bound as a part of the petition or answer but shall be separate therefrom and shall consist of an original and two copies.

(d) Designation of place of hearing.—The Court will designate the place of hearing in accordance with the statutory provision that the time and place of trial shall be fixed "with as little inconvenience and expense to taxpayers as is practicable," and, in all cases, will notify the parties of the place at which or in the vicinity of which the hearing on the merits will be held.

(e) Motions for changing place designated.—If either party desires a change in designation of the place of hearing he must file a motion (with four copies) to that effect, stating fully his reasons therefor. Such motions, made after the notice of the time of the hearing has been mailed, will not be deemed to have been timely filed.

(See Appendix II for further information to assist in making requests as to place of hearing. See Rule 4.)

¹ There is no Rule 25.

Rule 27. Hearings—Calendars—Place, time, notice, attendance, continuances.

(a) Calendars of hearings on motions and other procedural and subsidiary matters.—

(1) If it is necessary for the Court to hear the parties on matters other than the merits, the proceeding will be listed for such hearing on a motion calendar which is called in Washington, D. C., unless good cause for holding the hearing elsewhere is shown in a timely motion to the Court. Ordinarily such calendars will be set for call at 9:30 a. m. (see Rule 1) on Wednesdays throughout the year, but due notice of the time and place in each case will be given to the parties by the Clerk. (See Rule 22.)

(2) Attendance at hearings on motion calendar.—If a party fails to appear at the call of the motion calendar, the Court will hear the proceeding ex parte. However, a memorandum or brief stating the position of the petitioner upon the pending motion will be accepted, when the failure of the petitioner to appear is justified by distance, shortness of time, or other good reason stated in such memorandum or brief.

(3) Where the motion or order is directed to defects in a pleading, prompt filing of a proper pleading correcting the defects may obviate the necessity of a hearing thereon.

(b) Calendars of hearings on the merits.—

(1) Each proceeding, when at issue, will be placed upon a calendar for hearing on the merits in accordance with Rule 26 and the Clerk, not less than 30 days in advance, will notify the parties of the place where and the date and time when it will be called.

(2) Calendar call.—Each proceeding appearing on such a calendar will be called at the time and place scheduled. The cases will be called usually in the order listed, and counsel or the parties will state their estimate of the time required for trial or file stipulations in lieu of trial. The proceedings for trial will thereupon be heard in due course, but not necessarily in the order listed.

(3) Attendance at hearings on the merits.—The unexcused absence of a party or his counsel when a proceeding is called for hearing on the merits will not be the occasion for delay. The proceeding may be dismissed for failure properly to prosecute or the hearing may proceed and the case be regarded as submitted on the part of the absent party or parties.

(4) The Court may require appearance for argument or it may accept briefs in lieu of personal appearance.

(c) Continuances—Motions—Merits.—

(1) Court action on proceedings set for hearing on motions or merits will not be delayed by a motion for continuance unless it is timely, sets forth good and sufficient cause and complies with all applicable Rules.

(2) Conflicting engagements of counsel or the employment of new counsel will never be regarded as good ground for a continuance unless set forth in a motion filed promptly after the notice of hearing has been mailed or unless extenuating circumstances are shown which the Court deems adequate. (See Rule 20.)

(d) Reserve calendar.—A proceeding once at issue may, upon motion, be placed on an inactive list called the reserve calendar. Good cause must be shown, as, for example, that the proceeding will be governed by the decision in a case pending in a higher court. The proceeding may be placed later on a hearing calendar by motion of either party or by the Court on its own motion when the reason for inaction no longer exists.

Rule 30. Submission without hearing or appearance.¹

(a) Submission of cases without hearing where acts are uncontested.—Any proceeding not requiring a hearing for the submission of evidence (as, for example, where sufficient facts have been admitted, stipulated, established by deposition, or included in the record in some other way), may be submitted at any time by notice of the parties filed with the Court. The parties need not wait for the proceeding to be calendared and need not appear in person. The Chief Judge² will then assign the proceeding to a Division for report, which Division, upon request of the parties, will fix a time for filing briefs or for oral argument.

(b) A contested motion, not predicated upon an issue of fact, may be submitted in the same way. (See Rule 27 (a).)

(See, however, Rule 31.)

Rule 31. Evidence and the submission of evidence.

(a) Rules applicable.—The proceedings of the Court and its Divisions will be conducted in accordance with the rules of evidence applicable in the courts of the District of Columbia in the type of proceedings which prior to September 16, 1938, were within the jurisdiction of the courts of equity of said District.

(b) Stipulations.—The parties, by stipulation in writing filed with the Court or presented at the hearing, may agree upon any facts involved in a proceeding. Stipulations filed need not be formally offered to be considered in evidence. Written stipulations shall be filed in duplicate. Duplicates of exhibits appended to the stipulation need not be provided unless requested. Both parties shall endeavor to stipulate evidence to the fullest extent to which either complete or qualified agreement can be reached. If all evidence lending itself to stipulation, as, for example, entries or summaries from books of account and other records, has not been stipulated at the time the notice of the date of the hearing is mailed, then the party desiring to introduce such evidence shall confer with his adversary or opposing counsel promptly after receipt of the hearing notice, in an effort to stipulate such facts. Any objection to the relevancy of a particular part or all of a stipulation should be noted in the stipulation, but the Court will give consideration to any objection to the relevancy of stipulated facts made at the hearing. The Court may set aside a stipulation where justice requires, but will not receive evidence tending to qualify, change, or contradict any fact properly introduced into the record by stipulation.

(c) Depositions must be offered.—Testimony taken by deposition will not be considered until offered and received in evidence.

(d) Marking exhibits.—Exhibits attached to a stipulation or a deposition shall be numbered serially, i. e., 1, 2, 3, etc., if offered by the petitioner; shall be lettered serially, i. e., A, B, C, etc., if offered by the respondent; and shall be marked serially i. e., 1-A, 2-B, 3-C, etc., if offered as a joint exhibit.

(e) Documentary evidence.

(1) When books, records, papers, or documents have been received in evidence, a copy thereof or of so much thereof as may be material or relevant may, in the discretion of the Division holding the hearing, be substituted therefor.

(2) After the decision of the Court in any proceeding has become final, the Court may, upon motion, permit the withdrawal by the party entitled thereto of original exhibits, or the Court may, on its own motion, make such other disposition thereof as it deems advisable.

(f) Not evidence.—Statements in the petition, ex parte affidavits and briefs do not constitute evidence.

(g) Failure of proof.—Failure to adduce evidence in support of the material facts alleged in the petition and denied by the Commissioner in his answer will be ground for dismissal. Where there is a joinder of issue on questions of fact, the provisions of Rule 30 do not relieve the party upon whom rests the burden of proof of properly producing evidence to support the issues.

Rule 32. Burden of proof.

The burden of proof shall be upon the petitioner, except as otherwise provided by statute, and except that in respect of any new matter pleaded in his answer, it shall be upon the respondent.

Rule 35. Briefs.¹

(a) General.—The filing of briefs and the making of oral arguments shall be in accordance with the directions of the Judge presiding at the hearing. The parties should be prepared to make oral argument at the conclusion of a hearing or to file a written citation of authorities at that time if the Judge so directs.

(b) Filing.—Unless the Judge directs otherwise, original briefs shall be filed 45 days after the day on which the hearing was concluded and reply briefs may be filed within 15 days after the time allowed the opposite party for the filing of the original brief, including any extension thereof. If a party does not file an original brief but files a reply brief, his adversary may file his reply brief within 15 days thereafter.

(c) Service.—Each brief, whether original or reply, will be served promptly by the Clerk upon the opposite party after it is filed, except where it bears a notation that a copy has already been served,

¹ There are no Rules 28, 29.

² Pursuant to the provisions of section 32, act of June 25, 1948 (Public Law 773), as amended by section 127, Public Law 72, approved May 24, 1949, applicable to the Tax Court of the United States, the title "Presiding Judge, The Tax Court of the United States," was changed to "Chief Judge, The Tax Court of the United States," effective October 30, 1950.

¹ There are no Rules 33, 34.

and except that where simultaneous briefs are to be filed they will be served upon the other party immediately after the time for filing such briefs (including any extension thereof) has expired. If an extension is granted after the original time for filing has expired and the brief of the opposite party has been filed but not served, it will be served promptly after the extended period. (See Rule 20 (c).)

(d) Number of copies.—An original and 2 copies shall be filed if briefs are typewritten and 20 copies shall be filed if briefs are printed. An original and four copies shall be filed on section 722 and section 721 (a) (2) (C) issues.

(e) Form and contents.—All briefs shall contain the following in the order indicated:

(1) On its front flyleaf a table of contents with page references, followed by a list of all citations alphabetically arranged as to cases cited together with references to pages. Citations shall be in italics when printed and underscored when typewritten. (See Rule 4.)

(2) A statement of the nature of the controversy, the tax involved, and the issues to be decided.

(3) The party having the burden of proof shall set forth complete statements of the facts based upon the evidence. Each statement shall be numbered, shall be complete in itself, and shall consist of a concise statement of the essential fact and not a discussion or argument relating to the evidence or the law. Reference to the pages of the transcript or the exhibits relied upon in support thereof shall be inserted after each separate statement.

If the other party disagrees with any or all of the statements of fact, he shall set forth each correction which he believes the evidence requires and shall give the same numbers to his statements of fact as appear in his opponent's brief. His statement of fact shall be set forth in accordance with the requirements above designated.

(4) A concise statement of the points upon which the party relies.

(5) The argument: The argument shall set forth the points of law relied upon and any discussion of the evidence deemed necessary to support the statement of fact.

(6) The signature of counsel or the party filing. (See Rule 4 (f).)

Rule 40. Transcripts of proceedings.¹

Hearings before the Court or its Divisions shall be stenographically reported and a transcript thereof shall be made if, in the opinion of the Court or of the Division holding the hearing, a permanent record of the hearing is deemed necessary. Transcripts shall be supplied to the parties and to the public by the official reporter at such rates as may be fixed by contract between the Court and the reporter.

Rule 44. Subpoenas.²

(a) How issued.—The party desiring a subpoena must make a timely application therefor, in writing.

(b) Application for.—The application shall state the name and address of each witness required, the time and place at which and the officer before whom he is to appear, and whether he may designate someone to appear in his place. Only the original of the application need be filed. (See Appendix I, Form b.)

(c) For production of documents.—If evidence other than oral testimony is required, such as documents or written data, the application shall set forth in tabular form the specific matter to be produced and sufficient facts to indicate that each item is reasonably necessary to establish the cause of action or defense of the applicant.

(d) Service and proof.—The Court will not serve subpoenas, but will leave service to be procured by the party making the application. Service may be made by any citizen of the United States over the age of 21 years and competent to be a witness, and not a party to or in any way interested in the proceeding. Proof of service may be made by affidavit.

Rule 45. Depositions.

(a) Application to take.—When either party desires to take a deposition, he shall file with the Court a verified application and two conformed copies, together with an additional copy for each additional docket number involved. The Court upon request will furnish forms for this purpose. If the space in the form furnished by the Court is inadequate for setting forth the reasons in support of the application in any particular case, a substitute form may be used, but the substitute must contain all of the information called for on the Court's form. (See Appendix I, Form c.)

(b) Limitation on time for application to take.—Applications to take depositions must be filed at least 30 days prior to the date set for the hearing of the proceeding, and such depositions must be completed and filed with the Court at least 10 days prior to the hearing: Provided, Such applications will not be regarded as sufficient ground for the granting of a continuance from the date or place of the hearing theretofore set, unless the proceeding shall have been at issue less than 60 days and the motion for continuance shall have been filed not less than 20 days prior to said date of hearing: Provided further, That under special circumstances, and for good cause shown, the Court may otherwise order.

(c) Qualification of officer.—The officer before whom depositions are taken must be authorized to administer oaths. (Section 3632, I. R. C.) In no case shall a deposition be taken before any person who has any office connection or business employment with either party or his counsel except by consent of the parties and when no other officer is available, and in his certificate of return to such deposition such officer shall so certify.

(d) Order for taking.—Upon receipt of such application, the Clerk will serve a copy thereof on the opposite party, and allow a reasonable time for objection thereto. Thereafter, the Court will, in its discretion, make an order, a copy of which will be mailed or delivered to the parties or their counsel, wherein the Court will name the witness whose deposition is to be taken and specify the time when, the place where, and the officer before whom the witness is to testify, but such time, place, and officer specified in the Court's order may or may not be the same as set forth in the application. The applicant shall thereupon make all necessary arrangements for the taking of each deposition and shall furnish the officer before whom it is to be taken with a copy of the order above mentioned.

² There are no Rules 41—43.

(e) By stipulation.—At any time after issue is joined, the parties or their counsel may, by stipulation duly signed and filed, take depositions. In such cases, the stipulation shall state the name and address of each witness, the time when and the place where such depositions will be taken and the name, address, and official title of the officer before whom it is proposed to take the depositions. In such cases, no order to take depositions will be issued, but they shall be taken and returned by the officer in accordance with the Rules of the Court.

(f) Manner of taking.—Each witness must first take the oath or affirm. The questions propounded to him and his answers must be recorded verbatim.

Objections to questions or answers shall be explicitly but briefly and concisely stated and recorded without any unnecessary comment, explanation, or argument by counsel for either party.

(g) Other witnesses to be excluded.—At the request of either party, a person whom either expects or intends to call as a witness in the same or any related proceeding shall be excluded from the room where the testimony of a witness is being taken. If such person remains in the room or within hearing of the examination after such request has been made, he shall not thereafter be permitted to testify except by the consent of the party who requested his exclusion.

(h) Depositions to be signed.—The testimony of the witness when transcribed shall be read to or by him and shall be signed by him. (See Appendix I, Form d.)

(i) Form in which depositions must be returned to the Court.—When a deposition is returned to the Court it must show the docket number and the caption (the names of the parties) of the proceeding as they appear in the Court's records, the place and date of taking, the name of the witness, the party by whom called, the names of counsel present, indicating which party each counsel represents, and (in the body of the deposition) the name of counsel examining or cross-examining the witness.

The officer must so fasten the sheets of the deposition that they cannot be tampered with. He must spare no pains to return to the Court the exact testimony he has taken. All exhibits must be carefully marked so as to be capable of identification, and when practicable must be attached to the deposition.

The officer must properly execute and attach to the deposition a certificate of return in the form prescribed. (See Appendix I, Form d.)

(j) Return of.—The officer must enclose the original depositions and exhibits, together with two copies of the depositions, in a sealed packet, with postage or other transportation charges prepaid, and direct and forward the same to The Tax Court of the United States, Washington 4, D. C. In each case, the original of the depositions must be directed and forwarded to the Court. The officer may, however, upon written request, deliver a copy of the depositions to either or to both of the parties, or to their representatives, in lieu of sending such copies to the Court as above provided. If one or both of the required copies are delivered by the officer taking the depositions, he shall attach to his return the written request of the party or parties, or of their counsel to whom such copy or copies were delivered, and shall state in his certificate of return the fact of delivery by him of such copy or copies. If copies of the depositions are delivered by the officer taking the same, no service of copies of such depositions upon the party or his counsel of record will be made by the Court.

Rule 46. Depositions upon written interrogatories.

Depositions may be taken in the discretion of the Court upon written interrogatories in substantially the same manner as provided in Rule 45 for depositions upon oral examination. An original and five copies of the interrogatories must be filed with the application. The Clerk will serve one copy of the application and of the interrogatories upon the opposite party. If the opposite party desires to file objections or cross-interrogatories, he must do so within 15 days after the application and interrogatories have been served upon him. Cross-interrogatories must consist of an original and five copies. The Clerk will serve one copy thereof upon the opposite party who, if he has any objection thereto, must file his objections within 15 days thereafter. The application and the interrogatories must be filed in sufficient time to allow for objections, cross-interrogatories, and objections thereto as provided above, and for filing of the complete depositions at least 10 days prior to the hearing.

No person other than the witness, a stenographic reporter, and the officer taking the deposition upon written interrogatories and cross-interrogatories shall be present at the examination of the witness. This fact shall be certified by the officer taking the deposition. That officer shall propound the interrogatories and cross-interrogatories to the witness in their order and cause the testimony to be reduced to writing in the witness's own words.

Depositions obtained in foreign countries must be taken upon written interrogatories, except as otherwise directed by the Court for cause shown.

Rule 47. Tender of and objections to depositions.

The deposition of any witness whether taken upon oral examination or upon written interrogatories shall not constitute a part of the record until offered and received in evidence, (see Rule 31), but the consideration of any objection to the receipt of a deposition or any part thereof will be limited as set forth in this Rule.

Where depositions are taken upon oral examination objections to the competency of a witness or to the competency, relevancy or materiality of testimony may be made at the hearing, even though not noted at or before the taking of the deposition, unless the ground for the objection is one which might have been obviated or removed if presented at or before the time of the taking of the deposition. Objections directed to errors and irregularities in the manner of taking the deposition, in the form of any question or answer, in the oath or affirmation, or in the conduct of parties, and errors of any kind which might have been obviated, removed or cured if promptly presented will not be considered unless made at the taking of the deposition. (See Rule 45 (f).)

No objections to written interrogatories or cross-interrogatories will be considered subsequent to the taking of the deposition unless they have been made in the manner and within the time prescribed therefor by Rule 46.

Errors or irregularities in the manner in which the testimony is transcribed or the deposition is prepared, signed, certified, sealed, endorsed, transmitted, filed or otherwise dealt with by the officer under Rules 45 and 46 shall not form the basis for objections but questions in respect thereto shall be raised on a motion to suppress the deposition in whole or in part made with reasonable promptness after such defect is or with due diligence might have been ascertained.

Rule 48. Commissioners of the Tax Court.

(a) The term "commissioner" as used in this Rule 48 applies to any attorney on the legal staff of this Court who shall have been designated by the Chief Judge as a "commissioner in a particular case" pursuant to Section 1114 of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended by Section 503 of the Revenue Act of 1943.

(b) The commissioner shall conduct the hearing in such case in accordance with the Court's Rules of Practice. He shall rule upon objections and other evidentiary matters in accordance with the rules of evidence as provided in Section 1111, and shall exercise such further and incidental authority, including the issuance of subpoenas, as may be necessary for the conduct of the hearing.

(c) Unless otherwise directed the parties shall have 30 days from the closing of proof in the case for filing proposed findings of fact. Such findings of fact shall be prepared in the manner and form prescribed in the first paragraph of Rule 35 (b).

Upon the filing by the parties of their proposed findings of fact, the commissioner shall prepare and file a report of his findings of fact based upon the evidence in the case, and a copy thereof shall be served upon each party.

(d) Unless otherwise directed by the Court, the parties shall have 45 days from the date of the filing of the Commissioner's proposed findings of fact within which to file briefs, and 15 days additional within which to file reply briefs. Each brief shall be prepared in the manner and form prescribed in Rule 35, except that instead of following paragraph (e) (3) of that Rule, the parties shall state whatever exceptions they may have to the findings of the Commissioner so that they may be considered by the Division to which the case is assigned.

(e) Upon motion of either party made not later than at the time of filing the final brief, or upon its own motion, the Division to which the case is assigned may in its discretion direct oral argument and set a date therefor.

Rule 50. Computations by parties for entry of decision.¹

Where the Court has promulgated or entered its opinion determining the issues in a proceeding, it may withhold entry of its decision for the purpose of permitting the parties to submit computations pursuant to the Court's determination of the issues, showing the correct amount of the deficiency or overpayment to be entered as the decision. If the parties are in agreement as to the amount of the deficiency or overpayment to be entered as the decision pursuant to the report of the Court, they or either of them shall file promptly with the Court an original and two copies of a computation showing the amount of the deficiency or overpayment and that there is no disagreement that the figures shown are in accordance with the report of the Court. The Court will then enter its decision. If, however, the parties are not in agreement as to the amount of the deficiency or overpayment to be entered as the decision, in accordance with the report of the Court, either of them may file with the Court a computation of the deficiency or overpayment believed by him to be in accordance with the report of the Court. The Clerk will serve a copy thereof upon the opposite party, will place the matter upon a motion calendar for argument in due course, and will serve notice of the argument upon both parties. If the opposite party fails to file objection, accompanied by an alternative computation, at least five days prior to the date of such argument, or any continuance thereof, the Court may enter decision in accordance with the computation already submitted. If in accordance with this Rule computations are submitted by the parties which differ as to the amount to be entered as the decision of the Court, the parties will be afforded an opportunity to be heard in argument thereon on the date fixed, and the Court will determine the correct deficiency or overpayment and enter its decision.

Any argument under this Rule will be confined strictly to the consideration of the correct computation of the deficiency or overpayment resulting from the report already made, and no argument will be heard upon or consideration given to the issues or matters already disposed of by such report or of any new issues. This Rule is not to be regarded as affording an opportunity for rehearing or reconsideration.

Rule 51. Estate tax deduction developing after trial.

If the parties in an estate tax proceeding are unable to agree under Rule 50, or under a remand, upon a deduction involving expenses incurred at or after the trial, the petitioner may move to reopen the case for further hearing on that issue provided it is raised in the petition or by amendment thereto.

Rule 52. Preparation of record on review—Costs.

(a) Immediately after the contents of a record on review have been settled or agreed to, the Clerk will notify the petitioner of the costs and charges for the preparation, comparison, and certification of said records; such charges to be determined in accordance with the provisions of Section 1133, Internal Revenue Code, and the Act of September 27, 1944, 58 Stat. 743.

(b) No transcript will be certified and transmitted to the appellate court until the costs and charges therefor have been paid. (For name of payee, see Rule 7 (b).)

(c) A petitioner for review who requests the Clerk to certify but not to prepare documents for transmission to a United States Court of Appeals shall furnish the Clerk with the copies of the documents to be certified, if duplicates are not already in the record. (See Rules 4 (g) and 31 (b).)

(For statutory provisions relating to Court Review of Tax Court decisions see Subchapter B, Section 1140 et seq., I. R. C. For forms of bonds, see Appendix I, Forms e and f. The rules of the appellate court to which the appeal is being taken should be consulted.)

Rule 53. Copies of records—Fees for furnishing.

A plain or a certified copy of any document, record, entry, or other paper pertaining to a proceeding before this Court may be had upon application to the Clerk, the fee to be charged and collected therefor to be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Section 1133, Internal Revenue Code, and the Act of September 27, 1944, 58 Stat. 743.

Rule 60. Fees and mileage.¹

Section 1115 of the Internal Revenue Code provides:

(a) Amount.—Any witness summoned or whose deposition is taken under section 1114 shall receive the same fees and mileage as witnesses in courts of the United States.

(b) Payment.—Such fees and mileage and the expenses of taking any such deposition shall be paid as follows:

(1) Witnesses for Commissioner. In the case of witnesses for the Commissioner, such payments shall be made by the Secretary out of any moneys appropriated for the collection of internal-revenue taxes, and may be made in advance.

(2) Other witnesses. In the case of any other witnesses, such payments shall be made, subject to rules prescribed by the Board [Court], by the party at whose instance the witness appears or the deposition is taken.

No witness, other than one for the Commissioner, shall be required to testify in any proceeding before the Court until he shall have been tendered the fees and mileage to which he is entitled in accordance with the above provision of law.

Rule 61. Computation of time—Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

The day of the act, event, or default starting any period of time prescribed or allowed by these rules or by an order of this Court shall not be counted as a part of the period, but Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays in the District of Columbia shall count just as any other days, except that when the period would expire on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday in the District of Columbia, it shall extend to and include the next succeeding day that is not a Saturday, Sunday or such legal holiday.

The following-named days are legal holidays within the District of Columbia:

New Year's Day, January 1 (U. S. C., Title 5, sec. 87).

When legal holidays fall on Sunday the next day shall be a holiday (22 Stat. 1; D. C. Code, Title 22, sec. 126).

Rule 63. Proceedings based upon disallowance of claims for refund or relief.¹

All of the rules of practice, with appropriate changes in wording wherever necessary, shall apply to proceedings involving the disallowance of claims for refund or relief over which this Court has jurisdiction. Petitions in such cases shall have attached to them a copy of the notice of disallowance, together with whatever statements may accompany that notice, and shall also have attached to them a copy of the claim or application for refund or relief. In cases where no appeal lies from the decision of the Tax Court a copy of the claim or application need be attached only to the original and first copy of the petition.

Rule 64. Renegotiation of contracts cases.

1. Except as otherwise prescribed by this Rule, proceedings for the redetermination of excessive profits under the Renegotiation Acts² shall be governed by the existing Rules of Practice before this Court. Where any of the existing Rules (except Rule 48) or the matter contained in the Appendix refer to the Commissioner, such Rules and the matter in the Appendix, when applied to a proceeding for the redetermination of excessive profits under the Renegotiation Acts,² shall refer to the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board or to the Secretary as defined and used in that Act.² Similarly references to the taxpayer shall refer to the contractor or subcontractor; references to tax shall refer to profits

II. A proceeding for the redetermination of excessive profits under the Renegotiation Acts¹ shall be initiated by the filing of a petition, as provided in Rules 4, 6 and the pertinent parts of Rule 7. (See Form a, Appendix 1.)

The authority making the determination of excessive profits, i. e., the appropriate Secretary, the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board (or the United States when substituted therefor)² or the Renegotiation Board, shall be shown as the respondent.

The allegations of fact shall contain a statement of the amount received or accrued during the period in question under the contracts or subcontracts subject to renegotiation, the costs paid or incurred with respect thereto and the profits derived therefrom, the type and character of business done, and any other facts pertinent to a determination of the error alleged.

IV. With respect to the matter covered by Rule 60, attention is directed to section 403 (e) (1) of the Renegotiation Act and to section 108 of the Renegotiation Act of 1951.

Rule 65. Bond to stay execution of order of Renegotiation Board.

(a) Statute.—The Renegotiation Act of 1951 provides that execution of the order of the Renegotiation Board may be stayed by filing with the Tax Court a bond, approved as to form and in an amount fixed by the Court, within ten days after the filing of the petition. See sections 105 (a) and 108 of the Renegotiation Act of 1951. For forms of bonds see Appendix, Forms g and h of this chapter.

(b) Fixing amount of bond.—An application to fix the amount of a bond filed with the petition will be considered prima facie evidence of the proper amount of the bond if it asks that a bond be fixed:

(1) At 112 percent of the full amount of the excessive profits determined in the unilateral order on which the petition is based, or

(2) At 112 percent of an amount equal to the full amount of the excessive profits determined in that order reduced by the credit authorized by section 3806 (b) of the Internal Revenue Code, and is accompanied by a statement from the Director of Internal Revenue¹ for the district in which the return for the taxable year was filed, showing the amount of the credit to which the petitioner is entitled as a result of the determination.

The Court will consider other applications differing from the above, but the applicant must have in mind the short time allowed by the statute for the approval of the bond.

(c) Sureties and collateral.—(1) The Tax Court will accept as sureties on such bonds companies holding certificates of authority from the Secretary of the Treasury (See latest U. S. Treasury Form 356).

(2) If collateral is to be deposited as security for a bond, in lieu of a surety, United States Government marketable public securities fully negotiable by the bearer, owned by the petitioner, in a sum equal at their par value to the amount of the bond to be furnished, will be acceptable. A power of attorney and agreement must accompany such securities. See Appendix forms i and j of this chapter. For other collateral which may be furnished and documents required therewith, see 31 CFR Part 225 (Treasury Department Circular No. 154, Revised).

II. REQUESTS FOR PLACE OF HEARING

The Court will fix the times and places for its hearings in order to secure reasonable opportunity to taxpayers to be heard with as little inconvenience and expense to taxpayers as is practicable. (Section 1105, I. R. C.) Hearings may be held at any place requested if suitable accommodations are available and a sufficient number of cases are ready for hearing there. A partial list of cities where a combination of these circumstances has justified a calendar of hearings recently appears below. It is published here merely to assist parties in making requests under Rule 26. The grouping of certain cities in the list indicates that if one of those cities is requested, it may be necessary to hold the hearing at the other city in order to make up a sufficient calendar of hearings. Likewise, if sufficient cases are not ready for hearing in any particular city requested by taxpayers, or if suitable quarters are not available there, the Court may find it necessary to combine the hearings requested for that city and hold them along with the hearings requested for some other city in the vicinity.

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

All functions of all officers of the Department of the Treasury, and all functions of all agencies and employees of such Department, were transferred, with certain exceptions, to the Secretary of the Treasury, with power vested in him to authorize their performance or the performance of any of his functions, by any of such officers, agencies, and employees, by 1950 Reorg. Plan No. 26, §§ 1, 2, eff. July 31, 1950, 15 F. R. 4935, 64 Stat. 1280, set out in note under section 241 of Title 5, Executive Departments and Government Officers and Employees. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, referred to in this section, is an officer of the Treasury Department.

§ 1117. Reports and decisions—(a) Requirement.

A report upon any proceeding instituted before the Tax Court and a decision thereon shall be made as quickly as practicable. The decision shall be made by a judge in accordance with the report of the Tax Court, and such decision so made shall, when entered, be the decision of the Tax Court.

(b) Inclusion of findings of fact or opinions in report.

It shall be the duty of the Tax Court and of each division to include in its report upon any proceeding its findings of fact or opinion or memorandum opinion. The Tax Court shall report in writing all its findings of fact, opinions and memorandum opinions.

(c) Date of decision.

A decision of the Tax Court (except a decision dismissing a proceeding for lack of jurisdiction) shall be held to be rendered upon the date that an order specifying the amount of the deficiency is entered in the records of the Tax Court. If the Tax Court dismisses a proceeding for reasons other than lack of jurisdiction and is unable from the record to determine the amount of the deficiency determined by the Commissioner, or if the Tax Court dismisses a proceeding for lack of jurisdiction, an order to that effect shall be entered in the records of the Tax Court, and the decision of the Tax Court shall be held to be rendered upon the date of such entry.

(d) Effect of decision dismissing petition.

If a petition for a redetermination of a deficiency has been filed by the taxpayer, a decision of the Tax Court dismissing the proceeding shall be considered as its decision that the deficiency is the amount determined by the Commissioner. An order specifying such amount shall be entered in the records of the Tax Court unless the Tax Court can not determine such amount from the record in the proceeding, or unless the dismissal is for lack of jurisdiction.

(e) Effect of decision that tax is barred by limitation.

If the assessment or collection of any tax is barred by any statute of limitations, the decision of the Tax Court to that effect shall be considered as its decision that there is no deficiency in respect of such tax.

(f) Findings of fact as evidence.

The findings of the Tax Court made in connection with any decision prior to February 26, 1926 shall, notwithstanding the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1926, 44 Stat. 9, continue to be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated.

(g) Proceeding frivolous.

Whenever it appears to the Tax Court that proceedings before it have been instituted by the taxpayer merely for delay, damages in an amount not in excess of $500 shall be awarded to the United States by the Tax Court in its decision. Damages so awarded shall be assessed at the same time as the deficiency and shall be paid upon notice and demand from the collector, and shall be collected as a part of the tax.

Section 407 of act Aug. 23, 1950, ch. 809, title IV, 64 Stat. 561, provided that: "For the purposes of section 1 (a) of Reorganization Plan No. 26 of 1950 [set out as a note under section 1332-15 of Title 5], this Act [act Aug. 28, 1950, ch. 809, 64 Stat. 477] shall be deemed to have been enacted prior to the effective date of such plan [July 31, 1950]." Said Reorganization Plan transferred to the Secretary of the Treasury all functions of all other officers of the Department of the Treasury and all functions of all agencies and employees of such Department with power vested in him to authorize their performance or the performance of any of his functions by any of such officers, agencies and employees.

SOCIAL INSURANCE AND LABOR RELATIONS OF RAILROAD COAL-MINING EMPLOYEES; RETROACTIVE OPERATION OF ACT AUGUST 13, 1940, CH. 664, 54 STAT. 785; EFFECT ON PAYMENTS, RIGHTS, ETC.

Sections 4—7 of said act August 13, 1940, with regard to the operation and effect of these changes, provided as follows:

"SEC. 4. (a) The laws hereby expressly amended (section 1532 of this title, and sections 151, 215, 228a, 261, and 361 of Title 45, Railroads), the Social Security Act, approved August 14, 1935 (section 301 et seq. of Title 42, The Public Health and Welfare), and all amendments thereto, shall operate as if each amendment herein contained had been enacted as a part of the law it amends, at the time of the original enactment of such law.

"(b) No person as defined in the Carriers Taxing Act of 1937 (section 261 et seq. of Title 45, Railroads), shall be entitled, by reason of the provisions of this Act, to a refund of, or relief from liability for, any income or excise taxes paid or accrued, pursuant to the provisions of the Carriers Taxing Act of 1937 (section 261 et seq. of Title 45, Railroads) or subchapter B of chapter 9 of the Internal Revenue Code (section 1500 et seq. of this title), prior to the date of the enactment of this act by reason of employment in the service of any carrier by railroad subject to part I of the Interstate Commerce Act (section 1 et seq. of Title 49, Transportation), but any individual who has been employed in such service of any carrier by railroad subject to part I of the Interstate Commerce Act (section 1 et seq. of Title 49, Transportation) as is excluded by the amendments made by this Act from coverage under the Carriers Taxing Act of 1937 (section 261 et seq. of Title 45, Railroads) and subchapter B of chapter 9 of the Internal Revenue Code (section 1500 et seq. of this title), and who has paid income taxes under the provisions of such act or subchapter, and any carrier by railroad subject to part I of the Interstate Commerce Act (section 1 et seq. of Title 49, Transportation) which has paid excise taxes under the provisions of the Carriers Taxing Act of 1937 (section 261 et seq. of Title 45, Railroads) or subchapter B of chapter 9 of the Internal Revenue Code (section 1500 et seq. of Title 26), may, upon making proper application therefor to the Bureau of Internal Revenue, have the amount of taxes so paid applied in reduction of such tax liability with respect to employment, as may, by reason of the amendments made by this Act, accrue against them under the provisions of title VIII of the Social Security Act (former section 1001 et seq. of Title 42) or the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (subchapter A of chapter 9 of the Internal Revenue Code) (section 1400 et seq. of this title).

"(c) Nothing contained in this act shall operate (1) to affect any annuity, pension, or death benefit granted under the Railroad Retirement Act of 1935 (sections 215—228 of Title 45, Railroads) or the Railroad Retirement Act of 1937 (section 228a et seq. of Title 45, Railroads), prior to the date of enactment of this act, or (2) to include any of the services on the basis of which any such annuity or pension was granted, as employment within the meaning of section 210 (b) of the Social Security Act or section 209 (b) of such act, as amended (former sections 410 (b) and 409 (b), respectively, of Title 42, The Public Health and Welfare). In any case in which a death benefit alone has been granted, the amount of such death benefit attributable to services, coverage of which is affected by this act, shall be deemed to have been paid to the deceased under section 204 of the Social Security Act (former section 404 of Title 42, The Public Health and Welfare) in effect prior to January 4, 1940, and deductions shall be made from any insurance benefit or benefits payable under the Social Security Act, as amended (section 301 et seq. of Title 42, The Public Health and Welfare), with respect to wages paid to an individual for such services until such deductions total the amount of such death benefit attributable to such services.

"(d) Nothing contained in this act shall operate to affect the benefit rights of any individual under the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act (section 351 et seq. of Title 45, Railroads) for any day of unemployment (as defined in section 1 (k) of such act (section 351 (k) of Title 45, Railroads)) occurring prior to the date of enactment of this act.

"SEC. 5. Any application for payment filed with the Railroad Retirement Board prior to, or within sixty days after, the enactment of this act shall, under such regulations as the Social Security Board may prescribe, be deemed to be an application filed with the Social Security Board by such individual or by any person claiming any payment with respect to the wages of such individual, under any provision of section 202 of the Social Security Act, as amended (former section 402 of Title 42, The Public Health and Welfare).

"SEC. 6. Nothing contained in this act, nor the action of Congress in adopting it, shall be taken or considered as affecting the question of what carriers, companies, or individuals, other than those in this act specifically provided for, are included in or excluded from the provisions of the various laws to which this act is an amendment.

"SEC. 7. (a) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 1605 (b) of the Internal Revenue Code (section 1605 (a) of this title), no interest shall, during the period February 1, 1940, to the eighty-ninth day after the date of enactment of this act, inclusive, accrue by reason of delinquency in the payment of the tax imposed by section 1600 with respect to services affected by this act performed during the period July 1, 1939, to December 31, 1939, inclusive, with respect to which services amounts have been paid as contributions under the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act (section 351 et seq. of Title 45, Railroads) prior to the date of enactment of this act.

"(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 1601 (a) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code [of this title], the credit allowable under section 1601 (a) [of this title] against the tax imposed by section 1600 [of this title] for the calendar year 1939 shall not be disallowed or reduced by reason of the payment into a State unemployment fund after January 31, 1940, of contributions with respect to services affected by this act performed during the period July 1, 1939, to December 31, 1939, inclusive, with respect to which services amounts have been paid as contributions under the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act (section 351 et seq. of Title 45, Railroads) prior to the date of enactment of this act: Provided, That this subsection shall be applicable only if the contributions with respect to such services are paid into the State unemployment fund before the ninetieth day after the date of enactment of this act."

Act Aug. 13, 1940, ch. 664, 54 Stat. 785—787, specifically amended section 1532 of this title and sections 151, 215, 228a, 261, and 361 of Title 45, Railroads, by redefining the terms "employer," "employee," and "carrier." In its report on the bill, the Senate committee approved the policy that coal-mining activities of railroads and their subsidiaries for the purpose of railroad operations, "whether conducted directly by carriers or by subsidiaries of carriers, should for purposes of a social-insurance program and for purposes of labor relations be covered by the system of laws applicable to coal-mining generally rather than the system of laws applicable to the railroad industry." The committee accordingly recommended the enactment of the bill "so as to exclude coal-mining operations from the acts covering the railroad industry . . ."

When used in this subchapter—

(a) Wages.

The term “wages” means all remuneration for employment, including the cash value of all remuneration paid in any medium other than cash; except that such term shall not include—

(1) That part of the remuneration which, after remuneration (other than remuneration referred to in the succeeding paragraphs of this subsection) equal to $3,600 with respect to employment has been paid to an individual by an employer during any calendar year, is paid to such individual by such employer during such calendar year. If an employer (hereinafter referred to as successor employer) during any calendar year acquires substantially all the property used in a trade or business of another employer (hereinafter referred to as a predecessor), or used in a separate unit of a trade or business of a predecessor, and immediately after the acquisition employs in his trade or business an individual who immediately prior to the acquisition was employed in the trade or business of such predecessor, then, for the purpose of determining whether the successor employer has paid remuneration (other than remuneration referred to in the succeeding paragraphs of this subsection) with respect to employment equal to $3,600 to such individual during such calendar year, any remuneration (other than remuneration referred to in the succeeding paragraphs of this subsection) with respect to employment paid (or considered under this paragraph as having been paid) to such individual by such predecessor during such calendar year and prior to such acquisition shall be considered as having been paid by such successor employer;

(2) The amount of any payment (including any amount paid by an employer for insurance or annuities, or into a fund, to provide for any such payment) made to, or on behalf of, an employee or any of his dependents under a plan or system established by an employer which makes provision for his employees generally (or for his employees generally and their dependents) or for a class or classes of his employees (or for a class or classes of his employees and their dependents) on account of (A) retirement, or (B) sickness or accident disability, or (C) medical or hospitalization expenses in connection with sickness or accident disability, or (D) death;

(3) Any payment made to an employee (including any amount paid by an employer for insurance or annuities, or into a fund, to provide for any such payment) on account of retirement;

(4) Any payment on account of sickness or accident disability, or medical or hospitalization expenses in connection with sickness or accident disability, made by an employer to, or on behalf of, an employee after the expiration of six calendar months following the last calendar month in which the employee worked for such employer;

(5) Any payment made to, or on behalf of, an employee or his beneficiary (A) from or to a trust exempt from tax under section 165 (a) at the time of such payment unless such payment is made to an employee of the trust as remuneration for services rendered as such employee and not as a beneficiary of the trust, or (B) under or to an annuity plan which, at the time of such payment, meets the requirements of section 165 (a) (3), (4), (5), and (6);

(6) The payment by an employer (without deduction from the remuneration of the employee) (A) of the tax imposed upon an employee under section 1400, or (B) of any payment required from an employee under a State unemployment compensation law;

For the purposes of this subparagraph, an employee shall be deemed to be regularly employed by an employer during a calendar quarter only if (i) on each of some twenty-four days during the quarter the employee performs for the employer for some portion of the day domestic service in a private home of the employer, or (ii) the employee was regularly employed (as determined under clause (i)) by the employer in the performance of such service during the preceding calendar quarter. As used in this subparagraph, the term "domestic service in a private home of the employer" does not include service described in subsection (h) (5);

(8) Remuneration paid in any medium other than cash for agricultural labor;

(9) Any payment (other than vacation or sick pay) made to an employee after the month in which he attains the age of sixty-five, if he did not work for the employer in the period for which such payment is made; or

(10) Remuneration paid by an employer in any calendar quarter to an employee for service described in subsection (d) (3) (C) (relating to home workers), if the cash remuneration paid in such quarter by the employer to the employee for such service is less than $50.

The term "employment" means any service performed after 1936 and prior to 1951 which was employment for the purposes of this subchapter under the law applicable to the period in which such service was performed, and any service, of whatever nature, performed after 1950 either (A) by an employee for the person employing him, irrespective of the citizenship or residence of either, (i) within the United States, or (ii) on or in connection with an American vessel or American aircraft under a contract of service which is entered into within the United States or during the performance of which and while the employee is employed on the vessel or aircraft it touches at a port in the United States, if the employee is employed on and in connection with such vessel or aircraft when outside the United States, or (B) outside the United States by a citizen of the United States as an employee for an American employer (as defined in subsection (i) of this section); except that, in the case of service performed after 1950, such term shall not include—

For the purposes of this paragraph, an individual shall be deemed to be regularly employed by an employer during a calendar quarter only if (A) on each of some twenty-four days during such quarter such individual performs for such employer for some portion of the day service not in the course of the employer's trade or business, or (B) such individual was regularly employed (as determined under clause (A)) by such employer in the performance of such service during the preceding calendar quarter. (d) Service.

An individual is in the service of an employer whether his service is rendered within or without the United States if (i) he is subject to the continuing authority of the employer to supervise and direct the manner of rendition of his service, or he is rendering professional or technical services and is integrated into the staff of the employer, or he is rendering, on the property used in the employer's operations, other personal services the rendition of which is integrated into the employer's operations, and (ii) he renders such service for compensation: Provided, however, That an individual shall be deemed to be in the service of an employer, other than a local lodge or division or a general committee of a railway-labor-organization employer, not conducting the principal part of its business in the United States only when he is rendering service to it in the United States; and an individual shall be deemed to be in the service of such a local lodge or division only if (1) all, or substantially all, the individuals constituting its membership are employees of an employer conducting the principal part of its business in the United States; or (2) the headquarters of such local lodge or division is located in the United States; and an individual shall be deemed to be in the service of such a general committee only if (1) he is representing a local lodge or division described in clauses (1) or (2) immediately above; or (2) all, or substantially all, the individuals represented by it are employees of an employer conducting the principal part of its business in the United States; or (3) he acts in the capacity of a general chairman or an assistant general chairman of a general committee which represents individuals rendering service in the United States to an employer, but in such case if his office or headquarters is not located in the United States and the individuals represented by such general committee are employees of an employer not conducting the principal part of its business in the United States, only such proportion of the remuneration for such service shall be regarded as compensation as the proportion which the mileage in the United States under the jurisdiction of such general committee bears to the total mileage under its jurisdiction, unless such mileage formula is inapplicable, in which case such other formula as the Railroad Retirement Board may have prescribed pursuant to subsection (c) of section 1 of the Railroad Retirement Act of 1937 shall be applicable, and if the application of such mileage formula, or such other formula as the Board may prescribe, would result in the compensation of the individual being less than 10 per centum of his remuneration for such service no part of such remuneration shall be regarded as compensation: Provided further, That an individual not a citizen or resident of the United States shall not be deemed to be in the service of an employer when rendering service outside the United States to an employer who is required under the laws applicable in the place where the service is rendered to employ therein, in whole or in part, citizens or residents thereof; and the laws applicable on August 29, 1935, in the place where the service is rendered shall be deemed to have been applicable there at all times prior to that date.

earned in the month in which such time is lost. Such term does not include tips, or the voluntary payment by an employer, without deduction from the remuneration of the employee, of the tax imposed on such employee by section 1500. Compensation which is earned during the period for which the Commissioner shall require a return of taxes under this subchapter to be made and which is payable during the calendar month following such period shall be deemed to have been paid during such period only. For the purpose of determining the amount of taxes under sections 1500 and 1520, compensation earned in the service of a local lodge or division of a railway-labor-organization employer shall be disregarded with respect to any calendar month if the amount thereof is less than $3 and (1) such compensation is earned before April 1, 1940, and the taxes thereon under such sections are not paid before July 1, 1940, or (2) such compensation is earned after March 31, 1940.

A payment made by an employer to an individual through the employer's pay roll shall be presumed, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, to be compensation for service rendered by such individual as an employee of the employer in the period with respect to which the payment is made. An employee shall be deemed to be paid, "for time lost" the amount he is paid by an employer with respect to an identifiable period of absence from the active service of the employer, including absence on account of personal injury, and the amount he is paid by the employer for loss of earnings resulting from his displacement to a less remunerative position or occupation. If a payment is made by an employer with respect to a personal injury and includes pay for time lost, the total payment shall be deemed to be paid for time lost unless, at the time of payment, a part of such payment is specifically apportioned to factors other than time lost, in which event only such part of the payment as is not so apportioned shall be deemed to be paid for time lost.

(f) United States.

The term "United States" when used in a geographical sense means the States, Alaska, Hawaii, and the District of Columbia.

(g) Company.

The term "company" includes corporations, associations, and joint-stock companies.

The total credit allowable against the tax imposed by section 901 of such Act for the calendar year 1936, 1937, or 1938 shall not exceed 90 per centum of such tax.

"(b) Allowance of credit against tax for 1939, 1940, 1941, and 1942 where assets in control of court. Against the tax imposed by the Federal Unemployment Tax Act for the calendar year 1939, 1940, 1941, or 1942, any taxpayer shall be allowed credit for the amount of contributions paid by him into an unemployment fund under a State law, without regard to the date of payment, if the assets of the taxpayer were, at any time during the period from the last day upon which the taxpayer was required under section 1604 of the Federal Unemployment Tax Act to file a return of the tax against which credit is claimed to June 30 next following such last day, inclusive, or (in the case of credit against the tax for the calendar year 1939) the period October 9, 1940, to December 6, 1940, inclusive, or the period September 21, 1941, to November 18, 1941, inclusive, or (in the case of credit against the tax for the calendar year 1940) the period September 21, 1941, to November 18, 1941, inclusive, in the custody or control of a receiver, trustee, or other fiduciary appointed by, or under the control of, a court of competent jurisdiction. The provisions of the Federal Unemployment Tax Act (except section 1601 (a) (3), including such provisions as modified by section 902 (e) of the Social Security Act Amendments of 1939, shall apply to allowance of credit under this subsection. The terms used in this subsection shall have the same meaning as when used in the Federal Unemployment Tax Act. The total credit allowable against the tax imposed by such Act for the calendar year 1939, 1940, 1941, or 1942 shall not exceed 90 per centum of such tax.

"(c) Refund, Credit, or Abatement. (1) Refund or credit of the tax (including penalty and interest collected with respect thereto, if any), based on any credit allowable under this section, may be made in accordance with the provisions of law applicable in the case of erroneous or illegal collection of the tax (including statutes of limitations). No interest shall be allowed or paid on the amount of any such credit or refund.

"(2) Any claim for refund or credit, with respect to the tax (including penalty and interest collected with respect thereto, if any) imposed by section 901 of the Social Security Act or section 1600 of the Federal Unemployment Tax Act, based on credit for contributions, which has been disallowed prior to the date of enactment of this Act, the allowance of which would be considered erroneous under section 3774 (b) or section 3775 (b) of the Internal Revenue Code, shall nevertheless be allowable if otherwise allowable under this section or section 1601 of the Federal Unemployment Tax Act.

"(3) Notwithstanding the acceptance of an offer in compromise prior to the date of enactment of this Act with respect to any tax (or penalty or interest in connection therewith) imposed by section 901 of the Social Security Act or section 1600 of the Federal Unemployment Tax Act, any claim for refund, credit, or abatement with respect to the tax (including penalty and interest collected with respect thereto, if any) imposed by either of such Acts, based on credit for contributions, shall be allowable if otherwise allowable under this section or section 1601 of the Federal Unemployment Tax Act.

"(4) On and after the date of the enactment of this Act no refund, credit, or abatement shall be allowed based on any credit allowable under section 701 of the Revenue Act of 1941."

§ 1602. Conditions of additional credit allowance—(a) State standards.

A taxpayer shall be allowed an additional credit under section 1601 (b) with respect to any reduced rate of contributions permitted by a State law, only if the Secretary of Labor finds that under such law—

(1) No reduced rate of contributions to a pooled fund or to a partially pooled account, is permitted to a person (or group of persons) having individuals in his (or their) employ except on the basis of his (or their) experience with respect to unemployment or other factors bearing a direct relation to unemployment risk during not less than the three consecutive years immediately preceding the computation date;

(2) No reduced rate of contributions to a guaranteed employment account is permitted to a person (or a group of persons) having individuals in his (or their) employ unless (A) the guaranty of remuneration was fulfilled in the year preceding the computation date; and (B) the balance of such account amounts to not less than 2½ per centum of that part of the pay roll or pay rolls for the three years preceding the computation date by which contributions to such account were measured; and (C) such contributions were payable to such account with respect to three years preceding the computation date;

(3) Such lower rate, with respect to contributions to a separate reserve account, is permitted only when (A) compensation has been payable from such account throughout the preceding calendar year, and (B) such account amounts to not less than five times the largest amount of compensation paid from such account within any one of the three preceding calendar years, and (C) such account amounts to not less than 7½ per centum of the total wages payable by him (plus the total wages payable by any other employers who may be contributing to such account) with respect to employment in such State in the preceding calendar year.

(4) Effective January 1, 1942, paragraph (3) of this subsection is amended to read as follows:

"(3) No reduced rate of contributions to a reserve account is permitted to a person (or group of persons) having individuals in his (or their) employ unless (A) compensation has been payable from such account throughout the year preceding the computation date, and (B) the balance of such account amounts to not less than five times the largest amount of compensation paid from such account within any one of the three years preceding such date, and (C) the balance of such account amounts to not less than 2½ per centum of that part of the pay roll or pay rolls for the three years preceding such date by which contributions to such account were measured, and (D) such contributions were payable to such account with respect to the three years preceding the computation date."

(b) [Certification by the Secretary of Labor with respect to additional credit allowance.]¹

(1) On December 31 in each taxable year, the Secretary of Labor shall certify to the Secretary of the Treasury the law of each State (certified with respect to such year by the Secretary of Labor as provided in section 1603) with respect to which it finds that reduced rates of contributions were allowable with respect to such taxable year only in accordance with the provisions of subsection (a) of this section.

(2) If the Secretary of Labor finds that under the law of a single State (certified by the Secretary of Labor as provided in section 1603) more than one type of fund or account is maintained, and reduced rates of contributions to more than one type of fund or account were allowable with respect to any taxable year, and one or more of such reduced rates were allowable under conditions not fulfilling the requirements of subsection (a) of this section, the Secretary of Labor shall, on December 31 of such taxable year, certify to the Secretary of the Treasury only those provisions of the State law pursuant to which reduced rates of contributions were allowable with respect to such taxable year under conditions fulfilling the requirements of subsection (a) of this section, and shall, in connection therewith, designate the kind of fund or account, as defined in subsection (c) of this section, established by the provisions so certified. If the Secretary of Labor finds that a part of any reduced rate of contributions payable under such law or under such provisions is required to be paid into one fund or account and a part into another fund or account, the Secretary of Labor shall make such certification pursuant to this paragraph as it finds will assure the allowance of additional credits only with respect to that part of the reduced rate of contributions which is allowed under provisions which do fulfill the requirements of subsection (a) of this section.

(3) The Secretary of Labor shall, within thirty days after any State law is submitted to it for such purpose, certify to the State agency its findings with respect to reduced rates of contributions to a type of fund or account, as defined in subsection (c) of this section, which are allowable under such State law only in accordance with the provisions of subsection (a) of this section. After making such findings, the Secretary of Labor shall not withhold its certification to the Secretary of the Treasury of such State law, or of the provisions thereof with respect to which such findings were made, for any taxable year pursuant to paragraph (1) or (2) of this subsection unless, after reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing to the State agency, the Secretary of Labor finds the State law no longer contains the provisions specified in subsection (a) of this section or the State has, with respect to such taxable year, failed to comply substantially with any such provision.

(c) Definitions.

As used in this section—

(1) Reserve account.

The term "reserve account" means a separate account in an unemployment fund, maintained with respect to a person (or group of persons) having individuals in his (or their) employ, from which account, unless such account is exhausted, is paid all and only compensation payable on the basis of services performed for such person (or for one or more of the persons comprising the group).

(2) Pooled fund.

The term "pooled fund" means an unemployment fund or any part thereof (other than a reserve account or a guaranteed employment account) into which the total contributions of persons contributing thereto are payable, in which all contributions are mingled and undivided, and from which compensation is payable to all individuals eligible for compensation from such fund.

(3) Partially pooled account.

The term "partially pooled account" means a part of an unemployment fund in which part of the fund all contributions thereto are mingled and undivided, and from which part of the fund compensation is payable only to individuals to whom compensation would be payable from a reserve account or from a guaranteed employment account but for the exhaustion or termination of such reserve account or of such guaranteed employment account. Payments from a reserve account or guaranteed employment account into a partially pooled account shall not be construed to be inconsistent with the provisions of paragraph (1) or (4) of this subsection.

(4) Guaranteed employment account.

The term "guaranteed employment account" means a separate account, in an unemployment fund, maintained with respect to a person (or group of persons) having individuals in his (or their) employ who, in accordance with the provisions of the State law or of a plan thereunder approved by the State agency,

(A) guarantees in advance at least thirty hours of work, for which remuneration will be paid at not less than stated rates, for each of forty weeks (or if more, one weekly hour may be deducted for each added week guaranteed) in a year, to all the individuals who are in his (or their) employ in, and who continue to be available for suitable work in, one or more distinct establishments, except that any such individual's guaranty may commence after a probationary period (included within the eleven or less consecutive weeks immediately following the first week in which the individual renders services), and

(B) gives security or assurance, satisfactory to the State agency, for the fulfillment of such guaranties, from which account, unless such account is exhausted or terminated, is paid all and only compensation, payable on the basis of services performed for such person (or for one or more of the persons comprising the group), to any such individual whose guaranteed remuneration has not been paid (either pursuant to the guaranty or from the security or assurance provided for the fulfillment of the guaranty), or whose guaranty is not renewed and who is otherwise eligible for compensation under the State law.

(5) Year.

The term "year" means any twelve consecutive calendar months.

(6) Balance.

The term "balance", with respect to a reserve account or a guaranteed employment account, means the amount standing to the credit of the account as of the computation date; except that, if subsequent to January 1, 1940, any moneys have been paid into or credited to such account other than payments thereto by persons having individuals in their employ, such term shall mean the amount in such account as of the computation date less the total of such other moneys paid into or credited to such account subsequent to January 1, 1940.

(7) Computation date.

The term "computation date" means the date, occurring at least once in each calendar year and within twenty-seven weeks prior to the effective date of new rates of contributions, as of which such rates are computed.

(8) Reduced rate.

The term "reduced rate" means a rate of contributions lower than the standard rate applicable under the State law, and the term "standard rate" means the rate on the basis of which variations therefrom are computed.

(d) Voluntary Contributions.

A State law may, without being deemed to violate the standards set forth in subsection (a), permit voluntary contributions to be used in the computation of reduced rates if such contributions are paid prior to the expiration of one hundred and twenty days after the beginning of the year for which such rates are effective, or prior to January 1, 1948, whichever date is the later. Such finding shall become effective on the ninetieth day after the Governor of the State has been notified thereof unless the State has before such ninetieth day so amended its law that it will comply substantially with the Secretary of Labor's interpretation of the provision of subsection (a), in which event such finding shall not become effective. If, at any time during the taxable year, the Secretary of Labor has reason to believe that a State whose law it has previously approved, may not be certified under subsection (c), it shall promptly so notify the Governor of such State. § 1606. Interstate commerce and Federal instrumentalities.

(a) No person required under a State law to make payments to an unemployment fund shall be relieved from compliance therewith on the ground that he is engaged in interstate or foreign commerce, or that the State law does not distinguish between employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce and those engaged in intrastate commerce.

(b) The legislature of any State may require any instrumentality of the United States (except such as are (A) wholly owned by the United States, or (B) exempt from the tax imposed by section 1600 by virtue of any other provision of law), and the individuals in its employ, to make contributions to an unemployment fund under a State unemployment compensation law approved by the Secretary of Labor under section 1603 and (except as provided in section 5240 of the Revised Statutes, as amended, and as modified by subsection (c) of this section) to comply otherwise with such law. The permission granted in this subsection shall apply (1) only to the extent that no discrimination is made against such instrumentality, so that if the rate of contribution is uniform upon all other persons subject to such law on account of having individuals in their employ, and upon all employees of such persons, respectively, the contributions required of such instrumentality or the individuals in its employ shall not be at a greater rate than is required of such other persons and such employees, and if the rates are determined separately for different persons or classes of persons having individuals in their employ or for different classes of employees, the determination shall be based solely upon unemployment experience and other factors bearing a direct relation to unemployment risk, and (2) only if such State law makes provision for the refund of any contributions required under such law from an instrumentality of the United States or its employees for any year in the event said State is not certified by the Secretary of Labor under section 1603 with respect to such year.

(c) Nothing contained in section 5240 of the Revised Statutes, as amended, shall prevent any State from requiring any national banking association to render returns and reports relative to the association's employees, their remuneration and services, to the same extent that other persons are required to render like returns and reports under a State law requiring contributions to an unemployment fund. The Comptroller of the Currency shall, upon receipt of a copy of any such return or report of a national banking association from, and upon request of, any duly authorized official, body, or commission of a State, cause an examination of the correctness of such return or report to be made at the time of the next succeeding examination of such association, and shall thereupon transmit to such official, body, or commission a complete statement of his findings respecting the accuracy of such returns or reports.

(d) No person shall be relieved from compliance with a State unemployment compensation law on the ground that services were performed on land or premises owned, held, or possessed by the United States, and any State shall have full jurisdiction and power to enforce the provisions of such law to the same extent and with the same effect as though such place were not owned, held, or possessed by the United States.

(e) The legislature of any State may, with respect to service to be performed after December 31, 1945, by a laborer, mechanic, or workman, in connection with construction work or the operation and maintenance of electrical facilities, as an employee performing service for the Bonneville Power Administrator (hereinafter called the Administrator), require the Administrator, who for the purposes of this subsection is designated an instrumentality of the United States, and any such employee, to make contributions to an unemployment fund under a State unemployment compensation law approved by the Secretary of Labor under section 1603 and to comply otherwise with such law. Such permission is subject to the conditions imposed by subsection (b) of this section upon permission to State legislatures to require contributions from instrumentalities of the United States. The Administrator is authorized and directed to comply with the provisions of any applicable State unemployment compensation law on behalf of the United States as the employer of individuals whose service constitutes employment under such law by reason of this subsection.

(f) The legislature of any State in which a person maintains the operating office, from which the operations of an American vessel operating on navigable waters within or within and without the United States are ordinarily and regularly supervised, managed, directed and controlled, may require such person and the officers and members of the crew of such vessel to make contributions to its unemployment fund under its State unemployment compensation law approved by the Secretary of Labor (or approved by the Social Security Board prior to July 16, 1946) under section 1603 and otherwise to comply with its unemployment compensation law with respect to the service performed by an officer or member of the crew on or in connection with such vessel to the same extent and with the same effect as though such service was performed entirely within such State. Such person and the officers and members of the crew of such vessel shall not be required to make contributions, with respect to such service, to the unemployment fund of any other State. The permission granted by this subsection is subject to the condition that such service shall be treated, for purposes of wage credits given employees, like other service subject to such State unemployment compensation law performed for such person in such State, and also subject to the same limitation, with respect to contributions required from such person and from the officers and members of the crew of such vessel, as is imposed by the second sentence (other than clause (2) thereof) of subsection (b) of this section with respect to contributions required from instrumentalities of the United States and from individuals in their employ. As used in this subchapter—

(a) Wages.

The term "wages" means all remuneration (other than fees paid to a public official) for services performed by an employee for his employer, including the cash value of all remuneration paid in any medium other than cash; except that such term shall not include remuneration paid—

For the purposes of this paragraph, an individual shall be deemed to be regularly employed by an employer during a calendar quarter only if (A) on each of some twenty-four days during such quarter such individual performs for such employer for some portion of the day service not in the course of the employer's trade or business, or (B) such individual was regularly employed (as determined under clause (A)) by such employer in the performance of such service during the preceding calendar quarter, or

(6) for services performed by a nonresident alien individual, other than (A) a resident of a contiguous country who enters and leaves the United States at frequent intervals, or (B) a resident of Puerto Rico if such services are performed as an employee of the United States or any agency thereof, or

(7) for such services, performed by a nonresident alien individual who is a resident of a contiguous country and who enters and leaves the United States at frequent intervals, as may be designated by regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary, or

(8) (A) for services for an employer (other than the United States or any agency thereof) performed in a foreign country by a citizen of the United States, if at the time of the payment of such remuneration the employer is required by the law of any foreign country to withhold income tax upon such remuneration, or it is reasonable to believe that such remuneration will be excluded from gross income under the provisions of section 116 (a) (1) or (2), or

(B) for services for an employer (other than the United States or any agency thereof) performed by a citizen of the United States within a possession of the United States (other than Puerto Rico), if it is reasonable to believe that at least 80 per centum of the remuneration to be paid to the employee by such employer during the calendar year will be for such services, or

(C) for services for an employer (other than the United States or any agency thereof) performed by a citizen of the United States within Puerto Rico, if it is reasonable to believe that during the entire calendar year the employee will be a bona fide resident of Puerto Rico, or

(B) for services performed by an individual in, and at the time of, the sale of newspapers or magazines to ultimate consumers, under an arrangement under which the newspapers or magazines are to be sold by him at a fixed price, his compensation being based on the retention of the excess of such price over the amount at which the newspapers or magazines are charged to him, whether or not he is guaranteed a minimum amount of compensation for such service, or is entitled to be credited with the unsold newspapers or magazines turned back, or

(11) for services not in the course of the employer's trade or business, to the extent paid in any medium other than cash, or

(12) to, or on behalf of, an employee or his beneficiary (A) from or to a trust exempt from tax under section 165 (a) at the time of such payment unless such payment is made to an employee of the trust as remuneration for services rendered as such employee and not as a beneficiary of the trust, or (B) under or to an annuity plan which, at the time of such payment, meets the requirements of section 165 (a) (3), (4), (5), and 6).

The term "payroll period" means a period for which a payment of wages is ordinarily made to the employee by his employer, and the term "miscellaneous payroll period" means a payroll period other than a daily, weekly, biweekly, semimonthly, monthly, quarterly, semiannual, or annual payroll period.

(2) in the case of a person paying wages on behalf of a nonresident alien individual, foreign partnership, or foreign corporation, not engaged in trade or business within the United States, the term "employer" (except for the purposes of subsection (a)) means such person.

(e) Number of withholding exemptions claimed.

The term "number of withholding exemptions claimed" means the number of withholding exemptions claimed in a withholding exemption certificate in effect under section 1622 (h), except that if no such certificate is in effect, the number of withholding exemptions claimed shall be considered to be zero. (Added June 9, 1943, 7 p. m., E. W. T., ch. 120, § 2 (a), 57 Stat. 126, amended May 29, 1944, 7 p. m., E. W. (2) If wages are paid with respect to a period which is not a payroll period, the amount to be deducted and withheld shall be that applicable in the case of a miscellaneous payroll period containing a number of days (including Sundays and holidays) equal to the number of days in the period with respect to which such wages are paid.

(3) In any case in which wages are paid by an employer without regard to any payroll period or other period, the amount to be deducted and withheld shall be that applicable in the case of a miscellaneous payroll period containing a number of days equal to the number of days (including Sundays and holidays) which have elapsed since the date of the last payment of such wages by such employer during the calendar year, or the date of commencement of employment with such employer during such year, or January 1 of such year, whichever is the later.

(4) In any case in which the period, or the time described in paragraph (3), in respect of any wages is less than one week, the Commissioner, under regulations prescribed by him with the approval of the Secretary, may authorize an employer to determine the amount to be deducted and withheld under the tables applicable in the case of a weekly payroll period, in which case the aggregate of the wages paid to the employee during the calendar week shall be considered the weekly wages.

(5) If the wages exceed the highest wage bracket, in determining the amount to be deducted and withheld under this subsection, the wages may, at the election of the employer, be computed to the nearest dollar.

(d) Tax paid by recipient.

If the employer, in violation of the provisions of this subchapter, fails to deduct and withhold the tax under this subchapter, and thereafter the tax against which such tax may be credited is paid, the tax so required to be deducted and withheld shall not be collected from the employer; but this subsection shall in no case relieve the employer from liability for any penalties or additions to the tax otherwise applicable in respect of such failure to deduct and withhold.

(e) Nondeductibility of tax in computing net income.

The tax deducted and withheld under this subchapter shall not be allowed as a deduction either to the employer or to the recipient of the income in computing net income for the purpose of any tax on income imposed by Act of Congress.

(f) Refunds or credits—(1) Employers.

Where there has been an overpayment of tax under this subchapter, refund or credit shall be made to the employer only to the extent that the amount of such overpayment was not deducted and withheld under this subchapter by the employer.

(2) Employees.

For refund or credit in cases of excessive withholding, see section 322 (a).

(g) Included and excluded wages.

If the remuneration paid by an employer to an employee for services performed during one-half or more of any payroll period of not more than thirty-one consecutive days constitutes wages, all the remuneration paid by such employer to such employee for such period shall be deemed to be wages; but if the remuneration paid by an employer to an employee for services performed during more than one-half of any such payroll period does not constitute wages, then none of the remuneration paid by such employer to such employee for such period shall be deemed to be wages.

(h) Withholding exemptions.

(1) In general.

An employee receiving wages shall on any day be entitled to the following withholding exemptions:

(A) An exemption for himself.

(B) One additional exemption for himself if, on the basis of facts existing at the beginning of such day, there may reasonably be expected to be allowable an exemption under section 25 (b) (1) (B) (i) (relating to old age) for the taxable year under Chapter 1 in respect of which amounts deducted and withheld under this subchapter in the calendar year in which such day falls are allowed as a credit.

(C) One additional exemption for himself if, on the basis of facts existing at the beginning of such day, there may reasonably be expected to be allowable an exemption under section 25 (b) (1) (C) (i) (relating to the blind) for the taxable year under Chapter 1 in respect of which amounts deducted and withheld under this subchapter in the calendar year in which such day falls are allowed as a credit.

(D) If the employee is married, any exemption to which his spouse is entitled, or would be entitled if such spouse were an employee receiving wages, under subparagraph (A), (B), or (C), but only if such spouse does not have in effect a withholding exemption certificate claiming such exemption.

(E) An exemption for each individual with respect to whom, on the basis of facts existing at the beginning of such day, there may reasonably be expected to be allowable an exemption under section 25 (b) (1) (D) for the taxable year under Chapter 1 in respect of which amounts deducted and withheld under this subchapter in the calendar year in which such day falls are allowed as a credit.

(2) Exemption certificates.

(A) On Commencement of Employment.—On or before the date of the commencement of employment with an employer, the employee shall furnish the employer with a signed withholding exemption certificate relating to the number of withholding exemptions which he claims, which shall in no event exceed the number to which he is entitled.

(B) Change of Status, Etc.—If, on any day during the calendar year, the number of withholding exemptions to which the employee is entitled is less than the number of withholding exemptions claimed by the employee on the withholding exemption certificate then in effect with respect to him, the employee shall within ten days thereafter furnish the employer with a new withholding exemption certificate relating to the number of withholding exemptions which the employee then claims, which shall in no event exceed the number to which he is entitled on such day. If, on any day during the calendar year, the number of withholding exemptions to which the employee is entitled is greater than the number of withholding exemptions claimed, the employee may furnish the employer with a new withholding exemption certificate relating to the number of withholding exemptions which the employee then claims, which shall in no event exceed the number to which he is entitled on such day.

(C) Change of Status, Etc., Which Affects Next Calendar Year.—If on any day during the calendar year the number of withholding exemptions to which the employee will be, or may reasonably be expected to be, entitled at the beginning of his next taxable year under Chapter 1 is different from the number to which the employee is entitled on such day, the employee shall, in such cases and at such times as the Commissioner, with the approval of the Secretary, may by regulations prescribe, furnish the employer with a withholding exemption certificate relating to the number of withholding exemptions which he claims with respect to such next taxable year, which shall in no event exceed the number to which he will be, or may reasonably be expected to be, so entitled.

(3) When certificate takes effect.

(A) First Certificate Furnished.—A withholding exemption certificate furnished the employer in cases in which no previous such certificate is in effect shall take effect as of the beginning of the first payroll period ending, or the first payment of wages made without regard to a payroll period, on or after the date on which such certificate is so furnished.

(B) Furnished to Take Place of Existing Certificate.—A withholding exemption certificate furnished the employer in cases in which a previous such certificate is in effect shall take effect with respect to the first payment of wages made on or after the first status determination date which occurs at least thirty days from the date on which such certificate is so furnished, except that at the election of the employer such certificate may be made effective with respect to any payment of wages made on or after the date on which such certificate is so furnished; but a certificate furnished pursuant to paragraph (2) (C) shall not take effect, and may not be made effective, with respect to any payment of wages made in the calendar year in which the certificate is furnished. For the purposes of this subparagraph the term "status determination date" means January 1 and July 1 of each year.

(4) Period during which certificate remains in effect.

A withholding exemption certificate which takes effect under this subsection shall continue in effect with respect to the employer until another such certificate takes effect under this subsection.

(5) Contents of certificate.

Withholding exemption certificates shall be in such form and contain such information as the Commissioner may, with the approval of the Secretary, by regulations prescribe.

(i) Overlapping pay periods, and so forth.

If a payment of wages is made to an employee by an employer—

(1) with respect to a payroll period or other period, any part of which is included in a payroll period or other period with respect to which wages are also paid to such employee by such employer, or

(2) without regard to any payroll period or other period, but on or prior to the expiration of a payroll period or other period with respect to which wages are also paid to such employee by such employer, or

(3) with respect to a period beginning in one and ending in another calendar year, or

(4) through an agent, fiduciary, or other person who also has the control, receipt, custody, or disposal of, or pays, the wages payable by another employer to such employee;

the manner of withholding and the amount to be deducted and withheld under this subchapter shall be determined in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary under which the withholding exemption allowed to the employee in any calendar year shall approximate the withholding exemption allowable with respect to an annual payroll period.

(j) Withholding on basis of average wages.

The Commissioner may, under regulations prescribed by him with the approval of the Secretary, authorize employers (1) to estimate the wages which will be paid to any employee in any quarter of the calendar year, (2) to determine the amount to be deducted and withheld upon each payment of wages to such employee during such quarter as if the appropriate average of the wages so estimated constituted the actual wages paid, and (3) to deduct and withhold upon any payment of wages to such employee during such quarter such amount as may be necessary to adjust the amount actually deducted and withheld upon the wages of such employee during such quarter to the amount required to be deducted and withheld during such quarter without regard to this subsection.

(k) Additional withholding.

The Secretary is authorized by regulations to provide, under such conditions and to such extent as he deems proper, for withholding in addition to that otherwise required under this section in cases in which the employer and the employee agree (in such form as the Secretary may by regulations prescribe) to such additional withholding. Such additional withholding shall for all purposes be considered tax required to be deducted and withheld under this subchapter. (Added June 9, 1943, 7 p. m., E. W. In such case if the tax for the taxable year 1942 (determined without regard to this section and without regard to interest or additions to the tax) is more than $50, the tax under such chapter for the taxable year 1943 shall be increased by an amount equal to 25 per centum of the tax for the taxable year 1942 (so determined) or the excess of such tax (so determined) over $50, whichever is the lesser. In such case the tax under such chapter for the taxable year 1943 shall be increased by—

"(2) Joint returns.—If the taxpayer either for the taxable year 1942 or for the taxable year 1943 makes a joint return with his spouse, the taxes of the spouses for the taxable year for which a joint return is not made shall be aggregated for the purposes of subsections (a) and (b), and in case the taxable year for which a joint return is not made is the taxable year 1943, the liability for the increase in the tax for the taxable year 1943 under subsections (a) and (b), shall be joint and several. (As amended Feb. 25, 1944, 12:49 p. m., E. W. T., ch. 63, § 506 (b) (3), 58 Stat. 73.)

The Commissioner may condition the extension upon the furnishing by the taxpayer of a bond in such amount, not exceeding the amount with respect to which the extension applies, with such surety or sureties, as the Commissioner deems necessary, conditioned upon the payment of such amount in accordance with the terms of the extension. If such amount is not paid on or before the date on which it is payable, it shall be paid upon notice and demand from the Collector. If such amount is not paid on or before the date on which it is payable, there shall be collected, as a part of the tax, interest on such amount at the rate of 6 per centum per annum for the period beginning with the date on which such amount is payable and ending with the date on which it is paid.

In the case of any extension of time for the payment of such tax granted by the Commissioner prior to September 1, 1943, payment of the portion thereof which if such extension had not been granted would have been payable under section 56 (b) prior to such date shall be made notwithstanding subsection (a) or (b), but the foregoing provisions of this subsection shall apply to any such payment. In case the taxpayer becomes delinquent, prior to Sep-

If any payment on account of the tax imposed by such chapter for the taxable year 1942 is made pursuant to a joint return made by husband and wife for such taxable year, and such payment is considered as a payment on account of the estimated tax for the taxable year 1943, such payment may be treated as a payment on account of the estimated tax of either the husband or the wife for such taxable year or may be divided between them.

"(g) Use of term 'taxable year.'—For the purpose of this section the terms 'taxable year 1937', 'taxable year 1938', 'taxable year 1939', 'taxable year 1940', 'taxable year 1942', and 'taxable year 1943' mean, respectively, the taxable year beginning in 1937, 1938, 1939, 1940, 1942, and 1943, respectively; and 'taxable year' as applied to the taxable year 1942 or 1943 shall not include any period of less than twelve months unless occasioned by the death of the taxpayer or unless there is no taxable year of twelve months beginning in such calendar year.

(2) By whom paid.

The tax imposed under paragraph (1) shall be paid by the lessee or holder.

(c) Sales outside box office—(1) Rate.

§ 1802. Capital stock (and similar interests)—(a) Original issue.

On each original issue, whether on organization or reorganization, of shares or certificates of stock, or of profits, or of interests in property or accumulations, by any corporation, or by any investment trust or similar organization (or by any person on behalf of such investment trust or similar organization) holding or dealing in any of the instruments mentioned or described in this subsection or section 1801 (whether or not such investment trust or similar organization constitutes a corporation within the meaning of this title), on each $100 of par or face value or fraction thereof of the certificates issued by such corporation or by such investment trust or similar organization (or of the shares where no certificates were issued), 11 cents: Provided, That where such shares or certificates are issued without par or face value, the tax shall be 11 cents per share (corporate share, or investment trust or other organization share, as the case may be), unless the actual value is in excess of $100 per share; in which case the tax shall be 11 cents on each $100 of actual value or fraction thereof of such certificates (or of the shares where no certificates were issued), or unless the actual value is less than $100 per share, in which case the tax shall be 3 cents on each $20 of actual value, or fraction thereof, of such certificates (or of the shares where no certificates were issued): Provided further, That where such certificates (or

The stamps representing the tax imposed by this subsection shall be attached to the stock books or corresponding records of the organization and not to the certificates issued.

nominee if the shares or certificates so delivered or transferred are to be held by such nominee for the same purpose as if held by the broker, but such deliveries or transfers shall be accompanied by a certificate setting forth the facts: Provided further, That the tax shall not be imposed upon deliveries or transfers from a fiduciary to a nominee of such fiduciary, or from one nominee of such fiduciary to another, if such shares or certificates continue to be held by such nominee for the same purpose for which they would be held if retained by such fiduciary, or from the nominee to such fiduciary, but such deliveries or transfers shall be accompanied by a certificate setting forth the facts: Provided further, That in case of sale where the evidence of transfer is shown only by the books of the corporation or other organization the stamp shall be placed upon such books; and where the change of ownership is by transfer of the certificate the stamp shall be placed upon the certificate; and in cases of an agreement to sell or where the transfer is by delivery of the certificate assigned in blank there shall be made and delivered by the seller to the buyer a bill or memorandum of such sale, to which the stamp shall be affixed; and every bill or memorandum of sale or agreement to sell before mentioned shall show the date thereof, the name of the seller, the amount of the sale, and the matter or thing to which it refers: Provided further, That as used in this section the term "registered nominee" shall mean any person registered with the collector in accordance with such rules and regulations as the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary shall prescribe. The tax shall not be imposed upon deliveries or transfers of shares or certificates—

(1) From the owner to a custodian if under a written agreement between the parties the shares or certificates are to be held or disposed of by such custodian for, and subject at all times to the instructions of, the owner; or from such custodian to such owner;

(2) From such custodian to a registered nominee of such custodian, or from one such nominee to another such nominee, if in either case the shares or certificates continue to be held by such nominee for the same purpose for which they would be held if retained by such custodian; or from such nominee to such custodian;

(3) From a corporation to a registered nominee of such corporation, or from one such nominee to another such nominee, if in either case the shares or certificates continue to be held by such nominee for the same purpose for which they would be held if retained by such corporation; or from such nominee to such corporation.

No delivery or transfer to a nominee shall be exempt under this paragraph unless such nominee, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Commissioner, with the approval of the Secretary, is registered with the Commissioner.

The tax imposed by this subsection shall not be imposed upon any delivery or transfer by an executor or administrator to a legatee, heir, or distributee of shares or certificates of stock if it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that the value of such shares or certificates is not greater than the amount of the tax that would otherwise be imposed on such delivery or transfer.

The term "transfer" means a sale, agreement of sale, agreement to sell, memorandum of sale or delivery of, or transfer, whether made by assignment in blank or by any delivery, or by any paper or agreement or memorandum or any other evidence of transfer or sale; or means to make a transfer as so defined.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, referred to in this section, is an officer of the Treasury Department.

§ 2805. Distilled spirits subject to forfeiture, distraint, or judicial process—(a) Forfeiture—(1) Delivery to the Secretary.

All distilled spirits, wine, and malt beverages forfeited, summarily or by order of court, under any law of the United States, shall be delivered to the Secretary to be disposed of as hereinafter provided.

(2) Disposal by the Secretary.

The Secretary shall dispose of all distilled spirits, wine, and malt beverages which have been delivered to him pursuant to subsection (a)—

(A) By delivery to such Government agencies as, in his opinion, have a need for such distilled spirits, wine, or malt beverages for medicinal, scientific, or mechanical purposes; or

ABOLITION OF EXISTING OFFICES AND CREATION OF NEW OFFICES

The office of Collector, provided for in section 3941 of this title, was abolished, effective at such time as the Secretary of the Treasury shall specify but in no event later than Dec. 1, 1952, and the winding up of the affairs of said officer was made subject to such provisions as said Secretary deems necessary, by 1952 Reorg. Plan No. 1, § 1, eff. Mar. 14, 1952, 17 F. R. 2243, 66 Stat. 823, set out as a note under section 3905 of this title; and the offices of "district commissioner of internal revenue", not exceeding twenty-five, and so many other offices, with titles to be determined by the Secretary of the Treasury, not exceeding seventy, were established by section 2 (a) of said Plan.

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

All functions of all officers of the Department of the Treasury, and all functions of all agencies and employees of such Department, were transferred, with certain exceptions, to the Secretary of the Treasury, with power vested in him to authorize their performance or the performance of any of his functions, by any of such officers, agencies, and employees, by 1950 Reorg. Plan No. 26, §§ 1, 2, eff. July 31, 1950, 15 F. R. 4935, 64 Stat. 1280, set out in note under section 241 of Title 5, Executive Departments and Government Officers and Employees. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue and the collector, referred to in this section, are officials of the Treasury Department.

§ 2817. Survey of distillery—(a) Requirements.

On receipt of notice that any person, firm, or corporation wishes to commence the business of distilling, the collector, or a deputy collector, to be designated by him, shall proceed in person, at the expense of the United States, with the aid of an assistant designated by the Commissioner for the purpose of making surveys of distilleries in that district, to make a survey of such distillery for the purpose of estimating and determining its true spirit producing capacity for a day of twenty-four hours.

In all surveys forty-five gallons of mash or beer brewed or fermented from grain shall represent not less than one bushel of grain, and seven gallons of mash or beer brewed or fermented from molasses shall represent not less than one gallon of molasses, except in distilleries operated on the sour-mash principle, in which distilleries sixty gallons of beer brewed or fermented from grain shall represent not less than one bushel of grain, and except that in distilleries where the filtration-aeration process is used, with the approval of the Commissioner; that is, where the mash after it leaves the mash tub is passed through a filtering machine before it is run into the fermenting tub, and only the filtered liquor passes into the fermenting tub, there shall be no limitation upon the number of gallons of water which may be used in the process of mashing or filtration for fermentation; but the Commissioner, with the approval of the Secretary, in order to protect the revenue, shall be authorized to prescribe by regulation, to be made by him, such character of survey as he may find suitable for distilleries using such filtration-aeration process.

The provisions hereof relating to filtration-aeration process shall apply only to sweet-mash distilleries.

A written report of such survey shall be made in triplicate, of which one copy shall be delivered to the distiller, one copy shall be retained by the collector, and one copy shall be transmitted to the Commissioner, and the survey shall take effect upon the delivery of such copy to the distiller.

Whenever the Commissioner is satisfied that any report of the capacity of a distillery is incorrect or needs revision, he shall direct the collector to make in like manner another survey of said distillery, and the report thereof shall be made and deposited as hereinbefore required:

Provided, That the survey of any distillery estimated and stated by the distiller, in his notice of intention to distill, as capable of distilling not more than one hundred and fifty proof gallons of distilled spirits every twenty-four hours may be made by the collector or by a deputy collector without the aid of an assistant; and that all surveys made for the purpose of correcting clerical errors or errors of computation existing in the report of a previous survey, and all surveys made for the purpose of changing the true spirit producing capacity of any distillery for a day of twenty-four hours as estimated and determined by a previous survey, but which surveys do not require the remeasuring of the fermenting tubs in a grain or molasses distillery, or the still or stills in a distillery of apples, peaches, or grapes exclusively, may be made without taking the measurements of the fermenting tubs or stills, as the case may be, and without revisiting the distillery:

And provided further, That the Commissioner may, whenever he shall deem it proper, designate an officer, agent, or person other than the collector or deputy collector, to make, with or without the aid of a designated assistant, the surveys and resurveys hereinabove provided for.

(b) Waiver of requirements.

The Secretary in the case of any distillery may, under regulations, waive such of the requirements of this section as he determines may be waived without danger to the revenue. Whenever the Secretary, by authority of this subsection, waives any or all of the requirements of this section, he may, by regulation, relieve the distiller from such requirements of sections 2840 (a), 2846 (a), 2847 (a), 2849, 2850 (a), and 2851 (a), and of such other provisions of law relating or incidental to survey requirements, as the Secretary determines may be waived without danger to the revenue.

In determining the quantity of grain used, fifty-six pounds shall be accounted as a bushel; and if the Commissioner finds that the distiller has used any grain or molasses in excess of the capacity of his distillery as estimated according to law, he shall make an assessment against the distiller at the rate imposed by law for every proof gallon of spirits that should have been produced from the grain or molasses so used in excess, which assessment shall be made whether the quantity of spirits reported is equal to or exceeds 80 per centum of the producing capacity of the distillery. If the Commissioner finds that the distiller has not accounted for all the spirits produced by him, he shall, from all the evidence he can obtain, determine what quantity of spirits was actually produced by such distiller, and an assessment shall be made for the difference between the quantity reported and the quantity shown to have been actually produced, at the rate of tax imposed by law for every proof gallon: Provided, That the actual product shall be assumed to be in no case less than 80 per centum of the producing capacity of the distillery as estimated according to law.
